NEW YORK CLIPPER

THE OLDEST AMERICAN SPORTING AND THEATRICAL JOURNAL.

FRANK QUEEN, Editor and Proprietor. | NEW YORK, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1871. | VOLUME XIX—No. 30. PRICE TEN CENTS.

HEAVEN AND HELL.

WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.
BY WALDORF HENRY PHILLIPS.

"Then listen to my dream, for it will tell
Of things of Heaven and of things of Hell."

PART I.

Methought an angel to my bedside came one night,
And bade me rise and follow where she led the way;
And placed my head in hers, that was so lily white,
And from the pillow gently raised my head.

"Harriet," in a low, sweet, silvery voice, she said,
"By Him who made the earth I'm sent to show
To you the land of the good and bad, who are dead—
Then, maric! rise, and follow where I go."

Methought a chariot outside the window stood,
Drawn by horses four, as white as snow;
The angel stepped, and beckoned me that I would—
I accepted—what did this mean? I wished to know.

The angel turned, and on me her gaze bent,
"Mortal," she said, "Why dost not enter?
By Him who rules o'er sky and earth I'm sent;
Thou canst not, if thou wished to, falter.

"What, do you dare to question what I said?
How dared thou question Him"—seeing I still faltered—
"Who rules the living and judges the dead?
Thou shouldst obey without inquiring why"—I entered.

Methought the chariot flew quickly through the air;
Around me all was hushed I could hear the wind—
I lost all consciousness, perhaps it was from fear
Of thinking where I next myself should find.

The chariot stopped, and the angel and I stepped out,
And I looked before, and all around me—
Before, behind, on every side, and all about—
Everything told of peace and plenty.

PART II.

And I felt a joy, a calm, a holy content—
A feeling of quiet, heavenly rest,
And my mind from all worldly thoughts slowly unbent—
Care was dispelled—I felt that I was blest.

I turned to see if the chariot yet stood
In waiting—and lo, it vanished from my sight;
And in its place appeared a throne, on which He Has anointed by a bright, refulgent light.

Around His head these words in golden letters shone:
"Let this be your motto—Love one another;
Peace and good will to all, and enmity to none,
For each man to the other is a brother."

The angel took my hand and led me to the throne,
And all the angels gathered round, with wondering eyes—
While I fell at the feet of Him whom I did own
As God, the great and good—till the angel bade me rise.

And on one side all my good deeds did arise,
And all my sins and bad ones on the other—
I looked—they vanished—I scarce believed my eyes;
I saw—one was canceling the other.
And the throne then vanished from my sight,
God, and with him the glorious light.

Then the angel turning, said to me,
In words simple and yet so wise,
"Dost know wh-re thou hast been, what didst see?
'Twas but a glimpse of Paradise.

"If in that land thou wouldst wish to live
After Death, for die all mortals must,
Then while that yet liveth thou must strive
To do good—and be thou kind and just.

"And if a frail sister thou see'st fall,
Lift her up. Do thou remember this hour—
Help her to reform—and, oh, do thou all
The good thou can'st—that lies in thy power.'

She clapped her hands—and lo, the chariot
Appeared—"Enter," she commanded me. "One
Land hast thou seen—the good—another yet
Is there, where dwell the wicked dead and gone.

And sudden darkness filled the air around me,
Darkness, deep, black and awful as sin—
I strove to look, but could not see before me,
And I heard a fearful noise and din.

And all my body seemed to be on fire—it burn—
And, oh, my mouth was parched and dry—
I could not see—I could not move—I could not turn—
I could not speak—I could not cry.

And sudden, a red glare around me filled the air—
And methought I heard thousands of voices cry—
"Another comes to join us! Another! There, there
He is. Oh, how I do wish that he were I."

And the king of sin and hell sat on his throne of fire;
Looked at the angel and gnashed his teeth—at me and grinned,
And tortured forms that were ever burning gathered round—
Said the angel, "these are they who on earth sinned and sinned."

And Satan cried:—"You are mine, mine. To me you will return
When you shall be no more of life, of man and earth—
'Tis easier to sin than to do good. You'll come to burn
And be tortured—to curse the hour that gave you birth.

"Oh, he! How you will wish that you had never sinned—too late,
Tho' I will laugh at you, for you are I here and Him I hate.
Oh, how I love to see you of earth cheat, and rob, and lie;
To know that you will come to live with me, sure, when you die.'
And then darkness vanished from my sight—
I opened my eyes to the morning's light.

Ever since that night I have done
All the good in my power.
Did lie. And now that death is nigh,
Age have come upon me, and I
Do know that the hour of Death is nigh,
I fear Death not, for I've tried to serve
My Maker—so be judged on high.

A LILY AND A ROSE;

OR,

THE SCHEMER AND HIS VICTIMS.

CHAPTER XXXI.

BOUND HAND AND FOOT.

With one sovereign in his hand and another in the bush, the cabman plied the whip, and used more than speed.

They seemed to fly along, and in a short time Leonard leaped out before his own door, and handed the man the sovereign in silence.

It was grey dawn as he inserted the latch key into the door, and he almost groaned; again, morning! and they had a whole night's start. And now he was delayed. The key would not turn. Was it because his hand trembled? No, it resisted all efforts and remained stubbornly fixed.

Sullivan's out, he knocked. As he did so a man came up behind him, and laid his hand upon his shoulder.

Leonard turned with surprise upon his white face and confronted a short, sturdily built man, with the appearance of a groom or a respectable butler. He was chewing a straw between his teeth, and his left hand was thrust loosely into his coat pocket.

"Mr. Leonard Grantley?" he said, interrogatively.

"That is my name," replied Leonard, impatiently.

"I am sorry for it, sir," replied the man, somewhat respectfully, and then grimly, "I am an officer, sir, and must arrest you at the suit of Mr. Levy, for the amount of three thousand four hundred pounds, due the third of last month."

Leonard staggered. Were heaven and earth leagued against him? That is a question many a man asks when the harvest of his own folly comes in.

He looked at the man in despair. The man used to such scenes, stood silent for a moment, but dropped his hand from Leonard's shoulder.

"If you'll walk this way, sir, you'll find a cab waiting for you," said the officer.

Leonard started.

"Is there no means of escaping this?" he said, hoarsely. "If I go with you now the consequences to me will be fearful. Can you not postpone——?"

The man smiled pityingly.

"Now at this sort of thing, sir, sir?" he said.

Leonard saw at once all appeal was hopeless.

"What shall I do?" he asked. "Every moment is one of life and death to-night—I—Oh, God! what is to be done?"

"You must come with me, sir, unless you can pay the money," replied the man.

Leonard groaned. Pay the money! Three thousand pounds odd—when he had just given his last sovereign to the cabman—or rather—to Satan!

The man saw his agitation, and also that he was a gentleman, and, as he had put it, "new at the sort of thing," so he pulled a little—a great deal for an officer—and said rather hesitatingly:—

"If you'd like to write a letter or two or make a few arrangements, sir, and be jerked his thanks at the next court, I could waiting half an hour."

Leonard thanked him for the half concession that it was an unusual circumstance, and hurriedly took out his key again. The man smiled grimly.

"I don't think it's much and your trying that key, sir," he said.

"Why not?" said Leonard.

"Well, you see, sir, I didn't know what sort of customer you was, there was only a general sort of description of you in my hand, and I thought you might be one of the roaring coves, and so came to look, so I says to myself there's nothing like securing a man—a little bit of wood into the keyhole so once you should try and bolt it before I could get round the corner."

He smiled with a modest pride at his own ingenuity, and Leonard, startled into resisting fully his position, knocked at the door in chagrin. They waited some minutes, and then, when the door was opened by the servant, the bailiff stepped in with Leonard, and observed him up the stairs. Once in his own room Leonard stopped into a chair and hid his face in his hands for a moment, while the man with a quickness that appreciated the unlike endeavor of the absent Mr. Carton, busied about the apartment, taking a mental inventory of every article, from the unfinished picture on the easel, to the lay figure hooked in recess and many jewels.

"Can you give me any advice?" said Leonard, raising his head and drawing pen and ink towards him, but without any clear intension of writing; to whom could he write?

"Well, you see, sir, it all depends," said the man, quietly leaning himself on a portion of air and removing the straw from his mouth to take the shovel and off.

"If you was a shopper and I should say make a bolt for the door and leave the keys master to the gentleman who owes him enough to stock the kiln."

Leonard started slightly, with a gleam in his eye that confirmed the officer's impression of his being a "new hand," and he went on rather more quickly—

"But as you also a slippery case I should say apply to friends."

Leonard shook his head.

"I have no friends," he was going to say, but he stopped—he had many, but he could not tell them that if they refused to lend him four thousand pounds he should have to go to prison.

He rose with a calmness void of despair.

"I thank you for your patience," he said, "I cannot pay this money and have no one to borrow it from. If you will wait while I change my clothes, I will go with you."

The man nodded.

"All right, sir," he said, and Leonard walked into the next room.

The officer strolled into the passage, and noiselessly inserted a small steel block between the back of the lock-room door, just above the bottom hinge.

No one could open the door from the inside until that was taken away.

"Nothing like being cautious," he muttered, and then returned to the studio.

Meanwhile Leonard had hurriedly changed his wet clothes for dry ones, and had collected together from various drawers all the articles of jewelry, and the few trinkets he possessed, locked up the drawers, cast a glance round the room, and then went back to the studio.

The officer, looking up, saw that his face had lost all agitation, but was calm and set.

"That's right, sir," he said. "Take it cool. You won't be so concerned next time."

Leonard did not seem to hear him.

"I am ready," he said, in hard tones, and he followed the man out of the room.

"Hadn't you better lock this door, sir?" queried the officer. "It's very likely you won't be "in" more than a day or two, and it would be as well to find things all square."

Leonard motioned to him to lock it, and the two passed down the stairs into the street.

The man walked close to Leonard with the remaining portion of the straw in the extreme corner of his mouth, and his hands in his pockets, with bailiff written all over him from top to toe. At the corner of the street his cab stood waiting.

CHAPTER XXXII.

A LITTLE HOPE.

Leonard entered and seated himself in the corner, with his arms folded and his brows bent. Fate was going hard with him, very hard, and he was trying to bear it.

The officer, making a silent signal to the cabman—he did everything quietly, with a calm deliberation worthy of a Wellington—took his seat opposite his captive and resumed his straw with contemplative enjoyment.

The hideous vehicle had jerked and rattled them along a short distance only, when Leonard raised his pale face and glanced out of the window. They were passing through South Audley street.

With a sudden start that stopped the straw chewing instantly, he said, "Stop."

Immediately the officer pulled the check string and the cab came to a stop.

"What's up, sir?" enquired the man.

Leonard's heart echoed the question.

"Nothing," he said, wearily. "You can go on again. I caught sight of this street and remembered that a friend lived here. But he cannot help me. That is all, pray go on."

"Wait a bit, sir," replied the officer. "A friend in need's a friend indeed. How do you know he can't help you? I've seen a lame mare win a race before now. Where does he live?"

"At that house opposite," said Leonard, relapsing into his old attitude.

"Why that's Mr. Bolton's, the picture dealer's," said the officer. "I'll lay a ten pun note against a hedge hog that he's the very man for you, sir; leastways, there's no harm in trying. Let me advise you to give him a call; a picture dealer has always got a hatful of money about 'em, how could they deal if they hadn't."

With which clinching argument the man jumped out and held the door for Leonard. He got out mechanically, for he saw no hope here, and stood with folded arms at the door while the officer gave a cautious ring.

There was no answer to the first ring, but at the second a window was thrown up with a sudden jerk, and an ensanguined head, evidently drawn through a hedge in place of combing, was thrust out with astonishment and indignation upon every feature. It was Tim.

"Hullo, my noble dook!" he exclaimed, in a treble that would have set Handel's teeth on edge. "This is a pretty time to make a morning call. How'd it I didn't think it was the milk, arisen from his virtuous couch hurly on account of toothache. Well, what do you want?"

The officer looked up with the ghost of a smile upon his cold face. "Mr. Bolton?"

"Oh, you do, do you?" replied Tim, with a capital imitation of the hard official voice, "and won't he been a doin'; a smashin' a window or a robbin' a church, as you wants him. Eh, Bobby?"

This time a grin, broad and unmistakable, spread itself like a big sail upon the sharp features of the officer, and he gave a grunt of approval as he murmured:—

"Your a sharp 'un." Then laying his hand respectfully upon Leonard's arm, he drew him into sight. "Look here, you know this gentleman, don't you?"

Tim leaned over, and his tone altered directly he recognised Leonard. "Oh, it's you, sir, is it?" he said, "I beg your parding, I didn't know this 'ere bobby in plain clothes was with you. I'll be down afore you can say china plates."

And the red head disappeared from the window and soon after those at the door. Leonard let his hand kindly upon the lad's shoulder. Tim was a favorite of his, and had amused him many an hour when he was drawing him, with his comical battle.

"Is Mr. Bolton up, Tim?" he asked, sadly.

"No—Oh, yes, there he is," cried the lad. "Here yer are, all the performances for nothin'! To hear that there twang! that's the shower bath. If yer listen another minute, while I count ten, you'll hear him squeak; that's the cold water down his back."

And sure enough, a sonnet, half growl, half yell, followed the boy's announcement.

"You will walk up stairs, sir, and I'll go and tell him you're here."

Leonard and the officer seated themselves in a couple of the stiff-backed chairs, of which the officer had made a mental note immediately he entered the room, and waited a few minutes, and then came the fluttering of wings, followed by the entrance of Old Scratch, dying just in front of her master.

"What! Mr. Leonard!" exclaimed Joseph Bolton, seating with, with a look of storm and concentrated hate that was ridiculous in the extreme. "What's the matter?"

Leonard rose and held out his hand, but before he could speak the dealer plumped down upon the table in front of the officer, and holding himself on one leg, shrieked out:—

"Well, I'm d——d, you're a person!" stuck to the nickname and terror of the immovable officer, who started sideways with confusion and nearly jumped on his seat.

"Quiet, Scratch," growled Joseph. "Confound that bird! Don't mind him, sir," to the man. "He's as free as a woman with his tongue, but as harmless as a man."

"I won't please," said the officer, curtly, still eyeing the cockatoo head with.

"You go on with your business, don't you mind me."

Leonard swapped into the passage and beckoned Joseph after him.

"Joseph," he said, wearily, "that man is a bailiff. I am arrested."

"Arrested!" echoed Joseph, with a face that most exhibit a corrected frown, "Oh! Leonard, Leonard!"

The tone of the words struck the artist to the heart, and almost unconsciously he held out his hand. The dealer grasped it eagerly while the tears sprang into his eyes.

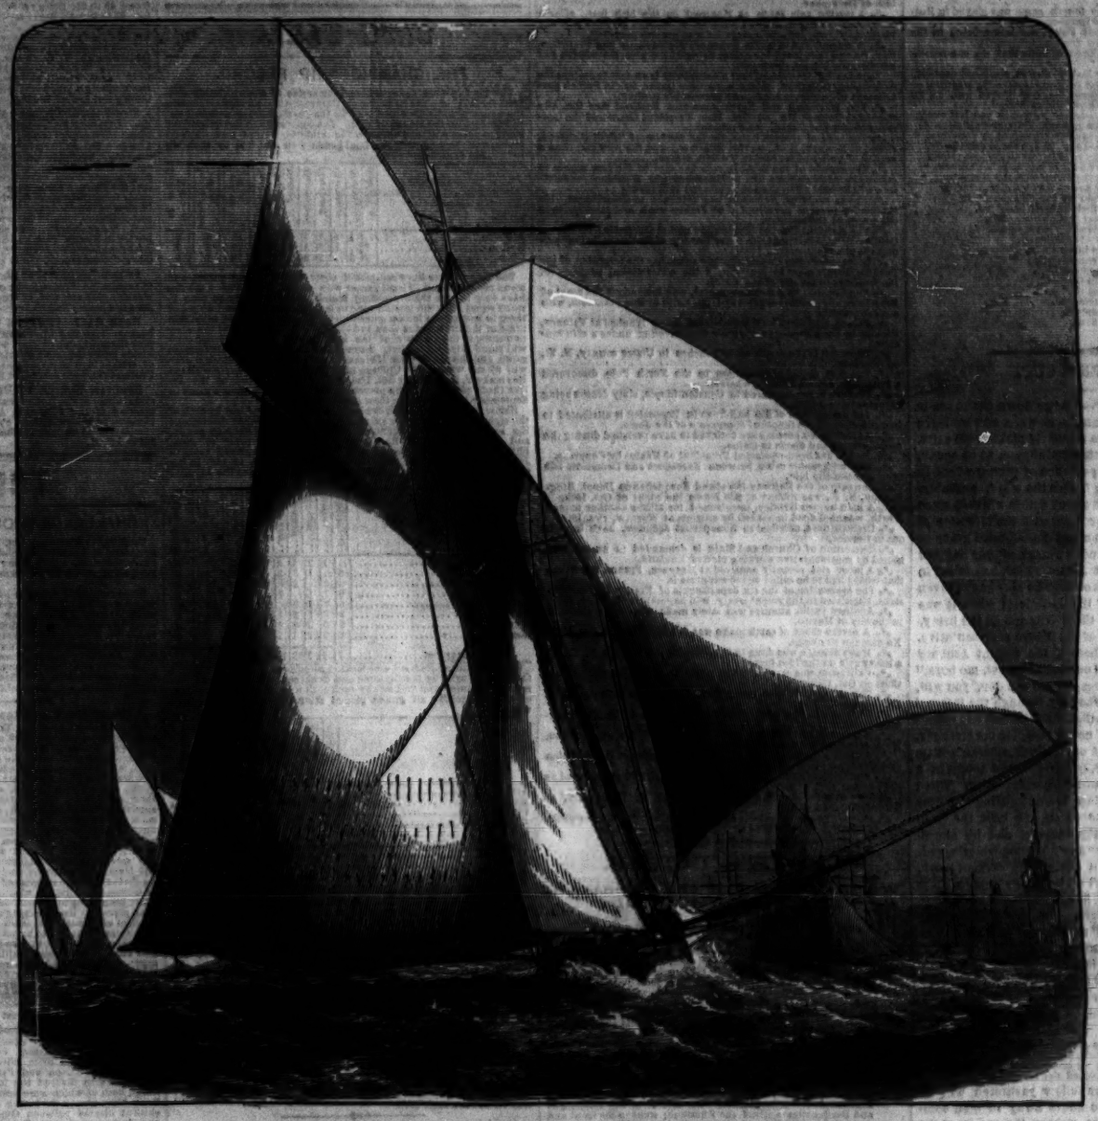
"Ays, and that's not all, my good friend," said Leonard. "I shall go mad, I think. She has gone!"

"Gone!" repeated Bolton. "The—and Lillian dar—"

"Yes, Lillian——" and he stopped.

Bolton rubbed his hand with perplexed severity.

"Come, come! there, there, don't and you stunned heavens! What shall I do! shall?"



YACHTING---Before the Wind.

See Report of International Races for the Queen's Cup.

Leonard shook his head gravely.

"I have asked myself that question all this weary night," he said, sadly. "Hush!" he continued, with an inclination towards the room, "it's the result of my own folly, but—oh, Lillian, Lillian!"

"A woman of course!" exclaimed Bolton, bitterly, "always a woman! If there had been no fair face here you would have been safe and sound now, making money and fame, but a woman must come and lead you out of Eden, as usual. Curse——"

Leonard held up his hand.

"Stop, Bolton," he said sternly, "you do not know all. I must keep calm; you are agitating me. Come closer!" then he told the story of the preceding day, Joseph Bolton standing the picture of amazement and sorrow.

"Merciful heaven!" he exclaimed, as Leonard, with pale face and sparkling eyes and clenched fist, too, finished the recital by saying that Raymond Garton and she had gone and left no trace.

"And she is your wife?"

"Yes," he said, bitterly, "my wife of an hour, my wife a hundred—a thousand miles away, and I am going to prison!" and he laughed a grim laugh that was horribly, terribly discordant. "Merciful heaven, to think that I should be a prisoner—tied hand and foot—while she is flying from me! Oh, if I were free I would track them to the end of the world—I would fear her from a thousand hands and claim her as my own—my wife! Oh, agony, agony!" and he fell to pacing up and down, with his face in his hands.

At the sight of his mad grief Joseph Bolton's scattered senses returned; he caught hold of Leonard's arm eagerly.

"Hush, hush!" he said, in a trembling whisper, "my poor boy, hush; you are ill, very ill. How much is it? You shall not go to prison if I—how much is it?"

"How much is it?" echoed Leonard.

Leonard did not answer. Joseph did not wait, but went into the next room.

"What's the amount?" he whispered in a very different tone.

"Three thousand four hundred——"

"Three thou——" gasped Joseph, starting back. "Good God, how they've trapped him."

The officer rose.

"If you can't help the gentleman say so at once, because we must be a-moving."

"Wait, wait!" said Joseph, and he rubbed his head thoughtfully. "Three thousand four hundred pounds I—I WILL PAY IT!"

The man looked surprised and sat down.

"You will, eh?"

Joseph said nothing, but walked to the old bureau and unlocked a drawer.

"Here is the amount and five pounds over. Oblige me by putting that check in your pocket, and by not showing the signature to any one until it is paid in the bank."

The officer examined the notes and the check, which were signed "St. Aubyn," with an air that was almost one of astonishment, but he recovered his official calmness a moment after, and pocketing his fee from the floor, gave it a gentle twirl with his left sleeve and said:—

"I wish you a good morning, sir," and walked out of the room.

As he entered the hall, Leonard, who was leaning against the wall, stood upright.

"Are you ready?" he said, gravely.

"Yes, I'm off, sir," replied the man, mistaking the meaning of his words. "It don't take long to settle; there is the money and here's a receipt, as you may say, and the affair's off." And he rapped his pocket with a calm satisfaction. "Good morning, sir."

"What do you mean?" enquired Leonard, staring at him in a bewildered manner.

"I mean that the gentleman behind you has paid like a brick, and you are free."

Leonard turned with a flushed face and caught Bolton's arm. "Hush!"

Bolton started his head eagerly.

"Hush, hush, wait till he's gone; it's all right, Leonard, my dear boy—Oh, God! he's ill! Tim, Tim!"

The poor grace had slackened and his head fallen on his breast.

"Fetch! fetch!" he muttered. "Tree to follow her, my wife, my wife," and then he staggered and fell full length upon the floor, with Joseph Bolton on his kneel beside him, and Tim staring open mouthed and amazed at the whole, haggard face beneath them.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

RECOVERY.

Joseph Bolton hated women, but it was with all a woman's tenderness he bathed the temples of the young artist, and with the aid of the servant, nursed and gradually nursed him from the verge of brain fever.

There were no signs of life in the pallid face, and Joseph, as soon as he had attempted to pour a few drops of cream through the clenched teeth, turned Tim off for a decanter.

"What has he had to drink?" was the first question the medical man asked after a cursory examination of the still form.

"Nothing," replied Joseph, apprehensively, "I could not get the body through his teeth."

"No, no, I don't mean since he has been in this state, but before."

"I don't know," said Bolton. "He has not been here long." And then he told the doctor just sufficient to put him in possession of the fact that Leonard had met with some great sorrow and had exhausted him.

"Ah, yes, yes," said the doctor, with a knowing glance, "I've had many of that sort. Now, sir," pointing to the third limb "there is the possessor of a missing, eye, almost deadly style."

"What is it, exhausted, Joseph, with a hoarse sardonic voice. "Brandy!"

"I didn't say so," calmly replied the medical man. "I said a strong drug."

"I call that poison," retorted Joseph, his face quivering with indignation and his usually mild eyes fierce.

"Just so, it's a matter of quantity, as you say," replied the doctor, though Joseph had said nothing of the kind. "It's a matter of quantity; your young friend has taken just enough to excite him and steady him by turns, and then a wind up to knock him down as he now is."

"The villain!" exclaimed Joseph between his teeth.

"Who?" inquired the doctor keenly.

"No one," replied Joseph. "Do what you can, for heaven's sake! and quickly, or I shall go out of my mind. Curse all women, I say; they ruined man from the very first, and they're at it now as devilish hard as ever. Here's a fine fellow; look at him, as handsome as one of his own ideals; he's well made and strong as a lion; look at him, lying there, like a corpse, and through a woman!"

"Hush," said the doctor, "he is becoming conscious," and he took from his pocket a small phial and held it to the nostrils of the artist. Leonard's eyes opened slowly, and his mouth quivered as with pain; then he turned two sorrowful eyes upon the pitiful face of the tender-hearted man at his side, and said in a feeble voice and with the ghost of a smile:—

"Joseph!"

It was too much for poor Joseph; his eyes filled with tears as he murmured, brokenly, "Le—e—onard!" and the tears ran down before he had finished the word.

"Get out of the room," said the doctor, angrily; here was the very thing he wanted to avoid—emotion.

Joseph rose humbly and walked on tiptoe to the door.

"Call him back," said Leonard, in an agitated voice, and the doctor, on the principle of choosing the least of two evils, called him back. Joseph turned and pumped quickly into his seat again.

"Are you better?" he managed to say.

Leonard's brows knit.

"I don't know," he said, with a puzzled look. "I don't know quite what's the matter with me. I am in pain all over and can remember nothing scarcely. Ah!" he cried suddenly, trying to raise himself in bed, but falling back with a groan, "I remember! Come, Joseph?"

"Yes," said Joseph.

"I am helpless, I cannot move. I am weaker than a child; you are my friend, are you not? No need to speak, I know it. Then you will serve me as a friend should, will you not?"

"Yes, yes," said Joseph, eagerly, "tell me to do anything, you know I'll do it?"

"That has gone, is going farther from me every moment. I cannot follow her, I am not——"

"I—I—but you—you are young!"

Leonard frowned impatiently. "Leave me!" he said. "Why, man, I shall die like a dog if I lie here and think no one is trying to bring her back; doctor," he said, turning his head sharply to the doctor, "how soon shall I be able to get up? I feel dead here and here." And he stretched his hand languidly towards his legs and chest.

"What is the matter with me?"

"Well, you've taken rather more than the doctor's only reply.

"What did I drink last?" he breathed, feebly trying to think. "Oh, heaven!" he moaned, as the full tide of memory swept over him.

"I—I——we drank some wine at the clergyman's?"

"We?" exclaimed the doctor, starting back. "Who?"

"A lady, my wife; why do you stare so? what was the matter?"

"Good heaven!" breathed the doctor. "The wine was drugged!"

"Then I am poisoned, and she, my Lillian, is poisoned too, for she drank with me, on God!"

And he attempted to rise, but only to pass in the bed and clutched the arm of Joseph Bolton with a grasp of iron.

"Poisoned! she is dying! There is some hellish mystery in all this. Dying! dying! do you hear, she is dying and I am here helpless! Oh, heaven! don't stand there staring; go, go, and—follow her. Save her, for heaven's sake, go!"

Shaking with a nameless horror and trying in vain to take his eyes off the distorted face, in front of him, Joseph Bolton commenced one or two steps to the door.

"Go, you, you will go, but you—e——"

"Leonard, for heaven's sake, be calm! I am going—I am going. I promise you, by all I hold sacred, I will find her if she is to be found!"

Leonard looked up with a glance that searched the other to the core.

"Go then!" he said, and closed his eyes, and Joseph Bolton turned from the room with his eyes filled with tears, half of sorrow and half with horror; leaving the doctor bending over his patient, and Leonard wiping the foam from the frozen lips, he held on bowr he motioned to the room door. The doctor nod him.

"Hush!" he said, warningly. "You must go at once. He has dropped off into a state of coma; if he rouses unless he is saved, if not——You must go at once, or shall I say my own home——"

"Yes, but how can I leave him?"

"Leave him to me," said the doctor, gently. "I am interested in his case. Let that be enough. I promise you, if anything more than what we said, I'll send my young friend round. But you must go, and at once."

Joseph Bolton hated women, but it was with all a woman's tenderness he bathed the temples of the young artist, and with the aid of the servant, nursed and gradually nursed him from the verge of brain fever.

There were no signs of life in the pallid face, and Joseph, as soon as he had attempted to pour a few drops of cream through the clenched teeth, turned Tim off for a decanter.

"What has he had to drink?" was the first question the medical man asked after a cursory examination of the still form.

"Nothing," replied Joseph, apprehensively, "I could not get the body through his teeth."

"No, no, I don't mean since he has been in this state, but before."

"I don't know," said Bolton. "He has not been here long." And then he told the doctor just sufficient to put him in possession of the fact that Leonard had met with some great sorrow and had exhausted him.

"Ah, yes, yes," said the doctor, with a knowing glance, "I've had many of that sort. Now, sir," pointing to the third limb "there is the possessor of a missing, eye, almost deadly style."

"What is it, exhausted, Joseph, with a hoarse sardonic voice. "Brandy!"

"Good heaven!" breathed the doctor. "The wine was drugged!"

"Then I am poisoned, and she, my Lillian, is poisoned too, for she drank with me, on God!"

And he attempted to rise, but only to pass in the bed and clutched the arm of Joseph Bolton with a grasp of iron.

"Poisoned! she is dying! There is some hellish mystery in all this. Dying! dying! do you hear, she is dying and I am here helpless! Oh, heaven! don't stand there staring; go, go, and—follow her. Save her, for heaven's sake, go!"

Shaking with a nameless horror and trying in vain to take his eyes off the distorted face, in front of him, Joseph Bolton commenced one or two steps to the door.

"Go, you, you will go, but you—e——"

"Leonard, for heaven's sake, be calm! I am going—I am going. I promise you, by all I hold sacred, I will find her if she is to be found!"

Leonard looked up with a glance that searched the other to the core.

"Go then!" he said, and closed his eyes, and Joseph Bolton turned from the room with his eyes filled with tears, half of sorrow and half with horror; leaving the doctor bending over his patient, and Leonard wiping the foam from the frozen lips, he held on bowr he motioned to the room door. The doctor nod him.

"Hush!" he said, warningly. "You must go at once. He has dropped off into a state of coma; if he rouses unless he is saved, if not——You must go at once, or shall I say my own home——"

"Yes, but how can I leave him?"

"Leave him to me," said the doctor, gently. "I am interested in his case. Let that be enough. I promise you, if anything more than what we said, I'll send my young friend round. But you must go, and at once."

"Go! yes," said Joseph, standing in the street a moment afterwards, his honest eyes filled with tears. "Go. But where? Was there ever such a go in this world? I don't know which way to turn, which quarter of the globe to start for. There's no trace—no—no anything, yet I'm to—go. Here, cab!"

CHAPTER XXXIV.

THE SECOND VICTIM.

Lillian Garton, crouching into a corner of the brougham, closed her eyes and gave herself up to her agonizing thoughts. The dream of her life had vanished. She had staked her whole happiness on this single cast of the die, and had lost. The man whom she had believed in with all her young heart and soul had deceived her. What was there left to live for?

At the thought of her desolation the poor girl hid her face in her hands, and, for the first time that sorrowful night, wept. Wept silently and heart-brokenly, and the stern figure in the opposite corner of the brougham looked on with half closed eyes and a mouth curved with a cruel sneer.

"Let her weep, the child, for her toy. She'll soon forget him. But I—I cannot weep!" and his hands, shining whitely in the darkness, for he wore no gloves, clenched spasmodically as he leant over to her a few minutes after, and said in a voice that was soft and tender as a woman's:—

"Do not cry, my poor girl, he is not worth your tears."

She shrank a little as he leant towards her, with a repugnance she could not disguise, and then lifted her pale, tearful face.

"I am not weeping for him, if he is so base," she said quietly. "I am crying for myself. There is nothing left for me to live for, now that he has deceived me."

"My poor Lillian!" he murmured, soothingly, "don't think of him again. You shall be happy yet; we are going to France—to Italy, if you like. Fresh scenes and the novelty of travel will soon dispel your sorrow."

Could a good man have spoken more coldly?

She hid her face again. Although the voice was soft and melodious, it jarred upon her, and seemed to hurt her.

She made no reply, however, and soon after the brougham stopped at the terminus. Raymond leaped quickly out, and then took her on his arm to the train, pulling up the window and drawing the curtains close immediately they had entered the carriage. It was raining in torrents, and the great heavy drops beat against the glass.

Lillian resumed her position; that is, with her face in her hands, shrinking into the corner of the carriage. And Raymond sat looking at her with his white hand, ay, unruly, hearty asleep in reality, watching the sorrowful girl closely.

Soon he saw her head sink lower on her hands, and then he bent forward and caught her arm. She did not move nor show herself conscious of his action. A wicked smile lit up his face as he turned here to the light and traced at its unconscious expression, and then he laid her against the cushions, murmuring:—

"How all is safe."

* * * * * * *

When Lillian awoke she found herself lying upon a narrow couch, in an affair that seemed like a mahogany egg box, but was in reality a berth on board a continental steamer.

A stewardess was standing looking at her pityingly, at a small table covered with medicine bottles, accompanied by the usual glass pot of currant jelly and barley water, from which appearances Lillian at once concluded she had been unwell.

But a glance at the white hand that lay thin and wasted upon the coverlid at once set all doubts at rest; she had not been merely unwell—but ill.

"You are better now, miss," said the stewardess, with a smile, perhaps divining with the quick perceptions of a nurse the thought that ran through the girl's weary brain. "You are better now, miss, you will soon be quite well. Shall I call the gentleman?"

How the gentleman conveyed only one meaning to Lillian's mind, and that was "Leonard."

She turned her face away again and wept quietly. Ship at last, and her heart full of misery.

"Don't you cry, miss," entreated the tender-hearted nurse. "You'll be all right soon, and be able to get about and see the scenery; oh, there is some beautiful scenery down about here, great mountains and snow capped hills, with valley at the bottom, as green as the meadows in England. Don't you feel well, you'll soon be all right and so happy as the day is long."

And she smoothed the tumed coverlid and sat herself down again.

* * * * *

And the stewardess' words came true. In a short time Lillian regained something of her old strength, and with the aid of her kind nurse, hobbled the stairs to the deck.

At the top stood Mr. Carton, with a thick shawl on his arm, and a soft, welcoming smile upon his face. He took her arm when shortly she reached the deck.

"Welcome back to the fresh air, Lillian," he said, gently, and she lifted her eyes, large and wistful, to his face, and met a smile.

"You have been ill too," she said, gazing at his face. It was white and haggard, and there were great blue hollows beneath the eyes and round the mouth.

He smiled. "A little," he said, carelessly as before, but rather wearily. "I have been somewhat unwell."

She tried to murmur some words of sympathy, but they would not come; she could not look at him, but she remembered that whatever gentleman could be called to her, he, the only one her heart thirsted for, could never stand at her side again. And at the thought, she turned her face with a weak, despairing sigh on the pillow.

"Well, well, miss, I will not call him if you do not wish it," said the nurse, soothingly, thinking that her patient was distressed at the thought of seeing the gentleman who had told her to summon him directly she became conscious.

"I won't call him; you try and sleep, miss, and get better. You are not in any pain?"

"No, thank you," replied Lillian, in a weak voice. "None whatever; you have been very good to me, I know," and she held out her hand. The nurse took it softly.

"Oh, no, miss, you haven't been no trouble; you've been the patientest thing I ever saw, never crying out like some when they're delirious, only going from side to side, and moaning one name."

"What name?" inquired Lillian, opening her eyes widely; they looked large and deep, set in the white wasted face, the faint shadow of a flush tinting the snow.

"Oh, I don't know, miss," answered the nurse, trying to evade the question, but unable to in consequence of the large, piteous eyes fixed on here.

"A Mr. Leonard, miss, or something like it."

"And where is it, nurse?" asked Lillian, after a pause.

"To Marin?" said the nurse.

"Marin?" echoed Lillian, faintly. "Is not that in Italy?"

"Yes, miss, we are in Italy now,"

"In Italy now," said Lillian. "And I have been longing to see Italy all my life."

And the girl turned her face away again and wept quietly. Italy

NEW YORK CLIPPER.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1871.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

Single Copy.....10 cents | Subscription for 3 months.....$1 00
To Wholesale Dealers.....5¢ " " for 6 months.....1 50
To Retail Agents.....6¢ " " for 1 months.....2 50

To Clubs of four or more, a Reduction of 20 cents will be made from each annual subscription. Subscribers in Canada and the British Provinces, $1 per annum extra, to cover postage.

FRANK QUEEN, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR,
Corner of Centre and Leonard streets,
Post Office Box 1380 New York P. O.

NOTICE.

☞ CORRESPONDENTS, advertisers, and all others writing in relation to matters connected with this or any other department of the CLIPPER are respectfully requested to address their favors to the editor and proprietor, and thereby avoid omissions, mistakes and confusion which are likely to occur when such communications are addressed to our assistants.

NOTICE.

ADVERTISERS must hand in their favors before 6 o'clock on Monday evening, in order to have them appear in that week's issue.

To Correspondents.

☞ We never answer questions by mail. All addressed to us seeking information will be answered through this column only.

WM. W. P., Fulton.—1. We cannot state definitely as to the year, but think it was in 1864, the year before the war ended, when H. J. Chellis & Co., of New York, sold goods to the amount of seventy-four millions of dollars. 2. We are informed that J. V. Farwell & Co., of Chicago, sold, last year, eight millions, and Field, Leiter & Co., of same place, between twelve and a half and fourteen millions worth of dry goods. 3. You may obtain more definite information on the subject by addressing U. S. Economist and Dry Goods Reporter, 59 White street, New York city.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.—The California fraternity are governed by the "Pacific Base Ball Association.' The southern clubs are ruled by the Louisiana Association. The professional clubs are governed by their own association, and the amateur association. The Western clubs recognize the Northwestern Association. The old National Association is defunct. All will subscribe to one code of rules emanating from New York, the home of the game.

VANELIND, N. G.—"Rebellingen Lied" is copied from the MSS of Freiherr Joseph Von Lassberg. 2. The area of France is 203,000 square miles; of New York, 50,000; of Pennsylvania, 46,000; Ohio, 39,000; Indiana, 33,000; Illinois, 56,000; Virginia, 24,000; thus giving France a larger area than the states mentioned of about 38,421 square miles. We cannot give the answer because the territory ceded to Germany is not yet precisely defined.

JACK N KING.—You are in error in your criticism. You say there are only six points for fifteens, with two sixes and three trays, when it is quite plain there are ten points, thus:—the two sixes together against one tray for the three make fifteen-six, and the three tray together against one six each time, make fifteen-four, or ten in all, to which add six for pair-royal, and two for pair, making eighteen in all.

R. S. W., San Francisco.—1. A plays a deuce on a four and calls it seven. A can safely play an ace on his former build and calls it seven. Can he do so? 2. B bets A is wrong according to the rules. Who wins?' 1. A must pick up his six, having one in his hand, and make a second throw to the three. 2. B cannot make a deposit is put up.

LOUIS, Niagara Falls.—1. The best even mile time by a horse on record, running, is 1:43, made by Salina and Fadladeen. 2. Gladstour is said to have run 1 mile and 17 yards in 1 min. 39 sec. 3. No record.

F. M.—If the striker, when serving the ball, strikes either side wall before striking the front wall, it is a hand out. Where there are no side walls but boundary lines, when the ball rebounds over either of these side lines, our opinion is that such a ball is foul and need not be played to.

KNOWLEDGE SEEKER, Albany.—1. D. L. Downing is the leader of Pat's Ninth Regiment Band. 2. No; he is not conducting some concerts given at the Grand Opera House. 3. Henry Tissington is the leader of the orchestra at the Grand Opera House. 4. The band and orchestra are entirely distinct organizations.

W. J. ALLING, Columbus.—We have no travelling correspondent, as you may learn by reading notice in each issue. If Mr. Keppler represented himself as such he imposed upon you. No one connected with the CLIPPER is allowed to ask favors of hotel proprietors.

BROWN, STANLEY AND CO., Newark, N. J.—A body of the same density, but of larger dimensions than another, will reach the ground first, because the greater weight it travels with gives it greater velocity. A 10 lb. iron ball would fall faster than a 1 lb. ball, if dropped from the same height.

KEYSTONE, Allegheny.—1. First catch your rats, then extract their teeth, and throw them down singly to the pup. He will soon learn to kill. 2. Wash them with carbolic soap and warm water, and then rub thoroughly dry. Repeat once a week until you think the fleas are all killed.

J. C., Fulton street.—"C & M play a game of euchre; C deals, and gives two cards to M and three to himself on the first run. M objects, and says it isn't right. C is so sure that he is right, bets two to one. Please decide."..... C is wrong—as he begins, so he must continue; he cannot give two to M and three to himself.

WHIST, Brooklyn.—B had no business to lead the second diamond when the first had been trumped by his opponent, A, whose lead it was. B must therefore be penalised for every revoke he made in the deal.

H. AND C., St. Paul, Minn.—1. Under such circumstances a man has a right to a sight for his pile. 2. A straight flush does not beat four of a kind unless specially agreed upon before commencing to play.

SUBSCRIBER, Albany.—1. Barney Aaron and Sam Collyer were opponents in the ring twice, each winning once. The dates were June 28th, 1866, and June 5th, 1867. You lose. 2. Collyer is travelling with a giant and was at Pittsfield, Mass., recently.

F. LAWRENCE.—The news dealer in the Union depot, at Pittsburgh, has no right to charge fifteen cents per copy for the CLIPPER. Copies can be had at the other depots in that city for the regular price, ten cents, and purchasers had better give the depot man a wide berth.

L. S. J.—1. Mr. Creswick, who is now acting at Booth's Theatre, is the same gentleman who played in "Nobody's Child" at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, with Miss Laura Keene. 2. He visited this country in 1839. 3. He was born in London, Eng., Dec. 27th, 18 3.

R. S., St. Louis.—1. No nine you name could never play harmoniously together, and, therefore, no matter what their playing strength, they would be a weak team. Your score came too late for publication.

FIFTY HOBOKENITES.—Your statement of the wager is totally different to that previously forwarded and replied to last week. We cannot undertake to decide on the facts of the case, not having been present when the bet was made.

J. T. H., Paducah, Ky.—A's argument, that he did not lose the bet because the horse did not go in exactly 2:40, is sheer nonsense; but if the horse did not do it on the first trial, as the bet specified, then A wins. This you have omitted stating.

HUBSTER, Boston.—Half the game means half the score made; therefore, if the Mutuals, in any one innings, made half as many as the Athletics made in half the game, the party betting that they would do so, wins.

FITZGERALD, Phila.—If you have the facts in your possession to prove that Nelson committed wilful errors in the game you refer to, send them to the president of the professional association at once.

LAVENDER STOCKINGS.—The last "two" games were not given to the Boston nine. The score of the one was by a score of 13 to 10, and the other forfeited 9 to 0, both therefore being won. The party betting that the Bostons would not win the series, loses.

H. W. MERCER, Winterset, Iowa.—The base ball or its representatives, is the base, and the post to which it should be returned. The batsman did right in standing on the "rag" representing the base.

E. C., Boston.—1. It is questionable if they do. 2. Yes. 3. Allison was born in Pennsylvania, and played with one of the Philadelphia clubs before he went to the Red Stockings in 1868. 4. Cannot say.

S., Albany.—1. Y is wrong. S can play his tray on the ace and depose on the board and call it three. T. Y cannot call it six and build on it. 3. Y does not seem to be posted in the game.

BOSTON BALL TOSSER.—The Athletics won their first three games with the Rockfords, two being forfeited; but they afterwards won three legal games.

CONSTANT READER.—We know nothing of the salaries paid to professionals, that being a private business. Eggler will probably play with the Athletics.

F. W. PEARSON, Troy.—Any ball hit to the outer field which the fielder endeavors to run in and catch but does not quite get under the ball, but just touches it, should be counted a safe hit.

LEHMANN, Dubuque.—1. If you had read the CLIPPER you would have known that Hall is not a pitcher. 2. He can tell. 3. The Ward brothers. 4. See articles on professionals. 5. The Stars.

F. D., Philada.—The party who bet that a certain player would make his 1st base loser, as the base was given him on called balls, lost. It was an error it was stated that P lost.

R. R., Paducah.—The Boston nine having won the most legal match games up to the date in question, stood at that time in the best position.

O. H. C., Cincinnati, Ohio.—You must apprentice yourself to some circus manager in order to succeed. Call upon John Robinson in your city.

WINNAMATT.—Any dealer in India rubber goods ought to be able to repair them for you; if not, send them to Messrs. Peck & Snyder, as per advertisement in another column.

C. M., Schuylkill Falls.—A war can own real estate in England, equally with any other citizen, and can also act as member of Parliament or of the House of Lords.

FORT DODGE.—1. See answer to D. Q. R. 2. No. He resides at Bing Sing, N. Y., and the jump was made at Utica, against Chas. Peabody, Sept. 25th, 1870.

BILL BYRES.—1. That is intended as a catch, and does not compel him to pay in case he should win. 2. He can—providing he's elected.

CHARLES BROOKS, Charlton, Mass.—You can go by the Erie, Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne, or N. Y. Central; but your better plan is to inquire at the depot, Worcester, Mass.

SUBSCRIBER.—It was not a correct deal, but as the cards had not been played he should turn the top card under, take the next card for himself, and turn up the next as trump.

J. WALSH, Manchester, N. H.—The deceased Mr. Phelan never kept a ball dressing parlor in the St. Nicholas Hotel. It was another party of that name.

P. M. G., Osceola Mills, Pa.—1. Europe has more miles of railroad than Pennsylvania. 2. Rather too mixed a question to answer. Apply to a lawyer.

HENRY LEARY, Georgetown, D. C.—He is not a professional, and unless debarred by some rule of the club unknown to us he is eligible to row with the Potomacs.

J. F., Savannah, Ga.—Your letter has been handed to a party who will send you the required information and furnish such goods as you may wish.

E. J. S., Boston.—We have not been able to find out whether 43-43 and 44-32 were both given officially. If they were, the bet is a draw, but if the latter was the only official time given, A loses.

G. L. B., St. Louis.—1. Goldsmith Maid, 2:17. 2. Billy Boyce, 2:14¾. 3. 2:17¾. 4. Lexington, 7:19¾. No record of quarter or mile while running time.

JAKE, Franklin, Pa.—Having wagered that he would make a larger run than B in a game of billiards and failing to do so, having tied the latter, A loses.

A. "EUCHRE."—If the next player had not played on B's Jack, then the latter can change his play; but if he had, the card first played must stand.

JAMES JOHNSON.—The first man whom Arthur Chambers sparred with in public in this city was Billy Edwards, at the latter's exhibition at the Casino.

GEORGE, East Saginaw, Mich.—B having gone out at his pitch, A must deal again, for it would be manifestly unfair for C to lose his privilege of the pitch.

CHARLEY, Pittsburgh.—1. From $800 upwards. 2 Better learn from an aeronaut. 3. According to cost of gas. 4. For one insertion, $1 20; for three, $3 60. 5. Average, 10.

SUBSCRIBER, Albany.—1. A player cannot go alone when his partner assists, unless previously agreed upon. 2. The party who made the trump can go alone, but the other cannot.

M. D.—In such event, the two-thirds should be divided between the boy and the girl; the mother cannot be deprived of her third. She would get two-thirds to the children.

N. G. T., Southville.—New York, 942,292; Philadelphia, 647,022; Brooklyn, 396,099; St. Louis, 310,864; Chicago, 297,977; Baltimore, 267,354; Boston, 250,526; Cincinnati, 216,239.

F. McD., Council Grove, Kansas.—B having made the two points he gave for the pitch, goes out before C's low; B's ace, or high, putting him out first.

G. M., Pittsfield, Mass.—Mrs. Scott Siddons acted in Shakespeare's comedy of "As You Like It," when James Mace, the pugilist, appeared as Charles the wrestler, who speaks only one line.

YACHTMAN.—It was the Magic, owned by Mr. Franklin Osgood, which won the Queen's Cup last year, Mr. Ashbury's yacht Cambria representing England.

J. B. C.—1. The last tonnage measurement of the Dauntless is 367 9-95. 2. Sappho, 274.4. O. M. 2. A person who bets on a sure thing can win, unless fraud is used by him to induce a bet.

O. H. B., Lancaster, O.—We are unable to say who is the richest man in New York city. Wm. B. Astor and Alexander T. Stewart are put forward as among the wealthiest.

J. L. CATO, South Bend.—1. Send to him again, and if he gives you no satisfaction let us know. 2. We cannot recommend any one.

O. W. R., Boston.—A must deal again; otherwise, B would lose the game.

JOHN C. H., Wyoming, Pa.—The fastest one mile walking time on record is 8 min. 0 sec., by Rovd, in England.

J. K., New Haven.—The time of the Sappho, from New York to Queenstown, is the best, viz.:—13 days, 9 hours and 56 minutes.

WM. H., Selma, Ala.—1. He was not. 2. There is none at present. Hank Holly stood last occupied the position.

WHIST, Willsville Point, N. Y.—Ten points constitute a game at whist. Honors cease to count after nine points.

L. J. REICHARDT.—Will give in a place as soon as we can spare the room.

C. E., Meredith, N. Y.—They are not sufficiently good for publishing.

C. M. W., Jr., Chicago.—Received, and will give it an early reading.

MISSOURIAN, St. Louis.—The widow must be turned face up, and all parties have the right to draw until some one is satisfied.

H. Q. K., Dansville, N. Y.—The greatest standing jump on record, level ground, is 15 feet 6¾ inches, by Ed. Searles.

FIFTY COUNTY.—The population and No. of St. Louis at the taking of the last census was 311,268.

J. W. C., Worcester.—In case of a tie in counting for game at Seven-up, the non-dealer scores the point.

JOHN JAMES, West Meriden.—We have no right to play alone. D having passed three tricks, passes one point.

SIM PIERCE.—1. We shall see one, if not more. 2. There is nothing that we need written up on game travels. 3. Similar bills will be acceptable.

H. J. D.—The killing of Aaron has since been denied. See Ring department.

SNOWY DELL, Nashville, Tenn.—Suggest the question referred to.

A. C., Catskill, N. Y.—A player cannot go it alone when his partner assists, unless by mutual agreement.

T. H. B., Binghamton, N. Y.—Your letter addressed to Sanford & Courtney, Lima, Peru, will probably reach them.

CLIPPER READER.—All the questions you ask concerning the lady are purely private matters, which we never answer.

VINCENT.—Apply to some manager in person and state what you want.

MR. H. R. B., Rochester, N. Y.—We have no information of his whereabouts.

F. H. W.—The longest running jump on record is 32 feet 7 inches, by Howard; standing, 13 feet 6¾ inches, by Ed. Searles.

V. F. Brooklyn.—We cannot pay attention to the challenge until a deposit is put up.

ST. LOUIS.—As you did weigh the amount bet upon, and more too, you win.

ST. JAMES, Boston.—John H. Mack is not "Our Jim," nor is he in any way connected with the New York CLIPPER.

A. H. B., Terre Haute, Ind.—We have a correspondent in your town. We will place your address on the reserved list.

T. H. K.—It is impossible to keep a correct list of amateur associations, and we have abandoned it.

B. L. B., Camden, N. J.—Samuel R. Brown, the actor to whom you refer, died in Boston, Mass., Feb. 16th, 1869.

J. KENYAN, Boston Harbor.—Money received, and the CLIPPER mailed regularly to you.

G. D. B.—The bombardment of Fort Sumter commenced on the 12th of April, 1861.

GUS., North Windham, Me.—It is a fair walk when the heel and toe touches each time and one foot is always on the ground.

ALL FOURS.—C has no voice in the matter. A and B can run them again, if they mutually agree to do so.

THE CAPTAIN BUSHMAN, Oil City.—The beggar being satisfied with his hand, the dealer cannot run them again.

J. J. F., Fenster, Worcester.—We cannot make out what you want. Make it plainer.

PIERRE, Fort Smith.—A is wrong, for B cannot build from the board, but from his own hand.

JANESTOWN.—The highest quotation of gold during the war between the North and South was 285, on the 11th of July, 1864.

AMHERST FRASER, Worcester.—The bet is a stand off between the game and the player.

READER.—After building nine you cannot build it ten, but must take it up with your nine in hand.

J. B., Dundas.—It is copyrighted, and the property of Lester Wallack.

JAMES R., Glen Carbon.—Write to Ed. James, whose advertisement you will find in another column.

AMATEUR UMPIRE, Boston.—We will do so after the season is over, and before the amateur and professional conventions meet.

L. G. WARFORD.—Unless fraud is used, a person betting on a sure thing can win.

S. A. GRIFFIN, Cleveland.—The fourth game was played in Boston Oct. 4, with a score of 13 to 10 in favor of Boston.

BURLINGTON.—Hastings was not Foley, the latter being in the Chicago club.

F. L. M., Roxbury, Mass.—We know of none that we can recommend.

RAFFLES, Hoboken.—Our reply last week was clear and explicit, and the party betting 10 would not be thrown loses the wager.

F. E. S.—Cleveland, O.—The game must be played out, as no one point has precedence over the other at casino.

W. W., East Northwood.—Letter mailed to you last week.

JOHN K., Springfield, Mass.—See answer to "CLIPPER Reader."

J. F. H., St. Louis, Mo.—We have a correspondent in your city.

MARY, Baltimore, Md.—1. Attend all. 2. The banjo principally.

J. E., Hartford, Conn.—Address your letters to the proprietor.

SUBSCRIBER, Boston.—You will find it in last week's CLIPPER.

G. A. S.—The Boston Club won the series with the Mutuals.

J. S. R., Saco, Me.—We already have a correspondent there.

C. EDWARDS.—We have more than we can find room for.

TOBY OF RIEN.—Received and filed for early insertion.

W. F. C., Hamilton, O.—We must decline your offer.

T. W. B.—Drury Lane bill received. Thank you.

OLD READER, Philadelphia, Pa.—Probably in our next.

H. C. C., Cincinnati, O.—Cannot inform you.

A GLASGOW MAN.—We have no record of it.

S. SANFORD, Elkhorn, Wis.—$15 is received.

F. K., Boston.—We do not in that line.

T. C., Boston.—No. 2 was nearest the mark.

A. W. FRENCH.—Received and accepted.

POTSNEIN, St. Louis, Mo.—Accepted.

JACK N KING.—Probably in our next.

A CONSTANT READER.—No.

STONEHAM.—B wins.

THE QUEEN'S CUP.

We are all sailors just now—we "go down to the sea in ships," or yachts, or open boats, as it were, and we learn to cuss our tarry toplights like regularly pickled old salts. We all know how to splice the mainbrace, so to speak, and fully comprehend the importance of taking a reef in our flying jibs when scudding before the wind, probably. And all this has been brought about within a week, since Mr. James Ashbury came over here with the intention of wresting the Queen's Cup from our close-hauled grasp in a series of races on the friendly waters of our bay and parts thereunto adjacent; but James, so far, has failed to shake our faith in Columbia, however he may have proven the undauntless character of the Dauntless; while it was left to Sappho to win us a third triumph on the briny, much to the discouragement of the British representative. But shiver our heaviest timbers if the valiant Ashbury hasn't compelled us to "bend our gallant mast, me boys," before we could cut loose from the old sea dog, you will, no doubt, observe. And it was only through the infernal stubborness of the Columbia that the third contest wasn't a walk over, as we say in horse talk, for the stranger, the other representatives of our interests being a little shy of the Livonia, sea sick, perchance, and acting in a way that was certainly dark and unsportsmanlike. Three races were won by our fellow seamen during the past week, and one race was scored by the bold tar from the English main. If our t'gallantsails, and jib storm-sails and one thing or another don't become waterlogged, we propose to cast off again during the current week, when, if there is but a cap full of wind, we hope to show Mr. Ashbury a clean pair of heels, which cannot always be done in these dirty waters. For the present, "the world of waters is our home," and though the rude mast should shiver to the breeze, and so forth, still must we on. We have undertaken to the starch out of this vainglorious Britisher, and though our lee scuppers run with gore, and the cook's galley be sacrificed in the attempt, we mean to do it. In the beautiful words of the lamented poet:—

"Tis shutters of midnight the sailor boy lay,
His hammock slung loose to the aporis of the wind,
While watch-worn and weary his cares flew away,
And visions of happiness danced o'er his mind."

We sincerely trust that our fellow yachtmen will be careful how they slumber the hours away in their comfortable feather beds on shore, risking the safety of the Queen's Cup and the reputation of our people as a nation of sailors. Let them be "on deck," you will understand. Let everything be made taut for the current week's cruises; let the spanker be spliced in the right place in case of emergency; let the stunsails be moored in the cockpit, the jib boom carefully overhauled, and the sky scraper be smoothly stowed away in the scuttle butt; in this way shall we be armed at all points, ready at a moment's notice to plough the raging main, and run down any foreign craft that may attempt to obstruct our passage. It has been said that some of our fellow sailors prefer smooth water to waves which have the reputation of running mountain high, which shows that their heads are level. It is also meanly insinuated that our seafaring contemporaries would rather sail along the city front than be caught in the trough of the sea. We beg, most respectfully, to hurl this abominable insinuation in their teeth, and defy them to the proof. As sailors, we have our faults, it is true, but we have shaken too many reefs out of the front yards, furled too many uncomfortably flapping sails, and ascended too many rope ladders in the teeth of the storm, to permit this baseless fabrication to pass without rebuke. Therefore let Mr. Ashbury have a fair trial, and in the language of the ring, may the best yacht win.

GEO. W. CHILDS, Esq., (of the Philadelphia Ledger) and wife arrived from Europe, per steamship Scotia, on the 17th inst. We are pleased to learn that Mrs. Childs, who had been in ill health for some time previous to her departure for Europe, returns home greatly improved by the trip across the Atlantic and back. Mr. Childs, although absent at the time of the great Chicago fire, was one of the first to contribute to the fund for the relief of the sufferers.

GENTLEMEN who vote early and often at our elections, are not in their usual happy frame of mind just now. Things are a little beclouded, and the sinews of war do not come up so spontaneously as heretofore. Money is tight, though repeaters are plenty. Matters are confused like, and the boys see their way only through "a glass," darkly.

THE SNOW PEOPLE are working hard for the relief of the Chicago sufferers. Read our record of amusements for the result of their efforts. One performance alone, in this city, realized nearly five thousand dollars. The Chicago calamity is disclosing the bright side of humanity.

BODY SNATCHER.—We are told that Baltimore has a clergyman who claims to have snatched seventeen thousand children as "brands from the burning" within a year. Of what great service such a man would have been at the Chicago fire.

A THANKFUL PEOPLE.—An exchange tells us that "resolutions of thanks to God and the city police were lately passed at an Indianapolis meeting." The most surprising thing about it is that they didn't put the police first.

COL. THOMAS A. SCOTT, the great railroad king, has been nominated by the Pittsburgh Post as a candidate for the next Presidency. Does the colonel expect to run through on the railroad line?

AFTER A CAREFUL PERUSAL of several of Shakespeare's spiciest plays, "Our Jim," in speaking of the great poet, calls him "the immoral bard of Avon."

"THOSE GENTLEMEN who "fit mid Sigel") have now a chance to "vote mid him," as he has been nominated for Register.

A FARO DEALER is not necessarily "broke" because you happen to see him "gathering chips."

DEATH OF A LOCAL CHARACTER.—On Sunday morning, the 22d inst., death put a termination to the life of a man named Dempsey, who, from having once been well to do and a captain in the army, became reduced to poverty, and subsisted on the charity of the employers and employees in and around Centre Market. He was a fine looking man and had many good qualities. He will be buried by subscription, and all in the vicinity have cheerfully contributed their mite.

SHUFFLE BOARD.—On Wednesday evening, Oct. 25th, a shuffle board handicap, for a Haggis supper and a stake, will come off at King's Brewery Shades, 316 West 42d street, between the following sports:—David Forbes, Thos. Bremner, Angus McIntosh, Wm. Mundell, Peter Thain, Alex. Munro, Geo. Mackenzie, Wm. Beveridge, Thos. Beveridge, Alex. Macdonald, Hugh Mackenzie and James Mosher. Much sport is expected.

NEWS OF THE WEEK BOILED DOWN.

☞ The schooner Edward A. [illegible] had pressure cutter Dauntless [illegible] of the Royal yachting squadron of France, R. S. charged with [illegible] Gloucester, Mass., on [illegible] Oct. 9th, and arrived at [illegible] 20th. [illegible] were covered beneath a guard of [illegible] and [illegible] Saturday, June 9th, and arrived at [illegible] 20th. [illegible] were covered beneath a guard of [illegible] and [illegible] Saturday, June 9th, and arrived at [illegible] 20th.

☞ [illegible] in Belfast prison; being the son of the Maharajah of Lahore. They caused [illegible] his native country fifty years ago, when [illegible] Punjaub. [illegible] Duleep Singh, [illegible] whom when he had endowed, and stone that time he had the [illegible] existence in the Scottish capital. He spoke nobly, as one of the European nations only a few years ago—died of hunger in a miserable house of the Rue de Vaugirard, Paris, France, about Oct. 7th.

PARSONS, The Rev. Benjamin G.—Familiarly known as "Father Parsons," and with whom every person connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church, having passed seventy-three years—Metuchin, N. J., Oct. 7th, aged 84.

PRESTON, Lillie.—Well known as a public lecturer throughout the country—Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10th.

Pumpelly, Ledyard—Scientist. See foreign news.

RAMSEY, Mrs.—Wife of Jas. Range, senator, of Washington, D. C.—Died of consumption at the latter residence, Oct. 16th.

SHARP, D. B.—Late of Pennsylvania, and leading circuit court practitioner in the state of Illinois—Chicago, Oct. 16th.

SMITH, John.—A prominent resident of San Francisco, Cal., and one of the California pioneers—San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 7th.

SPORT, John.—The well known and popular horse-trainer of Newmarket, Eng.

STRAUSS, George.—See reply to M. P. for Orkney and Caithness; one of the Liberal members of [illegible] and represented Orkney for seven years; was returned for Caithness in 1868, which seat he kept till 1869, when he retired; he was the largest quarry owner in the northern Scotland—Scotland, Oct. 1st, aged 80.

TAYLOR, Mrs. Mary—Mother of an actress. See elsewhere in this issue.

WALDEN, Viscountess—The only child of his Excellency the late Count Heidmannsegge, who was for many years Hanoverian Minister to the Court of St. James; born in 1836, and was a Lady of the Bedchamber to the Princess of Wales—London, Eng., about Oct. 7th, aged 35.

WACHTMEISTER, Count—Minister of Foreign Affairs of Sweden—dropped dead in the street, from apoplexy, Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 14th.

YUNGMAN, John G.—A well known printer, and a nephew of Gotlob Yungman, the pioneer printer of Pennsylvania—Sunbury, Pa., about Oct. 14th, aged 86.

BASE BALL.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP RECORD.

The coming week's play will end the series of championship contests for 1871, and the next week's CLIPPER will, no doubt, contain the name of the club which is to fly the championship pennant until the close of the season of 1872. The contest up to the date of our going to press still lays between the Athletic, Boston and Chicago clubs, and the record of the legal games won and lost by each up to Oct. 23d is as follows:—

	Athletic.	Boston.	Chicago.	Cleveland.	Haymaker.	Keokuga.	Mutual.	Olympic.	Rockford.	Lowell.	Lynn.	Total games won.	Games to be played.
Athletic		1	2	3	3	3	3	3	3	15	6	1	0
Boston	5		1	3	3	3	3	3	3	16	6	0	0
Chicago	3	5		3	3	3	3	3	3	15	6	0	0

The Boston nine have completed their championship games and stand credited with 16 legal games won and 9 lost. The Athletics have only to win their deciding match with the Chicago nine to stand equal with the Boston nine in legal games won, and ahead of them in having the fewest games lost. The Chicago nine must win three of the four games they have to play Oct. 24d, to equal the other two clubs in the number of the legal games won, otherwise they will stand third on the list. Should the Athletics lose their Chicago game, and the latter their Haymaker games, then the Boston club will fly the championship flag. The Chicago nine forfeited their game with the Haymakers, in Troy, on Oct. 21st, by playing Bannock, of the Active Club, of Clinton, who played in that club in a match game in September last, and since then in others.

Below is the record of all the legal games won and lost by each of the eight clubs which duly entered the arena and played throughout the season. We have excluded the Eckford and Keokuga games, and counted all the Rockford games played prior to June 15th as default, as also all the Olympic games played prior to July 15th, up to which date Hall was not eligible to play in the Olympic nine, as his letter resigning his membership of the Atlantic Club was dated May 15th.

	Athletic.	Boston.	Chicago.	Cleveland.	Haymaker.	Mutual.	Olympic.	Rockford.	Lowell.	Lynn.	Legal games won.	Legal games lost.
Athletic		3	1	3	3	3	3	3	3	16	5	6
Boston	3		1	3	3	3	3	3	3	16	6	4
Chicago	2	3		2	3	3	3	3	3	16	6	2
Cleveland	0	1	1		2	3	3	3	3	16	6	2
Haymaker	0	2	1	2		3	3	3	3	16	6	2
Mutual	3	2	1	2	1		3	3	3	14	6	0
Olympic	0	0	0	0	0	0		3	3	3	2	0
Rockford	0	0	1	1	2	0	0		3	3	2	0
Legal games lost	7	9	7	13	11	17	15	19

Counting in the Eckford and Keokuga games, and including all the games played by the Olympic and Rockford clubs as legal, the record of games won and lost by each club would be as follows. We, of course, exclude all games played after the match series was won:—

	Athletic.	Boston.	Chicago.	Cleveland.	Eckford.	Haymaker.	Keokuga.	Mutual.	Olympic.	Rockford.	Lowell.	Lynn.	Total games won.
Athletic		1	2	3	3	3	3	3	3	3			25
Boston	2		1	3	3	3	3	3	3	3			27
Chicago	2	3		2	3	3	3	3	3	3			28
Cleveland	0	1	1		2	2	0	3	3	3			18
Eckford	1	1	2	2		2	1	2	3	3			20
Haymaker	0	1	1	2	2		2	3	3	3			20
Keokuga	0	0	0	3	1	1		1	1	0			7
Mutual	2	2	1	2	1	2	2		3	3			19
Olympic	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0		3			3
Rockford	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0				0
Lowell	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3			30
Lynn	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3	3			30

The professional clubs made a great mistake when they threw out all games played after the match series was won in "exhibition" games. The regular series of championship games should have been declared to be five games, all such games to count as the record of legal games won and lost, the winner of the most match series—best three out of the five of the regular series—to win the pennant, and in case of a tie in match series, the winner of the most regular games to take the whip, and in case of a tie in this latter respect then the club losing the fewest of the match series to be declared the champion club. Time of game to be limited to two hours and a half, and no inning to be commenced after the expiration of that time. This would be the fairest way to settle the championship contest, as a rule as this every one of the five games would be of interest as regular contests even after the match series of three out of five had been won or lost; whereas, as it was this season, the moment the match series was settled the other games of the five became "exhibition" games, and as such were worthless in drawing a crowd. Another mistake was that made by the Eckford Club in not entering the contest for the championship. The professional club should enter for the whip, no matter how slight their chances of winning may be at the start. The mere prestige of being a contestant is worth ten times the amount of the entrance fee, as the Eckford club realized to their cost.

THE MUTUAL-ATHLETIC BENEFIT GAMES.

On Thursday, Oct. 19th, the first of the series of games arranged for the benefit of the suffering Chicago people was played on the grounds of the Athletic Club, at Hoboken, the contesting nines being composed of players of the Mutual, Athletic and Chicago clubs, assisted by Cummings, late of the Stars, the newly engaged pitcher of the Athletic Club. The weather was not very favorable on Thursday, but nevertheless there were about fifteen hundred people present. The New York nine included McBride as pitcher, with eight Mutuals in the field; the Athletic nine included Cummings as pitcher, with Treacy, of the White Stockings, in the field, and seven Athletics.

The game was well contested, and, towards the close, was quite exciting, neither party scoring a run on the last two innings. The Athletics opened the ball, and at the end of the second innings, but afterwards the Mutuals stepped in the van, and in the 6th innings they led by a score of 13 to 7. In the 7th the Athletics rallied for 5 runs to 1, and finally came in the victors by the close score of 13 to 12. The innings proved to be a veritable acquisition to the Philadelphia nine, and, had he been properly supported, the Mutual score would have been limited to 8. Bechtel, Heubel and Treacy made some fine catches in the out field for the Athletics, and Fisler excelled at short stop. Eggler and Hatfield played finely for the Mutuals, McBride doing the best batting. The score:—

MUTUAL.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	ATHLETIC.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.
Hatfield, 2d b	1	2	1	0	Cuthbert, 1st b	1	1	11	0
Patterson, 1 f	2	1	1	0	Cummings, p	0	1	0	2
Start, 1st b	2	3	9	0	Radcliff, s s	2	1	1	3
McBride, p	2	3	0	0	Malone, c	2	2	9	0
Eggler, c	0	2	5	0	Fisler, 3 b	2	3	0	0
Mills, c	0	1	4	1	Treacy, l f	3	3	3	0
Ferguson, 3d b	1	1	4	0	Heubel, r f	2	3	2	1
Pearce, s s	0	1	2	2	Bechtel, c f	0	3	3	0
Higham, r f	3	2	1	1	Bechtel, c f	0	0	3	0
Totals	11	16	27	6	Totals	12	14	27	11

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Mutuals	1	0	2	0	5	0	1	0	0—11
Athletics	1	1	3	0	0	5	1	0	0—12

Runs earned—Athletic, 7; Mutual, 3. Bases on errors—Athletic, 5; Mutual, 3. Umpire—Mr. Meigs. Scorers—Mutual, Dempster; Athletic, Tinge. Time of game—1 hour and 50 minutes.

On Friday, Oct. 20th, the return game was played on the Union grounds; another close contest was anticipated, and also a large attendance, but the weather was unfavorable in the extreme, and entirely to prevent any large assemblage of spectators, and as Cummings failed to put-in an appearance the original programme was not carried out. The nines on the occasion included Zetlein, of the Chicago club, the latter playing in the Mutual nine; Ferguson catching in place of Mills, who was injured in the Philadelphia game; Fleet playing at second base. On the Athletic side Treacy played at second in place of Keach, and Meyerle at first in Fisler's position, both players being absent. Owing to the cold weather and the slim attendance the game was rapidly hurried through with, and as Zetlein received the best support the contest became one-sided after the third innings, the Mutuals finally coming in the victors by the score of 17 to 5, as follows:—

ATHLETIC.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	MUTUAL.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.
Cuthbert, l f	0	0	5	1	Hatfield, 2d b	2	3	0	4
Martin, p	0	1	1	0	Patterson, l f	3	2	3	0
Radcliff, s s	0	1	0	0	Start, 1st b	2	2	11	1
Malone, c	0	1	3	0	Zetlein, p	0	0	3	1
Start, 1st b	0	1	3	3	Eggler, c f	1	1	3	0
Treacy, 2d b	0	1	3	3	Fleet

THEATRICAL RECORD.

Continued from Page 233.

his engagements in its proposed tour, and purposes to act as agent for Miss ALEXANDRIA and Kate Riddell. Read bold card.

WILLIAM DILLINGHAM is the inventor of iron boxes and shelves for various stage appliances. See his card in another column.

MISS ANNA DICKINSON is announced to lecture at the Masonic Temple, Baltimore, Md., Nov. 2d.....Victoria C. Woodhull, the Woman's Rights candidate for the presidency, is of the same place, Oct. 26th.

C. C. CLEMMONS, late contractor of Wood's Museum, Chicago, advertises for an engagement.

CHARLEY SHAY'S QUINCUNTENNIAL EXPEDITION gave a show at Thompson's Opera House, Lynn, Mass., Oct. 26th, to a moderate house. Their route ahead is as follows:—Salem, Mass., 31st; Gloucester, 32d; Newburyport, 34th; Lawrence, 35th; Haverhill, 36th; Portsmouth, N. H., 37th; Great Falls, N. H., 38th.

THE FAKIR OF AVA, and Whiting, the humorist, performed at Rochester, N. Y., during the past week.

MACKEVOY'S NEW HIBERNIANS, representing a "Tour in Ireland," has returned to Philadelphia, and will be on exhibition for six nights at Concert Hall, commencing on 2d inst. Miss Mina Geary, Miss Rose Daly and Mr. W. F. Lawlor are connected with the hibernicon, and illustrate its scenes by some excellent vocalism.

THE MODEL of the City of Paris, a representation in miniature of that city prior to its bombardment, is still on exhibition at the Assembly Buildings, Philadelphia.

MANAGERS and others requiring posters or other printing, are referred to F. A. Searle's advertisement in another column.

JACK JONES publishes elsewhere, in this issue of the CLIPPER, a challenge to dance Dick Sams, of Tamaqua, Pa., or Boyle, who was recently matched to dance there.

JAS. E. BAGGAT, property man, late of McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, advertises for an engagement.

CALCIUM LIGHT APPARATUS can be purchased or hired of Harmar & Connor, who advertise.

W. T. HARMAR, artist and modeler in WAX, inserts his card in another column.

D. K. PRESCOTT writes from Atlanta, Ga., under date of Oct. 15th, as follows:—"I shipped my animals from Springfield, Mass., to Chicago, Ill., and put C. F. Baker in charge, to feed and take care of them, giving him $80 to defray expenses and meet me at Canton, Ill., to make the fair there before going into the St. Louis Museum, but he left the cars at Albany, leaving the poor animals to starve on the route to Chicago. The agent telegraphed me and I sent a man and shipped them to New York, and after two weeks' idleness, with all my people in New York, I shipped all to Atalanta, Ga., by steamship to Savannah. On the way, my rat girl was buried at sea. I am doing a fine business with my animals and J. Ohio, the Swiss warbler, and will make Macon, Montgomery, Selma and New Orleans fairs before I go to St. Louis."

THE BLITZ TROUPE under the management of Charles Forbes, performed at Lansing, Mich., this week; they go thence to Hastings for three nights. Louis E. Cook, late advance agent of Martinot's gift entertainment, has joined this company in the same capacity.

PROF. G. M. CIPRICO gave a reading at Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17th for the Chicago sufferers, and our correspondent, writing on the 18th, says:—"Over one thousand dollars was given to the cause."

PROF. SILVESTER and Miss Angelique Schott gave their magical and miscellaneous performance at Kansas City, Mo., during the past week.

HORTON'S DOLCE-CAMPAGNA ORCHESTRA COMPANY gave a performance at Casey's Opera House, Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 19th. One-fourth of the proceeds were given to the Chicago relief fund.

WIESEMAN, magician, drew two good houses at Rand's Hall, Troy, N. Y., Oct. 17th and 18th.

PROF. W. S. HUTCHINGS, late proprietor of the Fourth Street Museum, St Louis, Mo., has gone to his last home, much to the sorrow and regret of his large circle of friends and acquaintances. We quote the following particulars from the St. Louis Times of the 4th inst:—

Last Wednesday morning, at 4 o'clock, Prof. W. S. Hutchings, proprietor of the Fourth Street Museum, died at his residence, after a short illness of only six days. Prof. H. was a native of Paris, Ky., and at the time of his death was forty years of age. During his residence in this city he has earned the reputation of being an honest, conscientious, hard working, reliable, pleasant and accommodating gentleman, and won, by his peculiar affability, friend after friend, until, up to the day of his sudden decease, they were legion. Liberal to a fault, kindly disposed, charitable to the needy, reliable in business, generous in his dealings and upright in every particular, our city has lost a citizen who, by his enterprising and thriving life, would undoubtedly have added much to her future growth, enterprise and prosperity.

Prof. Hutchings is dead! His spirit now wanders in that land, "From whose bourne no traveler returns."

He sleeps his last sleep. No more will his cheering, bright and genial smile be seen; the proud step of his ambition form will be missed upon our streets; the stranger, the citizen and the friend will oft ask in time to come, through forgetfulness, where is Prof. Hutchings? The answer will be: The philanthropist—for such, indeed, he was—has been suddenly called before the throne of Him on high. He needs no encomiums: let his actions, as a good citizen, be his monument; no Parian carved marble need tower above his last resting place, for memory alone will long revere his name. The bereaved family have the sympathies of our whole city. J. R. C.

SATSUMA'S ROYAL JAPANESE TROUPE were to open for one week at Mozart Hall, Cincinnati, commencing on the 23d inst.

HON. CARL SCHURTZ lectured at Mozart Hall, Cincinnati, on the 19th, upon "Civil Service Reform," to an audience of medium size.

PROF. BOWN, the wire performer, gave two entertainments at Harrisburg, Pa., on 20th and 21st, and was billed ahead as follows:—Dauphin, 23d; Millersburg, 24th, and Sunbury, 25th.

MARK TWAIN lectured in Reading, Pa., on the 20th.

ALF. BURNETT, assisted by Miss Helen Nash and Prof. Sharpley, were announced to give two entertainments at Reading, Pa., on the 23d and 24th.

JOHN BILLINGS lectured at Coxsville, Pa., on the 20th.

THE FAKIR OF ISRAELITAN is at Barnell's Museum, Pittsburgh, where he is entertaining a large number of visitors daily. A matinee for the benefit of the Chicago fire sufferers was given at this establishment on the 20th inst.

DIEFENDORF HALL, Fort Plains, N. Y., may be rented for concerts, minstrels, lectures, dramatic entertainments, etc., as is stated in an advertisement in another column.

ELLIOTT'S ACADEMY OF MUSIC, Williamsport, Pa., is gaining the attention of managers, because of its completeness of fitting up, and is considered one of the best in Pennsylvania. See advertisement.

WEISIGER HALL, Louisville, Ky., has a large seating capacity, is well fitted up and located, and claimed in an advertisement elsewhere to be the largest in the state.

WASHBURN'S LAST SENSATION is billed ahead as follows:—Brighton, Mass., Oct. 28th; Brookland, Oct. 30th; Arlington, Oct. 31st; Concord, Nov. 1st; Malden, Nov. 2d; Woburn, Nov. 3d.

FOREIGN SHOW NEWS.

Dramatic.

THERE HAVE BEEN FEW WEEKS, from Saturday to Saturday, that have shown more novelty at the theatres in London, Eng., than the one ending Sept. 30th, concerning which our advices are dated Oct. 1st. At Drury Lane, Andrew Halliday's drama entitled "Rebecca" was produced Sept. 23d.....At the Gaiety a new opera bouffe, entitled "Cinderella, the Younger," had been produced.....At the Haymarket, Mr. Sothern had acted in "David Garrick" with a success hardly less than that of Lord Dundreary. He was announced to act David Garrick on Oct. 2d, 3d and 4th, and for his farewell appearance on the 5th, Lord Dundreary, under the patronage of T. R. H. the Prince and Princess of Wales and the entire surplus was to have been given to the Royal General Theatrical Fund. On the 7th he sailed for America.....The Holborn Theatre was re-opened for the season on Sept. 25th, under the management of R. Mansell, with a drama entitled "Edmund Kean," by the late Alexandre Dumas, and which had been intimately associated with the fame of Frederick Lemaitre. It had remained unknown in London boards some thirty-five years, but at last one manager was found bold enough to brave the penalties and produce it. The Daily Telegraph of Sept. 26th says:—"Once upon a time, in one of his wildest moments, Alexandre Dumas chose to describe on the stage the impossible life of an impossible actor; and being hard pressed for a title, he turned his hero into a great man of whom the great novelist knew absolutely nothing—Edmund Kean. He painted in sensuous colors the life of a drunkard and a debauchee, the Frenchman's notion of a lady-killer, a fellow despised for his weakness by his dresser the fancy of ladies of high degree, a trickster with sliding panes to his dressing-room, which was a place of assignation for silly women; and a man so utterly devoid of taste, discipline, and good breeding as to burst out in the middle of the Balcony Scene in 'Romeo and Juliet' before a gigantic audience, and fling his vulgar Billingsgate at the head of the Prince of Wales, Afterwards George the Fourth, because his royal highness happened to be chatting to the lady Kean chose to admire."..... In the version presented upon the English stage, certain modifications became necessary. The Prince of Wales is converted into the Prince of Hesselstadt, and the lady who compromises herself by visiting Kean in secret in his dressing room is made the daughter of an ambassador instead of his wife. The Sunday Times says:—"A very short account of the story will show its improbability. Kean comes to the house of the Austrian ambassador, for the purpose, apparently of shielding the fame of a certain Alice Ellon, he is supposed to have wronged, but in reality to ask the Lady Angela, the ambassador's daughter, to make an assignation with him. He succeeds in his attempt, and departs to drink with a party of theatrical underlings at the Coal Hole Tavern. Alice Ellon is not his mistress, but is deeply inlove with him. She has fled to his house for the sake, nominally, of learning acting, but in fact to enjoy the delight of being near him. Lord Warringdale, for whom she was intended by her guardian, and who hopes by her money to patch his ruined fortunes, lays a trap to seize her, and makes the appointment for the Coal Hole. The letter inviting her to his haunt, so suitable to ladies, is a forgery of Kean's handwriting. Kean meets her, learns all, defeats the scheme of Lord Warringdale, challenges the nobleman to fight, but is rescued on account of disparity of rank. In addition to this adventure, he fights with a sailor, acts the part of a benevolent providence to some actors, his former associates, and shows himself off as a fine fellow generally. Alice Ellon, once saved, Kean thinks no more of her, but goes to his dressing room and receives the anticipated visit of the Lady Angela. A stop to flirtation is caused by the arrival of the lady's father and the prince. Angela is dismissed through the secret panel, but leaves behind her a fan, the gift of the prince. This is seized upon by the ambassador, who puts it in his pocket. Kean asks an interview with the prince, and tries to induce him to forego a pursuit of Lady Angela, of which Kean and the public are too well aware. The prince will not promise, and Kean, after frightening his manager, his dresser and other people of the theatre, by refusing to act, at length consents, in a very bad humor, to go upon the stage. For a while he goes through the piece, 'Romeo and Juliet,' carefully. At length he sees the prince in the box of Lady Angela. In a fit of madness he forgets the part, assumes the character of Falstaff, and chastises the Prince of Wales and subsequently Lord Warringdale. As might be expected, the scene is broken up in disorder. In the last act Kean is condemned by the King, without a trial, to six months' imprisonment. He is visited by Lady Angela and by Alice Ellon. The coldness of the former, careful only for her own safety, is contrasted with the devotion of Alice, and Kean changes his lady love like a theatrical costume. A scene of escapes and disguises follows. In the end Kean finds out that the prince is his very good friend', makes his peace with the ambassador, and hearing that his penalty is to expiate himself for six months, determines to go to America and contract a marriage [bigamous, of course] with Alice. Such is the plot of the precious production, a piece ab-surd enough in French, but in English altogether hopeless. The second title, 'Desordre et Genie,' bestowed upon it, is, indeed, more characteristic of the state of the author than of that of the actor. A shoal of absurdities, to which we have not referred, is found in the piece, but what we have indicated is enough to show how wholly unsuited is the whole to English tastes. To some the liberty taken with the actor will be an offence. But apart from questions of this kind, the piece, in spite of it's being from the pen of Dumas, is poor, and could only be hoisted into popularity on the strength of the kind of acting fi did not receive." From another paper we excerpt the following, referring to the close of the drama:—"Kean, by some mysterious process has the alternative put before him of six months' imprisonment or twelve months' exile. Of course he prefers the latter, and amid shouts of laughter, in which Mr. Swinburne, we thought, was nearly joining, he exclaims, 'I'll go to New York!' and then, in the twinkling of an eye, his confidential man is by his side, ready equipped, portmanteau and all, for the long journey, and as the curtain falls we learn that Alice Ellon is to share the actor's fortunes by the way. This ludicrous termination was enough to damn the piece by itself."..... The Surrey was re-opened Sept. 23d, under the management of R. Shepherd, who continued in the same position some years since. "Watch and Wait," a new romantic drama, was the opening attraction, an account of the plot of which will be found upon an outside page. Immediately after the termination of the drama, the company assembled on the stage, and Mr. Edgar, in their behalf, presented Mr. Shepherd with an elegantly chased silver cup, which Mr. Shepherd received, responding in a brief speech, the audience cheering him in the echo, "Brother B.A." preceded the drama, and "In and Out of Place," in which Miss John Daly acted six characters.....At the Alfred, "True as Steel," a new and original drama, in which Edwin Romaine, the author, made his first appearance in London, was produced Sept. 25th. The principal situation is the narrow escape of the hero from being crushed under a steam trip hammer, (which has been used here in one of McCloxy's dramas.—Ed.) Another situation is a descent of one of the chief characters upon the sails of a windmill. The cast is as follows:—"John Wallsend, lately employed at the Consett Iron Works, is on strike, and his family being on the point of starvation, he applies to the mill owner for relief, but is remarked hastily refused. In the meantime, one of the locked out puddlers, incited by Silas Slag, proceed to attack Mr. Heartwell in his own house, and Silas Slag, their leader, in a struggle which takes place, shoots the mill owner's wife and carries off her infant son. John Wallsend is suspected of the crime, arrested, and commenced to transportation for life. A lapse of twenty years takes place before the next act, when we see John Wallsend back in England, having a grim desire to see his daughter, who is grown a woman, living in affluent circumstances, owing to the large sums secretly sent her by the convict, who has amassed a considerable fortune. This will remind our readers of the great situation in Dickens' novel, 'Great Expectations,' only we have a daughter instead of a son in the present play. The [illegible] Slag, is still in existence, being tortured by [illegible] In Act 2 we find John Wallsend, living in retirement, [illegible] the estate [illegible] Slag has touched his victim's [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] victim, and carries him off to an old [illegible] where Caleb [illegible] has appointed Slag to meet him, to [illegible] the earth from the walls of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and Mr. Heartwell, who had [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CUPID'S FOIBLES, FOLLIES AND FANCIES.

LOVE SONNETS.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

Ringing with love, my heart strings faintly tremble,
From having been by other loves forsaken—
Burning with love, yet could my heart dissemble
The flame that love again there does awaken;
Fearing to speak, lest thou should leave me too,
I speechless stand, adoring with mine eyes;
Just as a child a bauble seeing through,
Sees the dark ground whereon his beauty lies,
Fearing to pluck it, lest beneath his touch
The thing might burst, his eager hand he stays;
So do I fear my love to fondle much,
Lest it should fly and leave beneath my gaze
Only dry dust, or ashes colorless,
Making still keener my intense distress!

Oft have I been deceived by things that, seeming
So full of perfect life at distant view,
Straightway I fully trusted—never dreaming
How cold they were until I nearer drew;
Then have I found, as one by one they faded,
That truth were those ideas "built of clay;"
That error were those ideals "built of shade,"
Then for a while my foolish eyes I shaded,
Lest they should more be fooled by false display;
I strove to curb my heart, but it would rove,
Spurning the small control that I possess—
As birds seek air, so did my heart seek love,
Finding but little though and gaining less.
Until with thine my heart came in contact,
When it at least found all it ever lacked.

How often have I kissed the little token
That thou didst leave concealed within my book
How oft the midnight stillness have I broken
By my footsteps, a-stealing there to look Upon my treasure, thinking how thy fingers
Did ply for me that dainty thing to fashion;
Sweet the charm that all about it lingers,
Awakening in my breast a subtle passion!
O, tender heart, because I did reveal it,
Turn not away in proof and scorn my love!
O, gentle heart, I cannot now repeal it!
Bid me, then, linger, and I'll constant prove;
Pledge me thy love, alone it shall avail me,
Though all the world in hate combined assail me.
POTEMKIN.

St. Louis, October, 1871.

LOVING ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE.

MURDER AND IMPRISONMENT THE CONSEQUENCES.

The trial of Dr. John J. Medlicott, for the murder of Isaac M. Ruth, business manager of the Lawrence Daily Tribune, in the month of April last, commenced at Garnett, Kan., Oct. 9, having been transferred from Lawrence on a change of venue. Three days were consumed in procuring a jury. The trial closed on the 19th, and the defence was opened. Their principal witness was Prof. Wormley, of Columbus, Ohio, who thought the analysis of Ruth's stomach was carelessly made and unsatisfactory; still he could not swear that poison was not found. Several medical gentleman testified that Ruth's symptoms were inconsistent with morphine poison. One or two of them said the symptoms were those of quinine. Mrs. Ruth will be examined.

Ruth was business manager of the Lawrence Daily Tribune. Dr. J. J. Medlicott was his family physician, and was very intimate with the family, calling often, and almost always in Ruth's absence. He frequently accompanied Mrs. Ruth to church. The intimacy between himself and Mrs Ruth was very marked and caused considerable comment. Medlicott left Lawrence on the last December, a few days before Ruth's death Mrs. Ruth went to Leavenworth, ostensibly on a visit. On the day of his death Ruth was seen and conversed with up to about 8 o'clock in the evening, when he started for home. That was the last seen of him until found dead on the morning of the 27th of April last. His wife's son, Belmont De Sprauge, first discovered his death, and called on Mr. Hutchings, county attorney, who, in company with the marshal of the city and several others, visited the house. In the room, among Ruth's clothes, they found a note, which was in substance as follows:—

Darling, I feel that I am dying. I can scarcely see to write; was taken sick about 10 o'clock. The doctor was here—Dr. Medlicott I mean. He left me some powders to take. I fear there was some mistake.

This was written between 10 and 11 o'clock P. M. of the 26th. Medlicott's intimacy with Mrs. Ruth was such that he was the last person with him, and having been seen next morning passing the house slowly and looking at it intently and even anxiously, and being among the first there, led to his indictment, arrest, and lodgment in jail on a charge of murder in the first degree. Since last April he has been in prison.

As showing the relations that exist between Medlicott and Mrs. Ruth, wife of the deceased, the prosecution produced a letter written to the prisoner from Mrs. Ruth's own hand, which fell into the hands of the state authorities before it was delivered to the lady to whom it was addressed:—

"My pretty, pretty baby! God bless you, darling. Oh, heaven, how my heart aches will we be parted? It is torture above measure, but why complain? Time, I doubt not, will acquit, although the darkness is thickening more and more. Still the darkest hour with me—oh, I pray it is—just before the dawn. Still a happy future awaits, and if it be so, will it not be a grand joy to meet and love in the shadow," Ruth replied, turning her dear face towards me. I looked into her dark, dreamy eyes. I noted the graceful curves in her mouth. Her white teeth were whiter than white against the contrast of her lips and her brown, glowing cheeks. How soon the color had come back to her face! Youth will be youth. Sorrow lays its hand upon the maiden; but, youth, like a rosy god, smooths away the wrinkled touch.

A KISS IN THE DARK certainly cannot be always attained in the hurry of every day life. Blunders often follow on the heels of haste as was illustrated by an infatuated youth one night recently in New Orleans. He had taken his dulcinea home from church, and was lingering in the door way for a moment's dalliance. The little lady had gone inside and partially closed the door. Through the little space made by the door left ajar he was toying with the kisses that she gave him sweet. So interested was he that the approaching step of the servant escaped him quite. Not so the lady. She heard it and jerked away her head just as the African's woolly crown was put in its place. The shock it gave the sable Abigail resounded like the crack of a wagon whip, while the sound of her explosive "Gorra mighty—what dat?" mingled with the fleeting footfalls of his lady love as she retreated up the stairs. The youth says the African's kiss wasn't good, after what he had tasted. He says he won't kiss in the dark any more.

BOSTON LASSIES IN TROUBLE.—Georgiana Piper, who is supposed to be one of the naughty, idle and disorderly spinsters who sail and drift about some of the North End latitudes, was pulled before the court to-day and raised for a drag of six months at the island. Georgiana Piper did not want to go just yet, so she appealed and was held in $400 for trial up stairs.....Rebecca O'Hara, a black-eyed and wicked little creature of the North End, was wound up for being "a wanton, lewd and lascivious girl." She stoutly denied the charge, but the officers were too much for her, and she got three months at the island. Then she cried, and cried good.....Matilda Brown, of 13 years, on a like charge was ordered into the work house, and after a careful examination she was rated as a fit object for the House of Reformation for Juvenile Offenders, and whither she has gone to stay during her minority, unless sooner discharged.—Boston Herald. Oct. 18th.

FROM POVERTY TO WEALTH.—Australia is a convenient region of romance, being too distant for close investigation by the skeptical. For example:—An English nobleman falls in love with his mother's pretty maid, a sort of Becky Sharp. She avoids her noble lover and complains that she is "persecuted." So milord takes a year's trip in Europe, becomes love sick as well as sea sick crossing the channel, and writes her an offer of marriage. She doubts, he swears fidelity and marries her privately. A daughter is born, the mother dies and the father weds again. Twenty-five years elapse; the girl falls in love with one who has the misfortune to kill his superior and is transported. She follows him to Botany Bay. In an "unfortunate affair" her lover loses his life, and his disconsolate lady-love becomes a handmaiden in the house of a poor settler. Her father dies childless, a persevering solicitor seeks the daughter so long disowned, and she becomes Lady Elizabeth Murand. Wealth, with $20,000 a year.

FRENCH MORALITY.—In France, when a man marries a woman with whom he has been living without being married, the accepted description of the event is "regularizing her position." During the year ending August 31st, an unparalleled number of marriages of this class has occurred in Paris. In 1865 the ordinary marriages were 69 per cent., while the "regularizations of the positions" of women without children were 15, and with children 25; but this year only 40 marriages out of 100 were normal. The "regularization of position" without children rose to 34 and with children to 26 per cent. These statistics show an increase of decline of morality, is a question not to be lightly decided.

THE LAST SAD RITES, or, we ought to say, the last sad wrongs, occurred at Eureka City on Sept. 14th, we are credibly informed, for on that day Mrs. —— died, on Sept. 16th, in the evening was buried, and on the 17th her daughter was married in the same house, and slept with her husband that night in the same bed in which her mother had died. What an exhibition of motherly love and affection!

AMUSING STORY OF A COUNTESS.—The London Court Circular relates the following anecdote respecting a noble lady, who is "young, beautiful and good":—During the army bill debate, her noble husband, who is as proud and fond of her as he should be, was just about to rise and deliver a violent attack upon something or somebody, when a telegram was put into his hands. He read it, turned pale, and quitted the house; called a cab, drove to the Charing-cross station and went to Dover, and was no more heard of until the next day, when he returned to his own home, and to his first inquiry was told that the countess was in her own room. He hastened to her and a terrific row ensued, the exact words of which no one knows but themselves. At last, however, he burst out:—"Then, what did you mean by your telegram?" "Mean! what I said, of course. What are you talking about?" "Read it for yourself," returned the still unappeased husband. She did read:—"I flee with Mr. —— to Dover straight. Pray for me." For a moment she was startled, but then burst into a hearty fit of laughter. "More dreadful telegraph people. No wonder you are out of your mind. I telegraphed simply, 'I tea with Mrs. —— in Dover street. Shall be home late. Don't wait.'" was so savage at the laugh he had raised against himself that he was at first inclined to make a parliamentary question of it, but, listening to more judicious advice, refrained.

RUTH OSWALD.—Ruth blushed and tried to escape from my right arm, which stole gently round her waist and held her. "Yes, a happy wife, Ruth," I said, with heart beating wildly; "and then your sister mentions me. Does she not? Nay, my own dear, dear Ruth, let me hold you for a moment. I have something more to whisper." It makes my heart beat now to think how long that supple, graceful form permitted my loving embrace on that never to be forgotten day. Every time Ruth tried to quit me I found fresh reasons why I should detain her. Some new question would occur to me, something that could only be whispered in her ear. "Let us think and talk of mowing grass and happy lovers, Ruth. We have been too sad. It is wrong to mourn always. Do you remember when we walked hand in hand through the meadows at Tokeston?" "I shall never forget it, George, when blame myself for letting my mind wander into sunny paths when it should be sitting, silent and sad, in the shadow," Ruth replied, turning her dear face towards me. I looked into her dark, dreamy eyes. I noted the graceful curves in her mouth. Her white teeth were whiter than white against the contrast of her lips and her brown, glowing cheeks. How soon the color had come back to her face! Youth will be youth. Sorrow lays its hand upon the maiden; but, youth, like a rosy god, smooths away the wrinkled touch.

COPY OF ONE OF GEORGE HOLLAND'S BENEFIT PLAYS.

How d'ye do? Just drop in—beg pardon—hope I don't intrude; but if it is not asking an impertinent question, will you take a ticket for

GEORGE HOLLAND'S BENEFIT?

There will be lots of fun, and something new, for you must know that

SISTER AND I

will appear for the first time in this city. Eh! who's the author? Well, can't exactly say, but

WHO'S THE COMPOSER

can be easily ascertained by visiting the theatre this evening. Also that delightful parly, or, more performances elicited so much applause years since, entitled

THE PICNIC PARTY.

They will be there, with a variety of other entertainments. The whole to conclude with one of the most popular farces ever produced at this theatre, in which Miss Clarke made such a tremendous hit, and between ourselves—mind, it goes no farther—for I assure you I speak feelingly upon the subject, that in order to secure good seats, I may confidently assert it will be for you to call at the box office as soon as possible. Now, let me conclude by presenting you with a bill of performance. Hoping to see you there, I most respectfully take my leave. Adieu, PAUL PRY.

AN OBJECT OF INTEREST

THE RUCTION AT PATSY M'GUIRE'S.

END SONG.

I'll tell you 'bout a ruction
That took place on a Shillmaloek,
A town in County Limerick, boys,
Where grows the gr-en shamrock.
'Twas at McGuire's shindig,
When Patsy married Kate.

Us Mickies had a rousin' toime,
And kep' it up till late.

There was clumsy big Jim Hearn,
Wid Miss Riley and McGrath—
He was goin' to whip Mike Noonan
For stickin' in his jaw;
Then Dan Leary threw the punch-bowl
At wide mouth Matthew Coyle,
And it hit the bowld Con Doorn,
Who Daniel's mug did spoil.

Norah Dugan caught Tim Murphy
By his hair—a fiery red—
Shoutin' "Murther, let me at him—
Och, I'll pud him in his bed."
McGuire tried the row to stop,
And would have done it soon,
But a rag doll flew and hit him
Stretched out stiff the muggadoon.

Then the fiddlers and the pipers
Struck up "Patsy's Gramachree,"
When the lads they took a gearl a piece,
And danced away till three.
At last the fun it ended,
When good-natured Dooney Myers
Proposed we'd "see the gearls all home,"
And "a health to the McGuires."

Zanesville, Ohio. BENNAR.

BLUE BEARD.

As this extraordinary personage has long been the theme not only of children's early study and terror, but likewise a great attraction on the theatrical boards, our readers may be gratified in perusing the character of that being, who really existed, and who was distinguished in horror and derision by the strange appellation of "Blue Beard." He was the famous Gilles, a marshal of France, and a general of uncommon intrepidity. He rendered services which were sufficient to immortalize his name, had he not forever tarnished his glory by the most horrible and cruel murders, blasphemies and licentiousness of every kind. His revenues were princely; but his prodigality was sufficient to render even an emperor a bankrupt. Wherever he went he had in his suite a seraglio, a band of players, a company of musicians, a society of sorcerers and magicians, an almost incredible number of cooks, packs of dogs of various kinds, and above 200 led horses. Mezeral, an author of great repute, says that he "encouraged and maintained men who called themselves sorcerers, to discover hidden treasures, and corrupted young persons of both sexes to attach themselves to him, and afterwards killed them for the sake of their blood, which was requisite to form his charms and incantations." These horrid excesses may be believed when we reflect on the age of ignorance and barbarism in which they were certainly too often practiced. He was at length, for a state crime, sentenced to be burnt alive in a field at Nantz, in 1440; but the Duke of Brittany, who was present at his execution, so far mitigated the sentence that he was first strangled, then burnt, and his ashes buried. Though he was descended from one of the most illustrious families in France, he declared previous to his death that all his horrible excesses were owing to his wretched education.

KATY-DID.

SONG AND DANCE.

Katy, dear, the moon is shining,
Silvery radiance decks each sprig,
And the spray from yonder fountain
Gleams like diamonds bright and big.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Ka'y,
Raise thy soft eye's pensive lid;
Then a look or love she gave me
From her bright eyes—Katy-did.

Sweet is the melodious tuning
Of the nightingale at eve,
Thrilling all the grove with rapture,
Making lovers' hearts to heave.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
In yon waving branches hid,
Pipes a more melodious songster,
Rus me back—Katy-did.

Hark! above the waving tree tops,
Cometh wafted from afar,
Music from the central garden,
As from some high gleaming star.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Said I, as my zeal she chid,
Should we be less true and tender
Than yon chirping Katy-did?

Oft in times bygone I've wandered,
Long I've won Ariele's brink,
Hearkening to strains voluptuous
From yon overcrowded rink.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Of life's troubles I am rid
As I dream, for, in the gloaming,
Rings the song of Katy-did.

'Tis love's dearest prized heart music
Sinking to the inmost soul;
All the sound a flood of tender
Recollections o'er me roll.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Let me not for this be chid,
'Tis the amorous voice that warbles
In the notes of Katy-did.

For, 'twas by yon bright lake's margin,
On a balmy summer night,
First I seized thy lips' soft treasures,
And we made our lovers' plight.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Raise again thy eye's soft lid,
Fold thy loving arms about me,
Kiss me prettily—Katy-did!

IRISH DISLIKE AND APPROBATION.—In the Dublin theatre it was the custom of the Irish gods to express their dislike or approbation of any person or performance by calling for a groan or clap. Whilst the Union was in agitation, and the ex-minister very unpopular, "Rule Britannia" happened to be represented; when, after the duetto of "Pit-a-pat—pit-a-pat," &c., a fellow in the gallery roared out:—"Come now, my honies! a groan for Pit, and a clap for Pat."

PERVERSION OF AN AUTHOR'S MEANING.—In "Speed the Plough," Sir Abel Handy says that he has obtained a patent for converting "saw dust into deal boards;" but a comedian, in performing that character, boasted that he has obtained a patent for converting "deal boards into saw dust."

CLIPPER VARIETIES.

Comprising Sentimental Ballads, Songs and Dances, Comic Songs, Jokes, Old Bills, Reminiscences, etc.

WRITTEN AND COLLATED EXPRESSLY FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

THE END MAN'S GAG.

Bones sat, as usual, at his end.
His face all wreathed in smiles;
While the interlocutor watched him close
To keep up with his wiles;
And tambo watched him too, for fear
That Bones should get adrift,
For then he'd help in his gag
By giving him a lift.
Now Bones, who seemed on mischief bent,
Kept rolling up his eye,
And asked if any one could tell
Why so many people die?
The answer came, so soft and low,
'Twas a debt all once must pay;
But Bones said he dyed every night,
And sometimes twice a day.

Detroit, Mich. T. HUMMEL.

BILL OF THE OLD MORRIS, PELL & TROWBRIDGE MINSTRELS.

Below we give a programme of this old minstrel organization, which flourished in Boston for so many years, and held a leading position in the ranks of minstrelsy. Some of the members are now dead, and others scattered in various parts of the world:—

MORRIS BROTHERS, PELL & TROWBRIDGE'S MINSTRELS.
PROGRAMME FOR THIS EVENING—PART FIRST.

Grand Introductory Overture.....Full Band
Opening Chorus—Come, Come with Me—Meanwhile.....Company
Sparkling Sunday Night.....Johnny Pell
Annie Lyale.....A. A. Thayer
Jealousy, the Green-Eyed Monster.....E. Bowers
Rat Catcher's Daughter.....Billy Morris
Cottage by the Sea.....Master Gettings
Good Old Friends.....J. C. Trowbridge
Billy Nubbs—with recitations.....E. Bowers
Phantom Chorus—from Somnambula.....Company

PART SECOND. GRAND OLIO.

Clog Dance.....Fred Wilson.

COW-BELL-O-GIANS!

Ballad—Ever of Thee.....A. A. Thayer

THE YOUNG SCAMP!

Mr. Schermerhorn.....Lon Morris | Mr. Williams.....Billy Morris
The Young Scamp.....Master Gettings
Grecian Statues.....Fred Wilson.

THE FLIRT!

Julius Quackesbosh.....Charles Augustus....Lon Morris
Johnny Pell | Mlle. Florinda.....E. M. Carroll
Pompey Smash.....Billy Morris

PART THIRD.

Flute Obligato.....Herr Endres

THE OLD ROAD TO THE NEW ROAD.
Johnny Pell and Lon Morris.

THE COUNTRYMAN'S DEBUT!

Gustavus Brooke Edwin Forrest Browne.....E. Bowers | Johnny Green.....Billy Morris | Jenny Leatherlungs.....E. M. Carroll

Comic Dance, by the Wonderful Three-Legged Man, Herr Von Wipellson.

THE RIDE WALTZ!

Composed by Carl Trautman, and performed by Morris Brothers, Pell and Trowbridge's Musical Quintette, Messrs. Trautman, Endres, Hess, Brockway and Gilbert.

In Full, Full Chorus.

The whole to conclude with the new Plantation Song and Dance entitled, DARKIES STORM DE OCEAN PATH, in which the entire company appear.

Tickets, 25 cents. Doors open at 7 o'clock. Performance commences at 8.

LON MORRIS, Manager. CHAS. A. MORRIS, Agent.
E. SUTTON, Ticket Master.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

A SONG.

Do you remember, dearest,
Tell me, do you remember
When I brought you to our lonely home,
In frost, cold December?
And how we laughed and how we sang,
And how we toiled together,
With hearts that always were so warm
Without regard to weather?

Do you remember, dearest,
When winter had departed,
The joyous spring-time, when it came,
Found us still happy-hearted?
Our skies they were not always blue;
Sometimes, when pressed by sorrow,
We waited for the storm to pass
And brighter ones to-morrow;
And so the feeling passed on Orleans in the
As ours, dear wife, remember,
And I—I bless that happy day
I wed you in December.

J. H. B.

COPY OF ONE OF GEORGE HOLLAND'S BENEFIT PLAYS.

How d'ye do? Just drop in—beg pardon—hope I don't intrude; but if it is not asking an impertinent question, will you take a ticket for

GEORGE HOLLAND'S BENEFIT!

There will be lots of fun, and something new, for you must know that

SISTER AND I

will appear for the first time in this city. Eh! who's the author? Well, can't exactly say, but

WHO'S THE COMPOSER

can be easily ascertained by visiting the theatre this evening. Also that delightful parly, or, more performances elicited so much applause years since, entitled

THE PICNIC PARTY.

They will be there, with a variety of other entertainments. The whole to conclude with one of the most popular farces ever produced at this theatre, in which Miss Clarke made such a tremendous hit, and between ourselves—mind, it goes no farther—for I assure you I speak feelingly upon the subject, that in order to secure good seats, I may confidently assert it will be for you to call at the box office as soon as possible. Now, let me conclude by presenting you with a bill of performance. Hoping to see you there, I most respectfully take my leave. Adieu, PAUL PRY.

AN OBJECT OF INTEREST

THE RUCTION AT PATSY M'GUIRE'S.

END SONG.

I'll tell you 'bout a ruction
That took place on a Shillmaloek,
A town in County Limerick, boys,
Where grows the gr-en shamrock.
'Twas at McGuire's shindig,
When Patsy married Kate.

Us Mickies had a rousin' toime,
And kep' it up till late.

There was clumsy big Jim Hearn,
Wid Miss Riley and McGrath—
He was goin' to whip Mike Noonan
For stickin' in his jaw;
Then Dan Leary threw the punch-bowl
At wide mouth Matthew Coyle,
And it hit the bowld Con Doorn,
Who Daniel's mug did spoil.

Norah Dugan caught Tim Murphy
By his hair—a fiery red—
Shoutin' "Murther, let me at him—
Och, I'll pud him in his bed."
McGuire tried the row to stop,
And would have done it soon,
But a rag doll flew and hit him
Stretched out stiff the muggadoon.

Then the fiddlers and the pipers
Struck up "Patsy's Gramachree,"
When the lads they took a gearl a piece,
And danced away till three.
At last the fun it ended,
When good-natured Dooney Myers
Proposed we'd "see the gearls all home,"
And "a health to the McGuires."

Zanesville, Ohio. BENNAR.

BLUE BEARD.

As this extraordinary personage has long been the theme not only of children's early study and terror, but likewise a great attraction on the theatrical boards, our readers may be gratified in perusing the character of that being, who really existed, and who was distinguished in horror and derision by the strange appellation of "Blue Beard." He was the famous Gilles, a marshal of France, and a general of uncommon intrepidity. He rendered services which were sufficient to immortalize his name, had he not forever tarnished his glory by the most horrible and cruel murders, blasphemies and licentiousness of every kind. His revenues were princely; but his prodigality was sufficient to render even an emperor a bankrupt. Wherever he went he had in his suite a seraglio, a band of players, a company of musicians, a society of sorcerers and magicians, an almost incredible number of cooks, packs of dogs of various kinds, and above 200 led horses. Mezeral, an author of great repute, says that he "encouraged and maintained men who called themselves sorcerers, to discover hidden treasures, and corrupted young persons of both sexes to attach themselves to him, and afterwards killed them for the sake of their blood, which was requisite to form his charms and incantations." These horrid excesses may be believed when we reflect on the age of ignorance and barbarism in which they were certainly too often practiced. He was at length, for a state crime, sentenced to be burnt alive in a field at Nantz, in 1440; but the Duke of Brittany, who was present at his execution, so far mitigated the sentence that he was first strangled, then burnt, and his ashes buried. Though he was descended from one of the most illustrious families in France, he declared previous to his death that all his horrible excesses were owing to his wretched education.

KATY-DID.

SONG AND DANCE.

Katy, dear, the moon is shining,
Silvery radiance decks each sprig,
And the spray from yonder fountain
Gleams like diamonds bright and big.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Ka'y,
Raise thy soft eye's pensive lid;
Then a look or love she gave me
From her bright eyes—Katy-did.

Sweet is the melodious tuning
Of the nightingale at eve,
Thrilling all the grove with rapture,
Making lovers' hearts to heave.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
In yon waving branches hid,
Pipes a more melodious songster,
Rus me back—Katy-did.

Hark! above the waving tree tops,
Cometh wafted from afar,
Music from the central garden,
As from some high gleaming star.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Said I, as my zeal she chid,
Should we be less true and tender
Than yon chirping Katy-did?

Oft in times bygone I've wandered,
Long I've won Ariele's brink,
Hearkening to strains voluptuous
From yon overcrowded rink.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Of life's troubles I am rid
As I dream, for, in the gloaming,
Rings the song of Katy-did.

'Tis love's dearest prized heart music
Sinking to the inmost soul;
All the sound a flood of tender
Recollections o'er me roll.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Let me not for this be chid,
'Tis the amorous voice that warbles
In the notes of Katy-did.

For, 'twas by yon bright lake's margin,
On a balmy summer night,
First I seized thy lips' soft treasures,
And we made our lovers' plight.
Chorus—Katy, dear, O, dearest Katy,
Raise again thy eye's soft lid,
Fold thy loving arms about me,
Kiss me prettily—Katy-did!

IRISH DISLIKE AND APPROBATION.—In the Dublin theatre it was the custom of the Irish gods to express their dislike or approbation of any person or performance by calling for a groan or clap. Whilst the Union was in agitation, and the ex-minister very unpopular, "Rule Britannia" happened to be represented; when, after the duetto of "Pit-a-pat—pit-a-pat," &c., a fellow in the gallery roared out:—"Come now, my honies! a groan for Pit, and a clap for Pat."

PERVERSION OF AN AUTHOR'S MEANING.—In "Speed the Plough," Sir Abel Handy says that he has obtained a patent for converting "saw dust into deal boards;" but a comedian, in performing that character, boasted that he has obtained a patent for converting "deal boards into saw dust."

THE TURF.

THE JEROME PARK FALL RACES.

SECOND DAY, TUESDAY, OCT. 10TH.

BLEIN WINS THE HUNTER STAKES; INVERARY THE DESSERT STAKES; PREAKNESS THE MATURITY STAKES; ANDEL-KOREE THE MILE HEAT RACE, AND POOL SELLER THE HURDLE RACE.

The Jerome Park Race Meeting felt the effects of the devastating conflagration at Chicago, in the falling off of the attendance on the second day, the great majority of the merchants and business men who usually patronize the meeting being too deeply engrossed in ascertaining how far their financial interests were affected by the calamity to attend and witness the racing. Even the weather seemed in sympathy with the public feeling, for it was dull and gloomy, and doubtless kept many away from fear of exposure to the threatened rain storm. The track was in good order, and the racing was of unusual excellence.

THE HUNTER STAKES,

for three year fillies, $300 entrance, half forfeit, with $800 added: one mile and three-quarters, was the first race brought on for decision. It was the first year of its establishment, and was named in compliment to a gentleman who has long been a staunch supporter of the American turf, Mr. John Hunter, of Westchester. There were thirteen entries, but only two of them—Mr. Withers' brown filly Elsie, the daughter of Leamington—Sapia (Glenelg's dam), and Grinstead's chestnut filly by War Dance, out of Optimist's dam. Mr. Morris fully intended to start his Vanity filly by Eclipse, out having been attacked with distemper the day before, she could not run. In her absence long odds were laid on Elsie, who had performed very creditably as a two year old, but having gone lame in the spring, had not been brought out before this season. The odds of $100 to $30 were freely laid on her winning, and making the running from start to finish, was never headed in any part of the race, and won easily by two lengths. Time, 3:23¾. Value of the stakes, $2,780. Summary:—

JEROME PARK FALL MEETING.—SECOND DAY, Tuesday, Oct. 10th, 1871.—THE HUNTER STAKES for three year old fillies; $300 entrance, half forfeit; $600 added by the club; closed with thirteen nominations; a dash of a mile and three-quarters.

D. D. Withers entered b f Elsie, by imp. Leamington, dam imp. Sapia.....1
Grinstead and Bissick's entered ch f, by War Dance, dam the dam of Optimist, 107 lbs.....Fields 2
Time, 3:23¾.

THE DESSERT STAKES

was the second event, and was a race for two year olds, carrying 100 lbs., $300 entrance, half forfeit; dash of one mile. There were 16 entries, but two only came to the post, Hunter & Travers' bay colt Alarm, by Eclipse, dam Maud, and R. W. Cameron's brown filly Inverary, by Leamington, dam Indian Kisses. These two were old opponents, having run a match for $10,000 at the second Saratoga meeting this summer, on which occasion Alarm had won easily. This performance, coupled with his running in the Nursery Stakes on Saturday last, when he ran second to Joe Daniels, made him a favorite, and pools sold as follows:—

Hunter & Travers'.....	$200	$410	$600	$800	$500	$1,300
Cameron's.....	55	110	150	205	160	515

A capital start was effected, both horses going from the score head and head, and they ran thus around the turn. Passing the quarter pole, Alarm got his neck in front, but as they skirted the club house bluff they were again on even terms, and continued so around the lower turn into the home stretch, the enthusiasm of the spectators became excited at the closeness of the struggle, for the horses were running stride for stride, without either having a shade advantage over the other. On they swept up the straight, and a rear of Alarm began to manifest itself, the running of last year's Alarm was seen to apply the whip to keep his horse going, while Donohue, on the filly, was sitting perfectly quiet and keeping her under a steady pull. At the distance the final struggle commenced; Gray using whip and spur, but he was not obtained the appellation gamely. But the daughter of Leamington was running with wonderful resolution, Donahue lifting her at every stride and securing the verdict of the judges in her favor on the post, by the shortest of half heads, Time 3:45. This was a very fast, for the weight carried and the dead state of the track, and the race was one of the best two year old contests ever witnessed. Value of the stakes $2,700. Mr. Cameron was warmly congratulated on the victory of his Leamington filly, which will doubtless have the effect of giving an impetus to the demand for that sire's stock at Mr. Cameron's approaching sale at Staten Island, previous to his departure for Australia. Summary:—

SECOND RACE.—The Dessert Stakes, for two year olds; $300 entrance, half forfeit; closed with sixteen nominations; dash of a mile.

R. W. Cameron entered br f Inverary, by imp Leamington, dam imp Stolen Kisses, 100 lbs.....W. Donohue 1 for four year olds, $700 entrance, half forfeit, with $1,200 added by the club; the second horse to receive $300 out of the stakes, closed with 36 entries. The distance was three miles, and of the 5 entries the following are now in the betting: The favorite is Mr. Bend Or's bay colt Preakness, W. Cottrill's grey colt Fireball, D. Swigert's bay colt Pilgrim, D. J. Crouse's brown colt Chillicothe, J. Coffee's chestnut colt, Dan Sparling's bay filly Susan Ann, and Mr. Belmont's bay colt Harold, by Lexington, out of the dam of Stamps, after a magnificent race with Mr. Belmont's colt, By the Sea, a son of Thormanby, the Derby winner of 1863. Many good judges thought that if Palmer, who rode Harold, had taken a little more pains with him, the result would have been different, but we think the Monarchist won with plenty to spare. The winner followed up his success by carrying off in triumph the last race of the day, the Grand National Handicap, a dash of two miles and a quarter, worth $7,150, making his own running throughout, and beating by the shortest of heads the favorite, Mr. Belmont's colt, Telegram, and seven others, among which were such good public winners as Mary Clark, Defender, Conductor, Niagara and Barney Williams. Monarchist by thus winning two races in one day, at two miles and two miles and a quarter, has proved himself to be a first class racer, and he affords additional evidence of the surpassing merits of the great track, Harry Basset, who has beat him on three occasions—in the Belmont Stakes, the Jersey Derby, and the Champion Stakes; Monarchist being second in the first and last as ned races. Mr. Sanford was warmly congratulated on his colt's brilliant double victory, and although just recovering from severe illness he felt wonderfully elated at his good fortune in possessing so fine a specimen of an American race horse, who had thus benefitted his banker's account in one day to the amount of $8,000.
Hunter and Travers entered ch c Alarm, by Eclipse, dam Maud, 100 lbs.....F. Gray 2
Time, 1:45.

THE MATURITY STAKES,

The success of Mr. Sanford's colt in the mile and three-quarter dash was looked upon as such a certainty that $100 to $10 about him went begging, and pools were sold without him. He won in the same easy style as he has achieved all his previous victories, his opponents being Finesse, Jodge Durell and Mollie Morrison. It is impossible to tell how good Col. McDaniels' great colt really is, but as his veteran owner has backed him to beat the renowned Helmbold in the four mile heat race for the Bowie Stakes, at Baltimore, next week, we shall then see how he stands. All the heaviest betting took place on the long contests that this season at least has yet witnessed. He has proved a mine of wealth for the colonel, whose good fortune this and last season, after patiently and gamely enduring a long period of turf reverses and the faithlessness of professing friends, is highly gratifying to every true turfman who admires straightforwardness and indomitable pluck under adversity. But Colonel McDaniels is not the only one who has any laurels to win for with his filly Lizzie B. he won the three year old purse of $500, beating Madame Dudley after a most brilliant finish by a head only. The manner in which he became possessed of this filly is worth mentioning. At the beginning of last year Mr. Bancroft of New York sent him two two year olds to be trained. Attacked by distemper, neither of them were able to fulfill any of their engagements, and their owner objecting to pay their training bill, was paid by him in horses, which he shortly after disposed of by judgment favor. He advertised them both for public sale, but no one bidding for them, they were thrown on his hands. This year he trained them, and one of them won the hurdle race on the first day of the present meeting, for which he was sold for $2,000 as a two year old. This was Pool Seller. The other was the filly Lizzie B., who thus won her first race in public, and from her undeniable speed will yet score many more on the turf.

The Colonel has always had a heavy blow to the backers of favorites, for Harness' colt Meteor, in consequence of a very high trial he had run in Ohio, was backed as if the race was over. He is a grand looking, racing like two year old, by Lightning, but he was compelled to strike a very bad luck in Crouse's magnificent grey colt Grey Planet, who was generally conceded to be the most magnificent two year old in appearance ever seen. He did not belie his good looks, for possessing splendid speed, he won from end to end like a race horse, and, after a long delay at the post, a slow start, a fair finishing second and close up. Mr. Cameron's filly Inverary, who won the Dessert Stakes on the second day, and had to carry 7lbs. extra in consequence, was third, only half a length behind, and with the penalty it is probable she would have won the race. The winner is by Planet, out of Mary Clark's dam Grey Eaglesa, herself a famous four miler, and he is engaged in all the principal three year old stake next season. It is probable that a change hands, as a prominent turfman is negotiating with Mr. Crouse, his owner, for his pur chase, the price asked being $15,000. In the selling race Lord Byron (who had been drafted out of Mr. Belmont's stable and sold for $700) won an extra heat, after a dead heat on the previous Wednesday to Mr. Jos. Donahue, the owner of Tammany, for $735), beat Mr. Morris' Felicity (the favorite) and eight others handily, thus getting back the purchase money for his new owner at the first heat he was taken in. Last year Idaho was sold in the same way as a cast off out of the Babylon stable, and was purchased by Col. McDaniels for a mere song, and, after running second in several races with him, was sold to him for $1,000. The Belmont stables have been very unlucky this season, for the two great cracks, Kingfisher and Gleneig, went amiss, and the two year olds by Kentucky have not turned out equal to the expectations entertained of him as a sire. Monarchist is not engaged in three races, with By the Sea, Finesse and Telegram; but no fault can be attributed to their trainer, Mr. Pincus, for he brought them to the post in the finest condition possible.

FOURTH RACE.—The Champagne Stakes, for two year olds, $100 each, half forfeit, with $500 added; the second horse to receive $300 out of the stakes; seventeen nominations; the winner of any stake at Jerome Park, Long Branch, or Saratoga, $100 extra; and two or more such stakes, 10 lbs. extra; dash three quarters of a mile; value of the stakes, $1,700.

J. Crouse entered gr c Grey Planet, by Planet, dam Daughter of Glencoe.....Sparling 1
D. R. Harness entered ch c Meteor, by Asteroid, dam Maria Innis, 100 lbs.....Roe 2
R. W. Cameron entered br f Inverary, by Leamington, dam Imp. Stolen Kisses.....Palmer 3
D. D. Withers entered br f Mimi, by imp. Eclipse, dam Hennie Farrow, 97 lbs.....F. Gray 0
August Belmont entered ch f Victoria, by Censor, dam Flora Temple.....Floyd 0
J. A. Grinstead entered gr c Brennus, by Lightning, dam Brenna, 100 lbs.....Colston 0
F. Morris entered b c Chivalry, by Eclipse, dam Etiquette, 100 lbs.....Sparling 0
Time, 1:20.

THE SELLING STAKES

of $25 each, p. p., with $500 added, one mile and a furlong, was the next race, and for it the following nine horses started:—Lord Byron, 85 lbs.; Felicity, 91 lbs.; Gerald, 101 lbs.; Talaria, 91 lbs.; Cadence, 88 lbs.; Moselle, 85 lbs.; Rattan, 85 lbs.; Gao, 104 lbs., and Athlone, 100 lbs. The pool betting was as follows:—

Felicity.....	$250	$450	$400	$500	$1,600	$380
Cadence.....	135	280	310	345	300	5
Talaria.....	30	130	120	145	140	5
Athlone.....	40	180	100	70	80	400
The Field.....	155	165	360	30	400

Felicity, Gerald and Talaria cut out the thorough pluck and quiet deportment, stands McVey, of the Boston nine, a first class catcher, and a valuable man in a majority of positions. The Boston Club have wisely re-engaged him, and they could not well have secured a better player.

The veteran, Charley Mills, is the last of the M's, though not least on the list by no means. Charley has been in bad luck this season, having been a sufferer from an injured hand since June. He has lately, however, shown that he still retains much of his old skill, and by next season no doubt he will be able to take his position among the list of reliable and skilful catchers of the day.

Last on the list we find Jim White, of the Cleveland nine, the most active and energetic man that has occupied the position this season. White is naturally a ball player. With plenty of pluck and endurance, a goodly share of judgment, remarkably lithe and active, and especially keen of sight, James ranks A No. 1 as a catcher, one commendable characteristic being his fidelity to the club in which he first earned his reputation. Catchers for 1872 should bear in mind that all of them have yet much to learn in the strategic points of the game. There is still a fine field open for them to develope new beauties in the position they occupy.

THE BOSTON CLUB MATCHES.

THEIR LAST TRIUMPHS.

ONE OF THE FINEST GAMES OF THE SEASON.

In our last issue we gave a brief telegraphic report of the deciding contest of the series between the Mutual and Boston clubs, which resulted in favor of the Reds. Owing to the sickness of Wolters, who is suffering from fever and ague, the Mutuals had to go to Boston without their p tcher, and having no regular change pitcher in their nine, they either had to enter the field with but eight men and no regular pitcher, or forfeit the match and make up a nine to play an exhibition game. This latter was what they did, and substituting Zettlein for Wolters, they went in against the Reds with fully as strong a team as they would have had with their regular nine. There was a large crowd of spectators present, and, as the Mutuals had been unable to inform the Boston nine of the absence of Wolters until too late to notify the public through the press of the change in the programme, no one was aware of the p sition of things until Zettlein took his stand as pitcher, and even then a part of the assembly did not know of the change until the close of the game. No one had cause to complain, however, for the game could not have been more interesting. It proved to be the most exc ting ever witnessed in Boston, and one of the finest fielding displays of the season. Eleven innings were required to settle the question as to which was the superior nine, the game being tied at the end of the ninth and tenth, and only won by a single run obtained on an error in the eleventh innings. Except in one or two instances, the playing on both sides was perfection itself.

In the first four innings the Mutuals were whitewashed each time, while the Bostons made one run on the first and one on the third. From this point they drew four successive blanks, but picked up sufficiently to make two runs in the eighth innings. The Mutuals made two on the eighth, and the game then stood 4 to 3 in favor of the Bostons. The latter were again blanked on the ninth, and the Mutes then went in and won a safe win by Higham, who made a run. This tied the game, and the tenth innings was played, but added nothing to the score of either side. It was highly exciting, as the Reds once more went in to gain, if possible, the run which was required to win the game. Schafer, who was first at the bat, made a safe hit. Barrows and Harry Wright then went out in quick succession. George Wright, of whom everything was expected, took the bat and made a strike, but Pratt made his base by Ferguson's wild throw, but was left, not a ball being hit outside of the bases, Start putting the side out.

In the next three innings the Mutuals were whitewashed in one, two, three order, Pratt putting out four men at first base and Malone two on fly-outs. The Bostonians scored one run in the second by an error of Ferguson's, and another in the third on called balls, while in the fourth innings they received their first blank, Ferguson purposely missing an easy ball and thereby forcing out at second and third, Meyerle and Bechtel, who had each made splendid one base hits.

In the fifth innings the Mutuals scored three runs after chances had been given to Radcliff and Pratt to have put them out for a blank, Higham making a fine two base hit that sent two men home. The Athletics scored two runs in this innings, one being earned by Radcliff on a good hit, and the other by errors of Start and Hatfield, Pearce also allowing an easy grounder to pass through his legs. Higham and Patterson made good catches in the out field.

In the sixth innings the Mutuals scored another unearned run, Fleet making his base on a clean hit, and being assisted home by a wild throw of McBride's and an error of Pratt's. The Athletics also scored an unearned run, Cuthbert getting to first by a wild throw of Pearce and coming home on Malone's grounder, which was muffed by Start. The Athletics' lead was now only 8 to 5, but the next innings completely destroyed all interest in the game, the Mutuals being whitewashed by brilliant fly-catches made by Cuthbert and Bechtel, and the latter by a swift and accurate throw to Malone, at home, put out Patterson, who made one base by a clean hit. The Athletics then went to work, and after chances had been offered to Pearce and Ferguson to have put them out for one earned, added seven more, Heubel and Meyerle each making fine one base hits, and Radcliff, Fisler and Pratt making one base hits.

This gave the Athletics the commanding lead of 16 to 5, which they still further increased on the eighth innings by whitewashing their opponents and by some of the best batting of the game making three earned runs, Meyerle and Bechtel leading off with fine two base hits, and Cuthbert reaching third by a heavy hit to left field. McBride and Radcliff also made safe hits, the latter being "doubled up" by Hatfield making a fine fly catch off a liner hit by Malone.

In the last innings the Mutuals batted more freely, Higham, Hatfield, Patterson and Start making clean hits and the two first named scoring earned runs. Ferguson was given a life by Pratt, but was caught napping and put out at first base by McBride's throw to Pratt. The Athletics scored two more unearned runs by errors of Ferguson and Hatfield, Higham terminating the innings by a good fly catch. The Athletics won this game by their superior fielding, Cuthbert, Bechtel and Heubel in the outfield especially excelling. Meyerle and Bechtel did the best batting for the Athletics. Hatfield and Start did the best fielding and Higham the best batting for the Mutuals. Fleet proved a failure as a pitcher. Treacy impartially umpired the game, the score of which was:—

MUTUAL.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Hatfield, 2d b ...3	2	3	5	0
Patterson, 1 f ...5	0	2	2	0
Start, 1st b ...0	0	2	17	0
Fleet, p ...1	1	2	0	5
Zettlein, c ...0	0	1	0	0
Higham, r f ...4	0	1	1	0
Pratt, 3d b ...3	0	0	1	1
Ferguson, 2d b ...1	0	2	3	5
Pearce, s s ...1	2	1	2	3
Higham, r f ...4	0	1	1	0
Totals ...7	5	15	27	14

ATHLETIC.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Cuthbert, l f ...4	1	0	3	0
McBride, p ...2	1	0	0	3
Radcliff, s s ...3	2	1	1	3
Malone, c ...1	0	5	1	0
Fisler, 1st b ...1	0	1	11	0
Pratt, 1st b ...2	1	2	11	0
Heubel, r f ...2	2	1	0	0
Meyerle, 3d b ...3	4	1	2	1
Bechtel, c f ...3	1	2	3	0
Totals ...21	12	7	27	10

INNINGS. Runs Scored.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Mutual	0	0	0	0	3	1	0	0	1—5
Athletic	0	1	1	0	1	0	8	0	0—12

Runs Earned.

Mutual	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2—3
Athletic	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2—2

Bases on errors—Mutual, 5; Athletic, 15. Double plays—Ferguson, Pearce and Hatfield, 1; Hatfield and Start, 1. Umpire—Fred. Treacy, of the White Stockings. Time of game—1 hour and 40 minutes.

EXCELSIOR vs. HARMONIC.

The Harmonics last month defeated the Excelsiors on the occasion of their first game together. On Oct. 17th they met again on the Capitoline grounds to play the return game, but neither club were out in their full strength, the Harmonics not having either Browne, Crosby or Selleck, three strong players, and the Excelsiors were minus the services of Peters, their pitcher, Wells, Dohrman and others. Under a misapprehension of the rules they supplied their places with players of their junior class, composed chiefly of the young members of the Junior Concord Club, which was recently absorbed by the Excelsior Club. By placing these players in their nine they unwittingly forfeited the game by a score of nine to nothing. The copy of the Amateur Convention Book contains the following section:—

Rule Fifth, Section 7.—"In playing all matches, nine players from each club shall constitute a full field, and they must be members of the club they represent. They also must not have been members of any other club in or out of the National Association—college club nines composed of actual students excepted—for sixty days immediately prior to the match."

This rule has been in force for five or six years, and it is a rule which governs the professional association as well as the amateur. The fact that the Concord Club was extinguished by their members joining the Excelsiors, did not change the position at all. The objection lay in the fact that Rankin, Rowe and McKinley had played in a match game as members of another club within the required sixty days. It was immaterial whether they were members of such club or not, the rules regarding them as such if they play in a match game. Furthermore, the rules of the Amateur Association also state as follows:—

Rule 7, Section 3.—"All games, in which any of the rules of the association are infringed, shall also be considered as forfeited games, and they shall be recorded as games won by a score of 9 to 0, and against the club infringing the rules."

This is also a part of the professional association rules, and both the above apply equally to the case of the Mutuals playing Fleet in the Athletic match of Oct. 18th, in Philadelphia, as in this case of the Harmonic and Excelsior match.

Of the game of Tuesday but little can be said, as the display was not up to the mark of either nine. The brothers Chauncey and Smith did the best fielding on the Excelsior side, Packer leading at the bat. On the other side good catches were made by McEwen, Clark, Murphy, Martin and Bennett, the latter leading at the bat. The umpiring was very good. The game was commenced so late that darkness stopped it at the close of the fifth innings, leaving the score as follows:—

EXCELSIOR.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
E. Jewell, r f ...3	1	0	0
Smith, 2d b ...4	3	3	3
Rankin, p ...3	1	0	1
D. Chauncey, c ...3	2	5	2
Packer, 1st b ...4	3	4	0
Rowe, 1st b ...0	0	3	0
Finely, c f ...4	3	1	0
McKinley, s s ...3	1	1	0
G. Chauncey, 3d b ...3	2	1	1
Totals ...29	16	18	6

HARMONIC.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Bennett, 1st b ...3	2	6	0
Conklin, s s ...1	0	1	0
Marrin, c f ...1	0	1	1
Larkin, 2d b ...1	0	1	0
Murphy, r f ...1	0	1	0
Early, 3d b ...0	0	0	2
Lewis, l f ...0	1	1	0
McEwen, c ...1	1	3	0
Clark, p ...1	0	1	4
Totals ...9	9	15	4

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th
Excelsior	4	3	0	7	0—28
Harmonic	3	0	6	0	0—9

First base by errors—Excelsior, 8; Harmonic, 4. Runs earned—Excelsior, 4. Total errors—Excelsior, 9; Harmonic, 18. Umpire—Mr. Burdock, of the Atlantic Club. Time of game—1 hour and 30 minutes.

SPLENDID GAME BETWEEN THE FLY AWAYS AND SILVER STARS.

AN UNPARALLELED SCORE.

At Hunter's Point, Wednesday, 18th, the return game between the Fly Aways and Silver Stars was played. The first match, June 8th, resulted in the success of the Fly Aways, by a score of 14 to 13. The lapse of four months may seem a rather lengthy intermission, but it must be remembered that the return game has more than once been put off by unfavorable weather.

The nines were on the ground at the usual time, and at 3.15 P. M. play commenced. The Fly Aways were short three of their regular nine and the Silver Stars one, the former being obliged to take the field with only eight men. In the first innings the Fly Aways scored a single, Clack being the lucky one. Both were whitewashed in the second, but in the third the Silver Stars got one run, thus getting even. Wadsworth, for the Fly Aways, got over the plate in the fifth and eighth innings, the three runs thus scored being all that was made by the Fly Aways. On the other side, the Silver Stars scored but two, the game being thus remarkable for one of the lowest scores on record.

The high wind that prevailed and the chilly atmosphere somewhat interfered with the batsmen, and this impediment, combined with the very effective style in which the ball was delivered to the bat, made free hitting almost impossible. On the winning side Beatie, Jolly and Wadsworth, did most of the work, the two former making remarkable catches, as also did Shevlin and Duffy. Donohoe, Karcey and Crane supported their positions on the side of the Silver Stars in a most creditable manner. Both pitchers handled the ball in a masterly style, and it is needless to say that each received good support from the entire field. At the end of the game the competing nines were loudly cheered by the crowd present. The umpiring was impartial, and in every way satisfactory, Mr. Lannigan strictly enforcing the new rules. The score:—

AWAY.	R.	I.B.
Clack, s s	1	0
Chase, c f	0	0
Duffy, 1st b	0	0
Jolly, l f	0	0
Beatie, c	0	0
Wadsworth, 2d b	3	2
Sherin, 3d b	0	0
Brelli, p	0	0
Totals	5	2

SILVER STAR.	R.	I.B.
Carolan, r f	0	0
Putney, 3d	0	0
Donohoe, 1 b	0	0
Harvey, c	0	0
Anstiss, 2d b	0	0
Pratt, p, c f	0	0
Crane, 1st b	1	1
Leggiat, 3d b	0	0
McDowell, l f	0	0
Totals	1	1

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Silver Star	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	0—2
Fly Away	1	0	0	0	2	0	0	2	0—5

Runs earned—Fly Away, 1; Silver Star, 0. Umpire—Mr. Lannigan, Union Star. Scorers—Messrs. McDowell and Clinch. Time of game—1 hour 45 minutes.

ATHLETIC vs. MUTUAL.

The fifth and deciding game of the championship series between the Athletics, of Philadelphia, and the Mutuals, of New York city, was played on Wednesday, the 18th inst., on the grounds of the former club, Kotzwindasen. The cold weather, fully two thousand persons were assembled, in anticipation of witnessing a closely contested match, but they were doomed to be disappointed, as the Athletics took the lead at the outset, and, gradually increasing it, won by the one-sided score of 21 to 7. The following is a record of the games played by these two clubs for the championship:—

June 7th, Athletic vs. Mutual	4 to 8
June 26th, Athletic vs. Mutual	5 to 4
Sept. 2d, Athletic vs. Mutual	7 to 8
Sept. 4th, Athletic vs. Mutual	7 to 16
Oct. 18th, Athletic vs. Mutual	21 to 7
Totals	45 to 43

As will be seen by the above, most of the games were closely contested, the only exceptions being in the game of Sept. 4th, when the Athletics—being without the services of McBride, their pitcher—were badly beaten, and in the fifth game, when the Mutuals, singularly enough, being also short of their pitcher—Wolters—had to submit to their worst defeat of the season. In the game on the 18th inst., the Athletics were short of the services of two of their best players—Sensenderfer and Reach—who were unable to play, while the Mutuals had their full nine, with the exception, as before noted, of Wolters, and his place was filled by Fleet, leaving the remainder in their regular positions; the Athletics, however, playing Fisler and Pratt in positions they were totally unaccustomed to. Under these circumstances, the betting fraternity felt rather chary about betting their stamps on either club, and consequently but little betting was indulged in at the earlier stages of the game. The Athletics won the toss, and that impartial and excellent ball player, Fred. Treacy, having consented to fill the onerous position of umpire, the game commenced at 3.15 P. M. A strong northwest wind interfered materially with both the batting and the fielding, and rendered it decidedly unpleasant for the spectators.

The Mutuals made one earned run in their first innings by the safe base hits of Hatfield and Fleet, which the Athletics offset by scoring three runs, Cuthbert and McBride getting their bases on called balls, and Radcliff his base by a hit to Pearce, fielded too late to Ferguson to cut off Cuthbert. Fisler hit to Pearce, who threw the ball to Mills to head off McBride at home base, but the ball was dropped by Mills, and it was then observed that Fisler—a la Mack—had forgotten to run to first base, and of course, for his negligence, he was easily put out. Pratt made his base by Ferguson's wild throw, but was left, not a ball being hit outside of the bases, Start putting the side out.

In the next three innings the Mutuals were whitewashed in one, two, three order, Pratt putting out four men at first base and Malone two on fly-outs. The Athletics scored one run in the second by an error of Ferguson's, and another in the third on called balls, while in the fourth innings they received their first blank, Ferguson purposely missing an easy ball and thereby forcing out at second and third, Meyerle and Bechtel, who had each made splendid one base hits.

In the fifth innings the Mutuals scored three runs after chances had been given to Radcliff and Pratt to have put them out for a blank, Higham making a fine two base hit that sent two men home. The Athletics scored two runs in this innings, one being earned by Radcliff on a good hit, and the other by errors of Start and Hatfield, Pearce also allowing an easy grounder to pass through his legs. Higham and Patterson made good catches in the out field.

In the sixth innings the Mutuals scored another unearned run, Fleet making his base on a clean hit, and being assisted home by a wild throw of McBride's and an error of Pratt's. The Athletics also scored an unearned run, Cuthbert getting to first by a wild throw of Pearce and coming home on Malone's grounder, which was muffed by Start. The Athletics' lead was now only 8 to 5, but the next innings completely destroyed all interest in the game, the Mutuals being whitewashed by brilliant fly-catches made by Cuthbert and Bechtel, and the latter by a swift and accurate throw to Malone, at home, put out Patterson, who made one base by a clean hit. The Athletics then went to work, and after chances had been offered to Pearce and Ferguson to have put them out for one earned, added seven more, Heubel and Meyerle each making fine one base hits, and Radcliff, Fisler and Pratt making one base hits.

This gave the Athletics the commanding lead of 16 to 5, which they still further increased on the eighth innings by whitewashing their opponents and by some of the best batting of the game making three earned runs, Meyerle and Bechtel leading off with fine two base hits, and Cuthbert reaching third by a heavy hit to left field. McBride and Radcliff also made safe hits, the latter being "doubled up" by Hatfield making a fine fly catch off a liner hit by Malone.

In the last innings the Mutuals batted more freely, Higham, Hatfield, Patterson and Start making clean hits and the two first named scoring earned runs. Ferguson was given a life by Pratt, but was caught napping and put out at first base by McBride's throw to Pratt. The Athletics scored two more unearned runs by errors of Ferguson and Hatfield, Higham terminating the innings by a good fly catch. The Athletics won this game by their superior fielding, Cuthbert, Bechtel and Heubel in the outfield especially excelling. Meyerle and Bechtel did the best batting for the Athletics. Hatfield and Start did the best fielding and Higham the best batting for the Mutuals. Fleet proved a failure as a pitcher. Treacy impartially umpired the game, the score of which was:—

MUTUAL.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Hatfield, 2d b ...3	2	3	5	0
Patterson, 1 f ...5	0	2	2	0
Start, 1st b ...0	0	2	17	0
Fleet, p ...1	1	2	0	5
Zettlein, c ...0	0	1	0	0
Higham, r f ...4	0	1	1	0
Pratt, 3d b ...3	0	0	1	1
Ferguson, 2d b ...1	0	2	3	5
Pearce, s s ...1	2	1	2	3
Higham, r f ...4	0	1	1	0
Totals ...7	5	15	27	14

ATHLETIC.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Cuthbert, l f ...4	1	0	3	0
McBride, p ...2	1	0	0	3
Radcliff, s s ...3	2	1	1	3
Malone, c ...1	0	5	1	0
Fisler, 1st b ...1	0	1	11	0
Pratt, 1st b ...2	1	2	11	0
Heubel, r f ...2	2	1	0	0
Meyerle, 3d b ...3	4	1	2	1
Bechtel, c f ...3	1	2	3	0
Totals ...21	12	7	27	10

INNINGS. Runs Scored.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Mutual	1	0	0	0	3	1	0	0	1—5
Athletic	0	1	1	0	1	0	8	0	0—12

Runs Earned.

Mutual	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2—3
Athletic	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2—2

Bases on errors—Mutual, 5; Athletic, 15. Double plays—Ferguson, Pearce and Hatfield, 1; Hatfield and Start, 1. Umpire—Fred. Treacy, of the White Stockings. Time of game—1 hour and 40 minutes.

MASSACHUSETTS JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

On Oct. 19th, the Scott Club, of Danvers, played their deciding game with the junior Unas, of Charlestown, on the result of which the junior championship of the state depended, and, winning the game, they now hold the junior championship and are owners of the prize bat presented by Mr. M. E. Chandler at the commencement of the season. They are fairly entitled to the honor. The Unas, who made a spurt on the occasion of the second game and won it by 8 to 6, seemed in this last game to have lost all their spunk and made a very poor display, especially in the field. The result was that they were beaten more disastrously than in either of the previous games, the figures being 8 to 2. The score:—

SCOTTS.	R.	I.
King, 1st b	2	1
T. Hawkes, s s	0	0
P. Hawkes, 3d b	0	0
Casey, r f	0	0
Cashman, p	0	0
F. Caskin, 2d b	0	0
Hawes, c f	0	0
Nichols, l f	2	0
E. Caskin, c	2	2
Total's	8	6

UNAS.	R.	I.
Sawin, c	1	1
Beak, p	1	0
McNally, s s	0	2
Chapman, 1st b	1	2
Dodge, 2d b	0	0
Hayes, 3d b	0	0
Nelson, l f	0	0
Barry, c f	0	0
Merrick, r f	0	0
Totals	2	7

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Scotts	0	0	4	0	1	0	1	2	8
Unas	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	2

Umpire—C. McVey, Boston nine. Time of game—1 hour and 30 minutes.

BOSTON vs. HARVARD.

The last game the Boston nine played with the Harvards was that which took place on Oct. 14th, of which the following is the score. The Harvards had out a strong nine and played a good game:—

BOSTON.	A.B.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
G. Wright, s s	6	3	3	3	4
Barnes, 2d b	6	3	3	4	5
Birdsall, r f	7	1	0	2	0
McVey, c	6	2	3	1	0
Spalding, p	6	0	0	0	6
Gould, 1st b	6	2	2	13	2
Schafer, 3d b	5	1	3	2	3
Barrows, l f	5	2	1	0	0
H. Wright, c f	5	1	1	2	0
Totals	52	15	17	27	15

HARVARD.	A.B.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Rustis, r f	5	0	2	1	4
Tyler, 1st b	5	0	0	15	0
Bush, c	5	1	3	1	0
Goodwin, p	5	1	0	0	5
Reed, c f	5	0	2	2	0
Walder, 3d b	5	1	1	0	3
White, 2d b	4	3	2	4	1
Allen, l f	4	2	1	1	1
Totals	43	8	11	27	14

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Boston	2	3	0	0	0	1	5	3	1—15
Harvard	0	0	3	1	0	0	1	4	0—8

Umpire—Mr. S. Jackson, of the Boston Club, of Boston.

LONE STAR vs. SOUTHERN.

These old rivals for the southern championship met on Oct. 16th at the New Orleans Base Ball Park, quite a numerous attendance of spectators being present. The game was one of the new series for the championship. The Southerns presented their full nine, strengthened by the re-appearance of "Tobias," one of the original old timers, who, after a season of retirement, has returned to his old love. The Stars were short the services of Hennessey and Tracy—Amar and Beanham taking their places. The Southerns were unable to get the hang of Leonard's delivery, but two clean hits being secured by them. Leonard's pitching in the last game he has shown this season. The Stars obtained a commanding lead at the start, their batting being heavy and safe, while their opponents were unable to score, except in the second innings, the totals being 29 to 2 in favor of the Red Legs. The catching of Scottand (early, and the fielding of Condon, Amar and "Tobias" were the features of the match. The next championship match was to have been played on Oct. 22d, between the Stars and Crescents. The clubs thus far entered for the whip pennant are the Southerns, Lees, Crescents, Excelsiors, Nationals, Athletics and Quicksteps. The score:—

SOUTHERN.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Larkin, 2d b	0	1	0	4
Benson, s s	0	1	3	3
Bozant, 1st b	0	0	10	0
Tocins 1 f	0	0	1	0
Carson, c f	0	0	3	0
Canty, c	1	0	5	1
Newman, 3d b	0	0	3	2
Candler, r f	1	0	0	0
Deery, p	0	0	0	0
Totals	2	2	27	15

LONE STAR.	R.	I.B.	P.O.	A.
Condon, 1st b	4	3	12	0
Smith, r f	4	2	1	0
Leonard, p	5	3	1	3
Beanham, l f	1	1	1	0
Amar, 3d b	3	1	2	2
Wright, s s	3	1	2	3
Heser, c f	5	3	0	0
Scott, c	5	3	2	2
Oby, 2d b	4	2	3	4
Totals	39	22	27	12

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Southern	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—2
Lone Star	1	3	5	9	6	3	2	0	1—29

First base on errors—Southern, 7; Lone star, 8. Umpire—Owen Geoghan, Esq. Time of game—2 hours 10 minutes.

ECKFORD VS. ATLANTIC.—These clubs were to have played a match together Oct. 16th, but the Eckfords, being unable to present a full nine, put in "subs," and a scrub game was the result. Jackson, of the Stars, and McGinnis, of the Burnsides, assisted the Eckfords materially. A good deal of petty spite was exhibited towards Swandell by some of the Eckfords because of his joining the Atlantics. This in a very small piece of business for any club to be engaged in. The score of the game was as follows:—

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Eckford	4	1	1	0	2	3			1—13
Atlantic	2	1	0	0	0	2			2—8

Umpire—Mr. [illegible] of the Chicago Club

AQUATICS.

THE AMERICA CUP RACES

BETWEEN

Com. Ashbury's English Yacht Livonia and the New York Yacht Club.

The Columbia Wins the First and Second Races, and is Beaten in the Third.

PROTEST FROM MR. ASHBURY.

The second attempt of Commodore Ashbury, owner of the English schooner Livonia, and representative of the Royal Harwich Yacht club, to restore to his native land the trophy won from the British squadron by the celebrated yacht America twenty years ago, and subsequently presented to the New York Yacht Club, commenced last week. The conditions were that the winner of four out of seven races should take the cup, the Livonia representing England, and it being optional with the N. Y. C. to pit the Columbia, Sappho, Palmer or Dauntless against her upon either of the days selected for the races. Below will be found reports of the first, second and third races:—

THE FIRST RACE

was sailed on Monday, Oct. 16th, the yacht selected to inaugurate the series against the British representative being Rear Commodore Franklin Osgood's Columbia, whose previous victories this season had gained here a great reputation for speed and weatherly qualities, though she was generally believed to perform best in smooth water and moderate winds. This belief it was that induced the committee to choose her for that day's contest, the wind coming light from the northwest. Deep interest was felt by all classes in the result of a race which was to affect the ownership of a trophy which the American people all regard with pride, and the excursion steamers which accompanied the vessels, some half dozen in number, were well filled with passengers, all intent on witnessing the struggle. The bosom of the bay was covered with schooner, sloop and pleasure yachts, and altogether the scene was gay and inspiriting in the extreme. The steamer William Fletcher had been chartered for the use of the judges and had on board Moses H. Grinnell, Philip Schuyler and Charles A. Minton, of the regatta committee, and a number of prominent individuals as invited guests. On board the Livonia, besides her commander and crew, were Lord de Blaquiere, Commander Cunningham, U. S. N., and Sheppard Homans; while Mr. Osgood had as guests, Commodore Bennett, Lester Wallack, George Wilson and Harvey Hurley. The course was that of the N. Y. C., from an anchorage west of a flag-boat stationed off the Quarantine landing, Staten Island, to the red first class can buoy west of Southwest Spit buoy, designated on the charts as buoy No. 10, passing it to the west and south; thence to the light-ship, rounding it to the north and east, and returning over the same course, passing east, going and returning, of all the buoys on the West Bank, namely:—Nos. 13, 11 and 9, and west of the flag-boat stationed near the Quarantine landing, Staten Island. The relative dimensions, etc., of the competing vessels is as follows:—

Name of Yacht Club.	Owner.	Apportionment.
Livonia, R. H. Y. C.	James Ashbury	1881
Columbia, N. Y. C.	Franklin Osgood	1694

The Livonia is a keel yacht, 260 tons, launched last spring, and had previously participated in over a dozen races in English waters, achieving success in four. She is 108 feet in length over all; on water line, 99 feet; breadth of beam, 23.7 feet. Her spars and rigging are of the heaviest kind, and are calculated for a heavy sea yacht. Her distinguishing features are that her channel pieces are filled up solid underneath, as is also her rudder post, and that she is provided with a jibboom instead of a bowsprit; her jibs are all set without stays, and her mast are placed closer together than is usually the case in the English model. Her sails are of American cotton duck. She is sailed by Capt. Wood.

The Columbia was built by J. R. Van Duesen, of Chester, Pa., is a centre-board, cockpit schooner of 2-6 tons, and was launched in April of the present year. She is 104 feet on deck; over all; on water line, 96¾ feet; breadth of beam, 25½ feet; depth of hold, 8¾ feet; draught, 8.5½ feet. Her masts are of great strength, and her rigging of charcoal wire. Her record for the past season has been excellent, having won the first prize in three out of seven races. Her sailing master is Nelson Comstock, who was in the America's crew when she originally won the Queen's Cup, and commanded the Magic when she defeated the Camoola in last year's race for this trophy. Mr. Osgood also owned the Magic then.

Having set their foresails, mainsails, fore and main gaff topsails at 10.40 A. M. the signal gun gave the order to start the race, and at 10.45 A. M. Instantly the Columbia's jib, flying jib and jib-topsails were run up, and her canvas filling quickest, she glided swiftly and gracefully toward the Southwest Spit on the starboard tack, shortly afterward hoisting her mainmast staysail.

The same celerity in setting the canvas and getting under way was not observable on board the Livonia, whose large jib topsail and fore staysail were run up, and she was off in the wake of the Columbia, who had proved the quicker of the two fast, and everything tending to catch whatever breeze there was was taken advantage of, head sails being boomed out to windward. The Columbia passed the Staten Island lighthouse at 11.09:15, followed by the Livonia at 11.09:30. The wind and tide and water were manifestly greatly in favor of the American yacht, and she slowly but surely widened the gap, being one-third of a mile ahead at the Upper Quarantine, and fully half a mile in advance when the Livonia passed the Lower Quarantine. Rain fell lightly, and fears were entertained that it would cause the wind to die away, but luckily it did not, though it fell somewhat. Buoy No. 10 was rounded by the Columbia at 12.04, and she stood away towards Sandy Hook on the port tack, her main topmast staysail having been taken down, though it was shortly afterwards run up again. At 12.08:27 the Englishman went around, and the boats now drifted with the ebbing tide to the Sandy Hook, when they were favored with a freshening and shifting of the breeze to the westward. Catching it first, the Livonia gained upon her rival, but it was only for a moment, for, filling away nobly, the beautiful Columbia increased her pace and went around the lightship at 1.23:53, the Livonia following at 1.38:31. Just before she rounded the breeze fell again. Now both went off toward the south on the starboard tack, the Columbia holding so until about two miles and a half of the south end of the Highlands, when she went about again, the Englishman following suit shortly after. From this point until the termination of the contest there was but little interest exhibited, it being plainly a certainty for the Columbia, which was leaving the Livonia rapidly and sailing much nearer the wind. The Southwest Spit was passed by her at 3.50:13, amid the cheers of those on board the steamers and yachts clustering there, mingled with the booming of cannon. The Livonia went by at 4.19:50, and the race was finished at 4.57:42, the run of the Columbia from the Spit home being one grand ovation, steamers and a large number of yachts accompanying her, the whole culminating in a scene of the wildest enthusiasm at the close, Mr. Osgood, who was warmly congratulated, being the happiest man in the crowd. The Livonia was three miles astern when the American yacht was hailed the victor in the first of the series of races—a circumstance that was regarded as a favorable omen.

OFFICIAL TIME—START, 10.40.

	S. W. Spit.	Lightship.	S. W. Spit.	Home.
Columbia	12h 04m 00s	1h 23m 53s	3h 50m 13s	4h 57m 42s
Livonia	12 08 27	1 38 31	4 19 55	5 23 (0)

	Actual Time.	Corrected Time by allowance.	Columbia's gain.
Columbia	4h 17m 42s	4h 19m 41s	0h 27m 04s
Livonia	4 43 00	4 46 45

THE SECOND RACE.

Again was the Columbia named as the opponent of the Livonia in the second contest, which took place on Wednesday, 18th inst., over a course twenty miles to windward of the lightship at Sandy Hook and return. The judges and excursion boats left the

THEATRICAL RECORD.

Movements, Business, and Incidents of the Theatrical, Circus, Musical and Minstrel Profession.

☞ WE HAVE NO TRAVELLING AGENTS, either general or other wise, and any persons so representing themselves are acting fraudulently. All our regular correspondents are supplied with credentials, and we particularly request that no attention be paid to persons passing on their private cards with the words "Correspondent of the New York CLIPPER" attached, as they have no authority therefor.

Clipper Post Office.

☞ A STAMPED ENVELOPE, plainly addressed, must be enclosed for each and every letter sent for. Where there are two or more persons of like name in the profession, the line of business followed by the party addressed should be given, in order to prevent mistakes.

LADIES' LIST.

Aldean, Lizzie A. M.	Fisher, Kate	Purce, Emma T.
Archer, Fanny	Fuller, Mrs. M. A.	Peterson, Louisa
Blandell, Julia A.(3)	Floyd, Marion	Ross, Jeanetta
Berger, Ettie	Gray, Kattie	Robertson, Selina
Bruce, Emma	Gracie, Mlle. (2)	(3) 9c.
Benson, Jenny	Granger, Agnes	Reynolds, Lucy
Bunton, Marie	Germon, Mrs.	Renauld, Mrs. Jno. B.
Bell, Laura	Gardner, Mary and Carrie	Sprague, Addie 10c.
Bosse, Selina	Howard, Victoria	Saxe, Sarah E.
Blake, Mrs. O. W.	Hvams, Estelle	Stevens, May
Buell, Mrs. E. C.	Herbert, Emily	Somers, Alice
Bridges, Eloise	Hiams, Jennie	Tyson, Kate
Crest, Mrs. Isaac	Hayden, Mrs W.	Ward, Anne
Clark, Mary E.	Herring, Fanny	Western, Lucille
Clinslop, Lucy	Lacy, Gertie	Winters, Catherine
Cooper, Mrs. W. H.	Leon, Ida	Westgate, Kitty
Clark, Elise	Leth,	Wood, Genie
Dunbar, Eunice(30)c.	Mitchell, Magzie (3)	Wharf, Carrie
Edgerton, Lillian S.	Murphy, Martha J.	Wesner, Ella
Evans, Rosa	Nicholls, Maggie	Wood, Annie
Flint, Nettie	Neville, Emma J. (3)	Wallace, Jenny
Freeman Sisters	Nelson, Millie	Watson, Mrs. E. W.
Fiske, Mrs. M. W.	Palmer, Lura	Wood, Mrs. Fanny
		Webb, Emma H.

GENTLEMENS' LIST.

Allyne, E. T. J.	Gotnold, E. M.	Nice, Alonzo H.
Allen, Billy	Gaylord, Lowe	Parker, Ned
Armstrong, Hy	Gorman Dick	Parselle, Joe
Ansley, Ned	Gurr, Hy	Paul, Wm
Arisons, Chas.	Gardner, Charley	Fanny, Frank
Adams, Chas	Gayton, Frank	Pitcher, Orville
Allen, Frank	Guy, Geo and Willie	Pendleton, M. J.
Antonio, Chas	Glassford, Andy	Pratt, F. C.
Allanson, J. W.	Bates, Eugene H.	Pell, O. C.
Lendallah, Ali Ben (2)	Gray, Geo O	Price, Mark M.
Boyle, Jr., A. F.	Gaylord, Joe	Peckham, Geo S.
Briggs, Pliny H.	Gilbert, Hy	Phillips, W. F.
Barney, Master	Glumber, J. H.	Purcell, A.
Burnell, Jno	Howard, Gus	Purdy, S. S.
Brigisai, Sig.	Howard, Frank	Quinton, Jas J
Brimmer, Lew	Hall, H. M.	Rennie, Hy G.
Brent, W. (2)	Haverly, J. H.	Riches, Geo
Banks, Aaron	Hight, H A. (2)	Rogers, Mortimer
Benoit, O. (2)	Hunterson, Jno. A.	Rubini, Sig. (2)
Batterson, Wm	Richard, Hy	Rickey, Jas
Bliss, Chas	Hurley, W. J.	Richmond, Hy
Brown, Charley	Hallett, Lew	Robinson, G. C. S.
Bruce, C. A.	Hanchett, D.	Russell, Hy
Conard, Chas	Hawley, D. R.	Richmond, Hy G.
Clarke, Kit	Holston, Art, 10c.	Ryman, Add
Crane, Wm.	Hurley & Marr	Rainey, I. T.
Clifford, R.	Hurelle, Chas.	Richards, Al R. (2)
Carendini, Geo F	Harrington & Hart	Rickey, Jas
Carter, O. H.	Hicks, C. B.	Sexton, M. C.
Cole, Wm	Homan Geo H.	Spaulding, Chas. F.
Costello, Chas	Jovce, Thos. H.	Subera, Hy (3)
Clark, Hy	Jefferson, Jos	Seely, Charlie (4)
Cohen, Jerry	Keller, Hy	Shay, Chas
Conklin, F. W.	Kidder, S. E. (2)	Sharpley, F. (2)
Chriski, Martin	Kearney, Master	Sherry, Hy F.
Carr, Lewis, E.	Loudon, J. J. (2)	Sebastian, Romeo
Cavana, Law	Lee, Charley	Showles J. J.
Chaplin, G. D.	Lavake, Wm (2)	Smith, Edwin M.
Connolly, Chas M. (2)	Leclair, Lewis (2)	Skilling, Geo. A.
Collier, Prof. O.	Lauri, Jno, 13c.	Slocum, Rolland C.
Courtright, Billy	Linzard, W. H. (2)	Street, W. C.
Dibolo	Levantine, Jno. E.	Sterman, Chas F.
Dahl, Geo	Lorairy, Chas	Stuart, W. H.
Dykman, Joe	Love, Valentine	Sullivan, J. J.
Doebin, Eugene	Lannier, W. L.	Saunders, Jno
Denier, Jno	Lewis, Eugene	Stanley, Wm.
Draper, Chas H.	Lindsay, W. W.	Sanford, A.
Dumont, Frank	Levantine, Jno C. (3)	Todd, Wm
Dillon, Jno	Long, Joe	Tinkham, E. A.
De Wild, Thos	Lawton, Jack	Taylenire, C. W.
Edwards, Geo H.	Leslie, Hy	Tulloch, Levi
Datallie, Mons. (2)	Morris, Dan	Turnour, Alfred
Dukinield, W. E.	Monk, Geo	Taylor, Jas.
Diedshaah, P.	Monroe, Chas.	Tuttle, Thos
Day, Tom	Morris, Chas. A. (2)	Thompson, Chas R.
Keddie, El Nino	Mordaunt, Frank	Unsworth, Sammy
Emerson, Billy	Marshall, H. A.	Vicorelli,
Foote, Wm.	Murray, Fred.	Waters, A.
Forrester, N.	McLear, Geo	Washburn, E. S.
Fish, Kit	McLean	Willis, Oscar
Florence G. A.	Mass, Jas	Wildy, Jno.
Fox, Ned	Mac, Joe L.	White, Joe L.
Fakir of Ispahan	Merritt, J. C.	Williams, Jesse
Forecaugh, Wm. R.	Marshall, Hy	Ware, Willie
Fielding, Johnny	McCann, Jas. F.	West, Ned
Forieaugh, S. R.	McMahon, J.	Wilder, Jas W.
Foley Charley	Mills, Jay	Woodfield, W. H.
Fox, Joseph	Murphy, Jos	Williams, Jno.
Fitzgerald, R.	Melville, Wm	Wyndam, Chas
French, Mr.	Munick, J. L.	Wilson, Fred.
Fulton, Joe	Menzies, Hy D.	Wadsworth A. J.
Florence, Geo A.	Maxwell, Geo H.)	Winship, Geo
Griffin, W.	Norris, Geo S.	Yates, Ben
	Norman, Ham

Introductory Overture.

MONDAY, Oct. 23d, '71.

"The Dook," the grand duke of all the Russias, is the present or coming, object of our solicitude, and right valiantly are we striving to make his visit both comfortable and pleasant. It is such a rare thing to get hold of a real, live duke, or king, or other foreign potentate, that when the opportunity does offer, we go for him like a hungry dog for a piece of liver; so if th's live duke isn't a dead duke before we get through with him, then he must certainly possess a wonderful constitution and an abundance of animal life. First, he is to be made a free show of, a sort of central figure for a grand street parade, with police and military to cleave the way through an infatuated mass of republican simplicity and muscular christianity. Then if he survives the military attempt upon his life, the political element may probably lay violent hands upon him, and show him our new court house and other objects of special and general interest; and if he gets here in time to be naturalized he may be nominated for Register, or Senator, or something or other. He will likewise be tote'd round among the theatres, and variety halls, and minstrel temples, and billiard saloons, and ten-pin alleys; and then "the boys" will have a shy at him, and get up a base ball match for his special benefit, and a sparring exhibition, with those two lively dead men—Aaron and Treacy—to lend a helping hand to amuse Ellick. There will be no let up on "the dook;" he will be talked at by all our great orators, and if George Francis Train can be induced to step this way for a moment, we will put him at him. Then "the dook" will be laid out in state, in the City Hall, and the friends and relatives of the family will be respectfully invited to attend the last obsequies, previous to the remains of the late lamented being sent home in a patent casket. Our whole heart is in this movement, and the people are with us. "Our Jim" wants to know whether there isn't some danger of an injunction being issued against the show; but we assure the meretricious youth that our judges have no time to meddle with such outside issues, and the grand duke's show will go on without fail.....Wasn't last week a scruncher, though, in the show business! There was the great benefit at the Grand Opera House for the Chicago sufferers; then there was the immense operatic entertainment, with Parepa-Rosa, Gazzaniga and Wachtel in the cast—realizing six or eight thousand dollars—which was not for the Chicago sufferers; then there was Edwin Booth and Charlotte Cushman in "Macbeth," by which nearly five thousand were netted for Chicago. And talking about this last performance, "Our Jim" says Edwin and Charlotte did not "look well together;" he suggests that Miss Cushman might give us her impersonation of Romeo, with Mr. Booth as Juliet. Well, now, that wouldn't be bad; for women, you see, are beginning to usurp the prerogatives of man. Do we not already behold them in the political arena? What! Hold up until we spin out a few rhymes about 'em:—

> Next we shall have these charmers trotting horses,
> Making stump speeches, figuring as bosses;
> Playing at euchre, drinking brandy smashes,
> Getting up prize fights, and at them cheering;
> With swords and pistols, while their whilom masters
> Tend to the nursery, clean the plates and castors,
> Sweep, wash and sew! Our very inwards groan
> At the bare prospect of women going it alone.

.....We have a word of caution to say to our professional friends. Not content with laying waste our fair cities with fire, not satisfied with the deeds of blood already committed, we now hear of a deep-laid plot against the lives of actors! (Sensation.) A vile, damnable scheme to murder in cold blood our warm hearted brethren of the sock and buskin! (Hear, hear!) We have it on the authority of "Our Jim," who, while enjoying the hospitalities of a scientific coterie the other evening, leastwise while looking through that huge stove pipe machine at the moon on Broadway, overheard the man say to another man, who is probably one of the cowardly conspirators; heard him distinctly say that "November the 13th will be the proper time for shooting stars." We feel it to be our duty to make known the fact at once. Let Superintendent Kelso be on the alert, and let our theatrical friends, should this threatened attempt upon their lives be made, prove that they are not only dramatic but shooting stars as well. A debt of gratitude is due to James for disclosing this damnable conspiracy..... It is now reported that Nilsson lost seventy thousand dollars by the Chicago fire. Her managers manage to implicate her in everything that's going on, and we don't believe that the fair singer lost anything in Chicago..... And talking about Chicago, we are glad to be able to state that every manager and every performer in the country is doing something in behalf of the sufferers by the great conflagration. This week, we are to have an extraordinary entertainment given by the Order of Elks. Dear, dear, what a great bill they are to give us. Extra trains are to be run between New York and Philadelphia to convey performers and people who may wish to aid in the benefit. Let the good work proceed.....The other night we waylaid "Our Jim," dogged his footsteps like a thief in the night. Where do you think he went? To a house on Fifth avenue, to serenade some chambermaid with whom he has become infatuated. By some means he had succeeded in roping in three little boys who act on the violin and harp in the public streets for stamps. How much he promised them we have not been able to ascertain. James arranged the band in a row in front of the cellar door, and, as a preliminary, directed the youths to play up "Old Dog Tray," which they did in German; then the case hardened James ordered the "Marseilles Hymn," neither of which, you will comprehend, is suitable for a serenade to a girl; nor did the musicians appear to take to it kindly, as it was against their principles, you will understand. Jimmy then performed a voluntary on the bones. Just think of it—playing a bone solo for a serenade. Candor compels us to say that James performs better on the bones with his mouth than with his hands; notwithstanding he calls his bone solo the "Battle of Prague," we detected in it nothing but a few simple strains from "Yankee Doodle" and "Lannigan's Ball." The band followed with a medley composed of "Up in a Balloon," "Who's That Knocking at the Door," "When Little Samuel Woke" and similar pieces. Then came the piece de resistance of the evening—a song composed expressly for this occasion by Jim and by Him sung, with all hand accompaniment. As near as we can recollect the words, and the vocalist's manner of singing it, we herewith place the same on record. He calls it

REBYOCA'S LAY.
A Simple and (My Stars!) Pathetic Ballad.
BY "OUR JIM."

Copyrighte sekured accordis to lor and act of Congress. (By Jim's kind permission we have corrected his spelling.—ED.)

Sweet lady, arise from your snoozy downcush,
And list to the dulcet strains
Of this cool-a-be-di-as yiolin,
Oh! rise, lady, rev it raises.
Arise, Rebecca Ja-hane, arise,
Oh, rise before the shower,
For I've played beneath your win-do-he
More than half an hour.

The tom-cat yowls to his lady in-here,
She answers way down at the la-hane,
Yes I sigh in rain for a word or a look,
And now it's beginning to rain.
Arise, my sweetest Ja-berdo co-here,
And open your window bel-lued,
For the rain comes down and the dog's loo-boos,
And has torn my trousers behind.

Sweet lady, arise; but no, never mind,
The bow's gone to my fi ering in two,
Ah, ger-heart, the tears time that I serenade,
You bet, it won't be to you.
Sleep, Rebecca Ja-hane-o-nor,
For now I am wet to the skin,
I've broken my bow on the de-lo-hag
And jumped on my violin.

Perhaps it may be well to state that the reason why Rebecca Ja—hane did not respond to his gentle voice was, because she lived at a house further up the street.....We are having a deluge in the way of amusements. Can we stand them all, or will some have to go under? If strangers continue to pour into the city as they have been doing of late, all will be serene, for it is to them, in great part, that our amusement resorts look for patronage; but if they should thin out, then those places which offer inferior attractions must suffer. Never before, probably, have we had such a variety, or such combinations, as have appeared during the past week.....A well-meaning tailor writes to us to say that he finds the CLIPPER a valuable auxiliary in the prosecution of his business; "for now," says he, "when my theatrical customers are called away unexpectedly by great emergencies, without giving me proper notice, I look in the CLIPPER and lo! I ascertain at once their places of abode, and go for them at once."For the coming two weeks the political barometer will show signs of squalls, probably. As "Old Prognosticus" would say, the heavy pressure will be felt in the theatrical area, with showers in and around New York. Falling barometer in the western circuit, with a heavy storm brewing in the lake region, which may, probably, reach the Middle and Atlantic States. So with these ominous signals set before you, our show people will know how to trim their sails to meet the coming gale should it reach this vicinity.

City Summary.

"GOD BLESS THE THEATRES" (we quote the language of the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher) for their prompt and benevolent action in relieving their fellow professionals and the sufferers at large by the late conflagration at Chicago, Ill. During the past week the following performances took place:—At the Fifth Avenue Theatre a matinee performance of "Divorce" was given on Oct. 16th; the gross receipts amounting to $609.50, were donated. The following members of the company, besides volunteering their professional services, contributed the following sums:—W. J. Lemoyne, $25; D. H. Harkins, $10; Fanny Davenport, $10; Owen Fawcett, $10; J. H. Burnett, $10; John Moore, $10; Kate Claxton, $10; E. P. Devere, $10; C. Sorpel, $10; E. Grare, $5; W. H. Crisp, jr., $10; Kate Newton, $10; C. Doust, $1; R. Finan, 2; C. M. Patterson, $2; M. Hall, $2; J. Schoned, $2; Thomas J. Kelly, $2; H. Kough, $2; W. C. Headley, $2; Mrs. Gilbert, $5; James Lewis, $10; William Davidge, $10; Linda Deitz, $10; Clara Morris, $10; Ed. Pearce, $5; W. H. Beekman, $2; G. H. Griffiths, $10; Miss E. A. Griffiths, $5; Miss M. A. Cary, $10; A. Appleton, $5; A. Gair, $2; F. Johnson, 2; Alfred Palmer, $2; John Gair, $1; C. Weiko, $1; John Monroe, $2; William Solis, $1; O. H. Jackson, $1; making a total of $240, which, added to the above receipts, makes the entire donation $549.50.....At the Olympic Theatre a matinee performance of "Humpty Dumpty" yielded $500. .....A matinee at the Bowery, Miss Lucille Western, J. A. Herne, W. H. Whalley and the regular company appearing, yielded $254.45.....Oct. 17th a matinee performance of "Eileen Oge," at the Grand Opera House, yielded $400.....A performance at Lina Edwin's Theatre, by Mlle. Aimee and company, netted $178.....An evening performance at the Stadt Theatre, gotten up by the personal energy and influence of D. E. Bandmann, yielded $2,379. Mr. Bandmann acted in the German language in the drama entitled "A Glass of Water."Oct. 18th, a matinee performance at the Union Square Theatre yielded $400.50.....A matinee performance was given at Niblo's Garden, which yielded $359.50.....The Dolby Ballad Concert party gave a concert at Steinway Hall, in the evening, which yielded $467.....On the 19th a matinee performance at Tony Pastor's produced $51. .....From the day and evening performances at Wood's Museum about $600 was obtained.....The same evening, at Booth's Theatre, Edwin Booth, Charlotte Cushman and Miss Charlotte Cushman in the chief characters of "Macbeth," aided by the voluntary services of every performer and attache of the theatre, added $4,835.50 to the fund, the prices of admission to all parts of the house being double on that occasion. Those employed in the mechanical department of this theatre contributed $142, in addition to the above.....On the afternoon of the 20th a grand combination performance was given at the Grand Opera House, consisting of the following programme:—Shakespeare's comedy of "Katherine and Petruchio," with the following cast:—Petruchio, Edwin Booth; Grumio, J. T. Raymond; Biondello, J. Z. Little; Tailor, J. McCloskey; Music Master, J. B. Brutone; Hortensio, Enos; Baptista, T. J. Hind; Pedro, C. Burke; Cook, George Johnson; Servants, Macevoy, Stuart, Carpenter, etc.; Katherine, Miss Lucille Western; Curtis, Miss Keough; Bianca, Miss Wakeman; after which Henri Drayton sang "The Wolf;" Miss Emma Hanson sang Oberti's valse "The Triumph of Love," William Castle sang an aria, and James W. Wehll performed a fantasia upon the pianoforte. Succeeding this came the third act of "Camille," with Miss Agnes Ethel as Camille, George Clarke as Armand, and W. H. Pope as old Duval, which gave place to the festival scene and dance, "Kiss and Kiss Me," performed by Newcomb, Gibbons, Cheever and Kennedy; then Gus Phillips' (Dotty Goof) recited "Schneider's Ride." Tony Pastor being unable to appear, Frank Kerns and Johnny Queen performed the "Morning Glories" instead, and the entertainment concluded with "Daniel in the Bryant's Den," characters by Dan Bryant, Nelse Seymour and Lingh Mac. The auditorium was densely crowded, and the receipts were about $2,200; the total amount received during the week being about $13,216.45; to which we may add the receipts of the concert on Sunday evening, Oct. 15th, at the Grand Opera House, $1,200; of the Parepa Rosa Opera Troupe, Oct. 14th, $1,400; of Dan Rice's Circus, Oct. 13th, $601.55; of the San Francisco Minstrels matinee, on Oct. 14th, by Lester Wallack and performers, $1,000, making a total of $17,515.10 that has been contributed by our regular places of amusement.....On Oct. 17th Miss Maggie Mitchell sent from Long Branch, N. J., her check for $500 for the relief of the members of the profession.....The Fortieth exhibition of the American Institute contributed $2,127.75; the officers and employees of the board of managers thereof $168.50; the employees in the restaurant of the same, $101.50; and $12, and the visitors thereto $30.25.....Dr. Kahn's Museum of Anatomy contributed $57.50.....Mlle. Karcilla Rena, from the Grand Opera, Paris, France, made her American debut in a concert at Association Hall, on Oct. 20th, for the benefit of the sufferers. With regard to the receipts of this as well as a matinee concert given at the same hall on Oct. 19th, we have yet to hear, likewise as to the receipts of a lecture delivered by the Rev. William Alvin Bartlett, entitled "The Story of the Chicago Fire." For the present week the following benefits are announced:—The B. and P. O. of Elks are to give a matinee benefit at the Academy of Music Oct. 26th, when it is thought that some three hundred performers, from the principal minstrel and variety halls of this and other cities, besides members of the equestrian profession, will take part. Mr. De Cordova is to deliver a new humorous lecture, entitled "The Dyspeptic Club of East Pictown," on Oct. 24th, at Association Hall, and a matinee benefit will be given at the new St. James Theatre, in 28th street, on Wednesday, Oct. 25th.

JOHN BROUGHAM'S burlesque of "Pocahontas" is the attraction at the Union Square Theatre, with the Misses Belle Howitt, Lizzie Wilson and Lizzie Kelsey in the cast, Mr. Lemingwell appearing as Powhatan.

M'LLE MORLACHI passed through the city to-day, Oct. 23d, en route for Boston, Mass.

HARRY CLIFFORD returned to the city to-day, Oct. 23d, having been called away by the severe illness of his little boy.

THE BURTON DRAMATIC ASSOCIATION commence their twenty-second season on Thursday evening, the 26th, at Terrace Garden. The bill comprises "Time Tries All," "Perfection" and "A Cup of Tea." Miss Ida Yerance, Effie Yerance and Lizzie Osborn, members of the B. D. A. last season, have all procured lucrative engagements, and on this occasion the Burton boys will present five new lady candidates for public favor.

SAMUEL E. RYAN and George W. Van Voorst have purchased the dramatic agency, business conducted by Messrs. Rugby and Fitzgerald, at 631 Broadway, and they through a card elsewhere, solicit a continuance of the patronage accorded to the old firm.

HY. CUNNINGHAM, dramatic agent, 636 Broadway, advertises that he is prepared to negotiate engagements for the following artists:—Kate Brevoort, Jennie Benson and la petite Maggie, Annie Hindle, J. S. Murphy and Fanny Archer, Julia Breban, Thomas Alvin, Victor Liston, Walter Melville, with his boy Young America, Sidney Columbus and James Kelly, all variety performers; also, for Little Vic and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donaldson, burlesque artists.

MR. SOTHERN arrived in this city, from England, Oct. 17th, by the steamship Scotia.

H. A. B. Williams, who has been with Robinson's Circus during the tenting season, passed through the city the past week on his way to Providence, R. I.

MR. W. H. SMITH, the business manager of the Metropolitan Theatre, San Francisco, Cal., has arrived in this city, and will remain here to secure attractions for that theatre. James M. Ward is engaged to open there in "Through by Daylight," Nov. 13th. Mr. Smith's permanent address will be in care T. Allston Brown's dramatic agency, 718 and 720 Broadway.

W. M. HOLLAND'S DRAMATIC COMPANY sailed for Charleston, S. C., per steamship Georgia, Oct., 21st. The following ladies and gentlemen comprise the company:—Miss Effie Johns, stock star; W. J. Halpine, J. C. Morrison, T. Meagher, Charles Harkins, A. Trumble, Frank Wright, Harry Meadows, Miss Eliza Calvo, Jenny Tyson, Fanny Tyson, S. Davies and Mrs. Rachel Cantor.

AT THE SAN FRANCISCO MINSTRELS, in the first part, C. Templeton sang "Farewell Mother," and Charley Backus a comic song, entitled the "Female Pirate," which were the only novelties in that portion of the entertainment. The fresh acts in the second part were a vocal quartet entitled "Speed Away," sung by Templeton, Dwyer, Shattuck and Oberist, which was received with much favor, and an extravagant sketch, written by Bobby Newcomb, entitled "Good Boys; or, Children of the Period," in which Billy Birch, Charley Backus, Bobby Newcomb and others appeared. It was quite successful, and sent the audience away in the best of humor.

WACHTEL repeated his performance, at the Stadt Theatre, in "Lucia von Lammermoor," on Oct. 20th, and in the "Postillion von Lonjemeau" on the 18th. On the 20th he sang in the "Magic Flute," and this evening he is announced to sing in "William Tell."

THE "OCTOROON," with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hall in prominent characters, has been the attraction at Wood's Museum at the evening performances and Saturday matinee during the past week, and at the other matinees the "Gunsmaker of Moscow" and the farce entitled the "Steeple Chase," have been performed.

MR. AND MRS. W. J. FLORENCE and "Eileen Oge" continued to attract good sized audiences at the Grand Opera House during the past week. Mr. Florence has recovered his health, and his impersonation of Bryan O'Farrell is in consequence more vigorous and humorous. A large audience attended the concert given by Fisk, Jr.'s Ninth Regiment Band, on Sunday evening, Oct. 22d. The following vocalists and instrumental performers assisted:—Signorina Faretie, Miss Emma Cline, Mr. Levy, Messrs. Templeton, Dwyer, Shattuck, and Oberist, and M'lle Castellan and M'lle De Try. Carl Bergmann was the conductor, and Mr. Downing the leader of the band.

AT THE FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE, judging from the liberal attendance, the desire to witness "Divorce" appears by no means abated.

G. L. FOX, as clown; C. K. FOX, as pantaloon; the Kiralfy ballet troupe; the Mariona Family; Young Adonis and little Venus; the Zig-Zags; little Jennie Yeamans; the Russian dancers; Herr Willis, the sprite, with others combined, with the attractions of beautiful scenery and pleasing music, serve to render the pantomime of "Humpty Dumpty" one of the most enjoyable entertainments now presented in this city, while the large nightly attendance at the Olympic attests that the management has hit the popular taste.

JOSEPH MURPHY commenced an engagement at the Bowery Theatre on Oct. 16th, acting in Fred. G. Maeder's drama entitled "Help." As we have already reviewed his performances in this drama, we need only add that it has been placed upon the stage in a creditable manner, and seems to please, in a great degree, the patrons of this theatre, who have accorded it a liberal patronage. The performances each evening have commenced with a farce.

THE LOVERS OF EQUESTRIAN, gymnastic and acrobatic exercises have had an excellent opportunity to gratify their tastes by attending the performances at Dan Rice's Paris Pavilion Circus during the past week. An attractive programme was offered, calculated to please not only the children but those of maturer years. Dan Rice appeared in the ring, in motley garb, at each performance. His success has been so great that continued performances are announced for the present week, which will be the last of the season.

MRS. CHARLES MOULTON made her debut upon the concert stage at Steinway Hall, on Monday evening, Oct. 16th, before a large audience. Her opening selection was "Bel Raggio," from the opera of "Semiramide;" which is considered a test song for a soprano. Her voice, which is, strictly speaking, a mezzo-soprano, is remarkably pure in tone and her execution may be considered wonderful. She exhibited a slight degree of nervousness, which gradually wore off as the programme progressed. She was rapturously applauded, and was the recipient of a large number of floral offerings. We may pronounce her success unqualified. Signors Ronconi, baritone; Sarasate, violinist; Leoni, amateur tenor, and Miss Agnes Palmer, contralto, were well received. An orchestra under the direction of Signor Bosoni rendered valuable assistance. Concerts were also given on the evenings of Oct. 17th, 20th, and a matinee on the 21st.

MR. FRANK MAYO closed his engagement at Niblo's with the performances of Saturday evening, October 21st, having continued during the week his excellent impersonation of Badger, in the "Streets of New York." This evening, Oct. 23d, Mr. E. A. Sothern, who returns to America after an absence of some ten years, will commence an engagement, appearing as Lord Dundreary, in "Our American Cousin." He will have the support of the Misses Amy Roselle, Nelly Kemp and Jenny Lee, from the London, Eng., theatres, and John T. Raymond, who has been especially engaged to play Asa Trenchard.

THE THEATRE COMIQUE was re-opened Oct. 16th. The performance commenced with a Dutch sketch entitled "Schneider's One Night in a Bar-room," after which Connors and Bradley performed a song and dance; then the Arabian Brothers performed some acrobatic feats; Larry Tooley executed a Dutch song and dance, which was followed by the Sisters Rawlinson, who danced in their accustomed style; Barney Gilmore appeared in their entertainment, after which Dillon sang a number of comic songs, in character, after which Miss Kitty O'Neil danced a jig, which was rapturously applauded; Master Martin gave a contortion song and dance, and in response to a recall performed in a very clever manner a number of acrobatic feats; Miss Lena Ellis made her American debut in character songs, with rapid changes of costume—her songs, although fairly rendered, possessed no novelty. Succeeding this the corps de ballet, Herr Carle, and the Misses Emma and Little Carle, performed a divertissement entitled "The Rivals;" Connors and James Bradley appeared in an act called the "Mulcahey Twins," which was followed by a performance upon the bird trapeze, by the Arabian Brotoers. During this performance, while one of the brothers was holding the other suspended in the air by a strap buckled around the waist with a thong, which the first held in his teeth, the strap gave way, and the acrobat was precipitated upon the stage beneath, which speedily concluded the portion of the performance. A burlesque sketch called "Freemasonry Exposed" concluded the performance. The attendance was fair. Miss Jennie Hughes, serio-comic vocalist; Miss Ada Wray, songs, with banjo accompaniment; the St. Felix ballet troupe; a new sketch by John F. Poole, introducing the Female Minstrels, and a local sketch called the "Mayor's Arrest; or, the Committee of 70 and 71," are announced as the fresh attractions for the present week.

THE ELDER MRS. SEGUIN, while attending the performances of the Parepa-Rosa English Opera Troupe, at the Academy of Music, last week, received the wholly unanticipated tidings of the death of a married daughter—Mrs. Jennie Frodsham—who perished in consequence of the Chicago disaster. Mrs. Seguin swooned on receipt of the news, and is removed to her residence.

MISS SAIDEE COLE proposes starring in Miss Olive Logan's comedy of "Surf."

Dramatic.

To Managers, Agents, Doorkeepers and Others.

Every regularly authorized correspondent of the NEW YORK CLIPPER is supplied with the necessary credentials, in the shape of a card, with an engraving of the CLIPPER Building on one side, and on the other the name of the correspondent, city, etc., signed by the proprietor of the paper, with the stamp of the office, and date of Sept. 1st, 1871, affixed thereto, each card running for six months, when new ones will be issued on the return of the old, but one representative being recognized in each place. We particularly request that managers of entertainments will decline extending favors to any person representing himself as correspondent of this paper who cannot produce the card referred to. By acceding to this request, managers will not be imposed on by irresponsible parties. Cards are only issued to correspondents of the amusement department of this paper. Parties applying for the position of correspondent are especially requested to consider silence a negative.

MEMBERS OF THE PROFESSION who suffered by the late conflagration in Chicago, Ill., who may desire to advertise for engagements, are informed that the advertising columns of the CLIPPER are open to them free of all charge.

THE ATTENDANCE AT FOX'S AMERICAN THEATRE, Philadelphia, during the week ending Oct. 21st, has been the largest yet known at this place of amusement, standing room being at a premium, especially on the evening of Saturday, the 21st inst. The cause of this large attendance may be attributed to various reasons, a desire to witness the wonderful performances of the Majiltons, who opened here on the 16th inst., being, perhaps, the principal one. The company, as at present in their act entitled "Les Trois Diables," in which their extraordinary flexibility of limb enables them to twist and turn the most grotesque capers, gaining for them tremendous applause. Mr. James S. Edwards very effectively sustains his various character songs, making his numerous changes with marvelous rapidity. Two of Mr. George W. Smith's admirably arranged ballets, entitled "Pas Melange" and "The Coral Nymphs," are introduced in the olio each evening, in which M'lle De Rosa appears in her graceful and well executed solos, supported by a host of coryphees. The evening's entertainment is varied by the efforts of the Ethiopian corps in the sketches of "The Haunted House," "The Happy Colored Couple" and "The Dancing Master," and the eccentricities of Charles A. Gardner in his Dutch character songs and act. The whole concluding with the comic pantomime of "Vol-Au-Vent. Frank and Lew Collins made their re-appearance here on the 21st inst. Miss Emma Grattan, serio-comic vocalist; Andy Hughes, the champion club swinger, and John T. Kelly, Irish comedian, commence engagements here on the 23d inst., and the last week of the Majiltons and James S. Edwards is announced.

MR. EDWIN FORREST concluded his very successful engagement of fifteen nights at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, on the evening of the 20th inst. During the last week of his engagement he appeared in "Othello," "Richelieu," "The Gladiator" and "King Lear," and his masterly impersonations were witnessed by very large audiences. On the afternoon and evening of the 21st inst. the drama of "The Long Strike" was enacted for the benefit of the Chicago sufferers. On Monday evening, the 23d inst., Mr. John E. Owens commences a two weeks' engagement, opening in "The Victims" and "Solon Shingle." The comedy of "Divorce" and the engagement of E. A. Sothern are among the novelties.

FROM INDIANAPOLIS, IND., our correspondent "Vagrantes" writes under date of Oct. 20th:—"During the current week Mr. Oliver Doud Byron has been playing in Arcade Hall. Continuing to accelerate in this piece and Mr. Byron's acting of the chief character is so well known, that I need not report at length; suffice it to say that the houses have been good, that Mr. Byron was well supported, and that the new scenery by Mr. T. B. Glessing was most excellently painted.....On the 23d, Lawrence Barrett appears in 'Rosedale'.....On Friday and Saturday last, the performances were for the benefit of the Chicago sufferers, and although the Saturday evenings' bill was changed, and considerable local attraction introduced, the houses were small and unprofitable."

AT SIMPSON'S MUSEUM, Philadelphia, the dramatic portion of the entertainment presented last week, included the drama of 'Strathmore,' on the 16th, 17th and 18th inst., and the sensational drama of "East Lynne," on the 19th, 20th and 21st inst., with Miss Addie P. Kunkel in the leading characters. The various characters in "East Lynne" were, with very few exceptions, well sustained, especial praise being due to Mr. G. D. Chaplin as Sir Francis Levison, and Miss Kunkel as Lady Isabel and Madame Vine. Miss Kunkel concluded her engagement here on the 21st inst, and will be followed on the 23d inst., by G. Swain Buckley, in the new sensational play, "On the Track." Master William Bates, the fat boy, and the Aztec children, are now on exhibition here.

FROM BUFFALO we have the regular resume of theatrical affairs from our correspondent "Typo," dated Oct. 21st:—"At the Academy of Music, Mr. Neil Warner, supported by Miss Grace Rawlinson, has played to but moderate business. On Monday evening, 16th, 'A New Way to Pay Old Debts' was presented. The part of Sir Giles Overreach, assumed by Mr. Warner, was rendered with an earnestness that could not fail to please, although the gentleman is at times given to uncalled for vehemence. Miss Rawlinson, though evidently a novice, possesses a modest and pleasing demeanor, and gave the character of Margaret a faithful rendition. In the fourth act particularly, her abilities were displayed to fine advantage. Mr. Mordaunt's Wellborn was rendered with animation and faultless reading, and still further enhanced that gentleman's reputation as a first-class artist. Mr. E. T. Goodrich made his first appearance as Lord Lovell, and, we regret to state, had an unfavorable reception. His elocution requires great improvement. Bulwer's 'Richelieu' was given on Tuesday evening, with Mr. Warner in the title role, and Miss Rawlinson as Julie de Mortimer. For Wednesday night 'Macbeth' was presented, with Miss Amelia Waugh as Lady Macbeth. This character is by far too heavy for her abilities, as was amply proven. For Thursday evening's bill 'A New Way to Pay Old Debts' was repeated to a full house. For Mr. Warner's benefit, on Friday evening, the one act comedy of 'Delicate Ground' and the tragedy of 'Virginius' were enacted to the best house of the week. In the latter play Mr. Warner appeared to better advantage than in others of his repertoire. Miss Rawlinson portrayed Virginia with credit. For the matinee, this afternoon, 'Virginius' was repeated, and 'Richard III.' will be given this evening. Inclement weather and counter attractions have not conduced to a successful season during Mr. Warner's engagement. On Monday evening, 23d, Mr. Johnny Thompson will appear in the sensation drama entitled 'On Hand,' remaining one week."

J. W. NORTHCOTT, a prominent band-master, from New Zealand and Australia, is now open for engagements for reed or brass bands. See card in another column.

SIR SAUTH, late comedian of McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, another victim of the great fire, solicits engagements by advertising in the CLIPPER.

MISS KATE RANOE inaugurated the winter season as manageress at the Theatre Royal, Montreal, C. E., Oct. 17th. A. H. Phelps is the stage manager.

MISS LILLIE ELDRIDGE commenced a week's engagement at the Richmond, Va., theatre, on the 16th inst., opening with "Alma; or, Held in Bondage," in the principal character of which, writes our correspondent, on October 20th, "she engrossed the attention of an appreciative audience during the entire evening. On Tuesday evening, 'Alma' was repeated to another fair house. On Wednesday evening, 'School' was played, Mrs. E. A. Eberle taking the character of Beau Farincourt, and Mrs. Eldridge that for which Mrs. Eberle was origin several scenes painted by Seavey, of New York, have arrived, while Mrs. Walker's artist is busy at work in the building on the balance of the scenery. The patent iron folding chairs are being put in. With the exception of the ushers, the Smalley brothers, there is not an old face about the establishment. Even Mike, the gas and carbon man, an old standby of the theatre, has been left high and dry. Thomas Hurley, a former local of the Fred Whig, has been appointed principal doorkeeper, while Steve Bellan, of the Haymakers, will take care of the gallery. Mrs. Walker's nephew will be the treasurer. The new theatre will be called by the old name, Griswold Opera House, in honor of Hon. John A. Griswold, who, by the way, is pecuniarily interested in the building. 'The Lady of Lyons' has been selected as the opening piece."

ONE OF THE MOST CHARMING COMEDIES that has been presented in Pittsburgh this season, was that of "Saratoga," which was given at the Pittsburgh Opera House on the 16th, 17th and 18th inst. Lawrence Barrett impersonated the role of Bob Sackett, and performed his part excellently. The entire cast seemed to be generally satisfactory. Mr. Gotthold's Jack Benedict, and Mr. Elister's William Carter were especially praiseworthy efforts. The comedy itself is light, cheerful and humorous, the plot being just sufficiently deep to enlist close attention, and the dialogue is graceful and unhackneyed. The tragedy of "Damon and Pythias," with Messrs. Barrett and Gotthold as the well-matched friends, was produced on the 19th, under the patronage of the Grand Order of the Knights of Pythias, who attended in a body. On the 19th, a matinee was advertised to be given for the relief of the Chicago sufferers, but there was no audience to give a performance to. "Saratoga" was announced as the attraction, and Mr. Barrett and the stock company were in complete readiness to do their share for the relief of suffering humanity, but as their was no attendance, it was indefinitely postponed. "The Man o'Airle" will be presented on the 20th for Mr. Barrett's benefit. Wm. Leake will be the star this (next) week....."Neck and Neck" has held the boards all the week at the Fifth Avenue Opera House, with B. T. Stetson in the role of Walter Wilmarth. To say that this drama is thrillingly sensational is to truthfully express what it really is. Such scenes as an execution on a scaffold, an express train about to be shattered to atoms, and only saved by a miracle; terrible struggles, exciting tableaux and declamatory dialogue, are the conspicuous features of "Neck and Neck." Mr. Stetson's acting is natural and effective, and at times vigorously applauded. The stock company uniformly played well. A matinee was given on the 18th for the benefit of the Chicago poor. The gross receipts were contributed to the relief fund. Miss Augusta Dargon will commence a brief engagement on the 23d inst. She will open in "Camille," and during the week will appear in "School for Scandal," "London Assurance," "Honeymoon," etc. This lady has hosts of friends in Pittsburgh, and a warm greeting awaits her. Thus wrote our regular correspondent, Oct. 20th.

JOHN TEMPLETON'S DRAMATIC COMPANY performed during the past, fair week, at Selma, Ala.

MISS FANNY B. PRICE, supported by a dramatic company under the management of D. Hanchett, performed at Fort Wayne, Ind., during the past week, and is billed to remain the present, thence to Logansport for one week, commencing Oct. 30th.

WILLIAM MARBLE'S COMEDY COMPANY performed in St. Charles, Minn., Oct. 16th.

STUART ROBSON was the star at the Coates Opera House, Kansas City, Mo., during the past week.....M'me Jananschek and company commence an engagement on the 23d.

"THE FAR WEST; OR, THE BOUNDING FAWN," has been sold to Mrs. Ettie Henderson, by Mr. J. J. McCloskey, for a valuable consideration. For further particulars read the gentleman's card in this issue.

LITTLE NELL commenced an engagement at Toronto, Ont., Oct. 16th, opening in "Katy Did," writes our correspondent, on Oct. 19th, to a packed house, which she repeated till Friday, when she gave the 'Hidden Hand' and other attractions for her benefit, when the attendance was large. 'Katy Did' was repeated on Saturday night. The support was good, with one or two exceptions that of Miss Lonsdale as Sybil being the most noticeable. James Ward opens here on the 23d, in 'Through by Daylight.'"

CINCINNATI THEATRICAL news, up to the 20th, are given by our correspondent, to the following effect:—"Business has not improved much at either Wood's or Pike's over last week, and neither hall has done much more than pay expenses. The Wyndhams opened their second week at Wood's with their double benefit for Chicago, giving the 'Liar' and 'Mephisto's Mission' for the matinee Monday, and 'Liar' for benefit in the evening. The house was a substantial one, though not so large as that at Pike's the previous week, $1,338.50 being turned into the relief fund as the profits of the performances. 'Ours' was repeated on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and seemed to be well relished, though the second act was almost spoiled by a dingy drawing-room scene; and the march of the troops at the close of the act, which ought to make a fine feature of the play, was rendered ridiculous by running over two or three 'supers' without arms. Charles Wyndham figured very advantageously as Hugh Chaicote. His manner and articulation are a little too strongly English to take well at first, but he improves on acquaintance, and acts very naturally and spiritedly. Miss Sidney Cowell deserves the same commendation for her impersonation of Mary Netley, which was really sparkling. Jane Rignold was assigned to the leading part of Blanche Haye, but for some reason did not play it, and the part was only tolerably rendered by her substitute. The farce of 'A Happy Pair,' acted by Edgar Bruce and Miss Cowell, preceded the play. 'Caste' was given again in excellent style last evening (Thursday), the Eccles of Mr. Holston being capital; and to-night another Robertsonian comedy, 'Home,' is to be the attraction. The week of the troupe concludes to-morrow night, and on Monday Abbott's pantomime company open for a week in the 'Three Hunchbacks.' At the conclusion of the pantomime the regular company, with Mr. Macauley, will return from Louisville, where they have been supporting Edwin Adams, and sustain Miss Forrest, who commenced with the 30th. The Jane Coombs troupe commences their second week at Pike's with a repetition of 'London Assurance;' on Tuesday the 'Wife's Secret' was repeated; on Wednesday 'Love's Sacrifice, and on Thursday 'School for Scandal,' were each given the second time. All of these plays were also acted more than once at Mozart Hall last spring by the same troupe. It might not be impertinent to remark therefore that something fresh in the repertory of the combination would probably attract better. Those who have attended, however, have been greatly pleased with the elegant performances of the members of the company, particularly in the romantic plays, in which they are more successful than in the very modern. To-night (Friday), 'Romeo and Juliet' is the programme, and will probably attract a good house. The stay of the company winds up with the week. It has been a misfortune to both these fine comedy companies to have been pitted against each other, as they each attract the same style of audiences, while people of a different taste have had nothing to amuse them. Next (this) week we shall not only have the 'Three Hunchbacks,' but the 'Royal Japanese' at Mozart Hall. Mark Smith opens at Pike's on Monday, 23d, and on the 30th, he will be followed by Theodore Thomas, with his orchestra."

OUR SAN FRANCISCO correspondent, under date of Oct. 14th, reports as follows:—"Mrs. Bowers' six weeks' engagement at the California, which closes to-night, for two things has been a remarkable. First, for complete success in all senses dear to the professional heart; and, second, for the great variety of characters impersonated by the tragedienne. The advantage—but whether it is utilized always is a matter of doubt—which provincial critics have for arriving at a correct estimate of an artist's abilities, by reason of the necessity of frequent change of play, has in this engagement received striking illustration. While to the large cities Mrs. Bowers is chiefly known in Lady Audley, Juliet, and one or two other characters, it it has been our privilege to view her through nearly twenty creations in tragedy, comedy and drama. In this list are embraced Lady Audley, Elizabeth, Julia, Lady Teazle, Mary Stuart, Margaret Elmore, Juliet, Parthenia, Nell Gwynne, Lady Macbeth, Constance, Lady Isabel, Beatrice, Amy Robsart, Jane Shore, Camille, Pauline, Mrs. Oakley and Meg Merrilies. These are characters forming worthy vehicles for the conveyance of imaginative and impassioned power and the expression of artistic skill. The revelation of versatility Mrs. Bowers made in embodying them, manifested in swift, electrical, heart-touching tragedy, and in sparkling, breezy comedy, was an exhibition in which was shown a profound sympathy with human nature and experience, and possession of beautiful gifts of refinement, culture and mentality. Whether as Lady Audley, in subtleness, sinuosity and fascination; as Juliet, in tender poetry and romance; as Beatrice, in elegance and brilliance of raillery, or as Mary Stuart in sweetness, dignity and forbearance, Mrs. Bowers' impersonations have never been equaled on the local stage. And to say she is closer to the hearts of the people and is the most popular actress that has visited San Francisco, is simply to utter a recognized truth. The week opened on the 9th with 'Camille,' in which Edwards was fine as Mons. Duval, and McCullough was earnest as Armand Duval, but lacking something of the full exuberance of imagination and the fiery glow of passion characteristic of the French lover. The 'Lady of Lyons,' which followed on the 10th, is to be noted principally for a new Glavis in the person of Mr. Edmund Leathes, who carried out the character with ability. This young actor, who has already earned an excellent reputation for taste and judgment in costume, which has been acknowledged as well won by all classes of theatrical people, promises to ripen into a good impersonator of logs. 'Much Ado About Nothing' was given on the 11th for the relief of Chicago, Mrs. Bowers—who lost $50,000 worth of property by the fire—and the whole company volunteering their services. The receipts were $1,442 75. J. C. Williamson's Dogberry was a good idea not fully developed. 'The Hunchback' was repeated on the 12th, and on the 13th, for the benefit of Mrs. Bowers, 'Jealous Wife' and 'Guy Mannering' attracted a brilliant audience, the receipts rolling up the handsome sum of $1,443. 'Camille,' at the matinee to-day, and 'Jealous Wife' and 'Guy Mannering' in the evening, will bring Mrs. Bowers' engagement to a close. Frank Chanfrau commences next Monday, Oct. 16th, in 'Sam.'.....Of the other theatres there is but little to say. At the Metropolitan, 'Schneider,' with the introduction of new songs and dances, was continued on during the week to a good average business. A benefit on the 10th for the relief of Chicago netted $678.25. The attractions next week will consist of 'Jef,' with Billy Allen in the principal character, and the Lancashire Bell Ringers, just arrived from Australia. The next star will be Robt. McWade, who opens in 'Rip Van Winkle' Oct. 23d."

A SUBSCRIPTION for building a new Opera House in Denver, Colorado, was started on Sept. 6th. It is proposed that the edifice shall cost one hundred thousand dollars, and the par value of shares is placed at one hundred dollars each.

CARLETON AND FORRESTER'S DRAMATIC COMPANY performed at North Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 16th; East Attleboro, 17th; Mansfield, 18th; Foxboro, 19th; River Point, R. I., 20th and 21st, and is billed ahead as follows:—East Greenwich, 23d; Apponang, 24th; North Scituate, 25th; Georgiaville, 26th; Chepatchet, 27th, and Harrisville, 28th.

JOHN H. DAVIS, at present with Albert Aiken's dramatic company, and Miss Carrie Stoltz, danseuse, were married at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 13th.

THE WORRELL SISTERS—Sophie, Irene and Jennie—assisted by Mrs. Jenny Wilmore-Franck, Harry Jackson and others, performed during the past week at Raleigh, N. C.

MARSTON AND STONE'S DRAMATIC ALLIANCE, with Miss Amy Stone as the star, is billed ahead as follows:—Danville, Pa., Oct. 23d and 24th; Sunbury, 25th and 26th; Louisburg, 27th; Milton, 28th and 30th, and Williamsport, 31st, Nov. 1st and 2d.

FOR THE CHICAGO RELIEF FUND a matinee performance was given at the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa., on Saturday, Oct. 14th, when Lotta and the entire company gave their services gratuitously, and Mrs. John Drew the use of the theatre; the receipts were $463, 25.

FOR THE RELIEF OF THE PROFESSION ONLY IN CHICAGO, ILL., a matinée performance was given at the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa., on Wednesday, Oct. 18th, when Mrs. John Drew gave the use of the theatre as well as her own services; Lotta and every member of the company, the orchestra and attaches gave their services gratuitously and in addition thereto one night's salary, which netted the sum of $810.75. This sum was sent to Chicago, Ill., in care of Mr. Charles Jefferson, on Thursday, who was charged to distribute it immediately.

RELIEF FOR THE MEMBERS OF THE DRAMATIC PROFESSION who suffered by the Chicago conflagration. The Actors' Order of Friendship, of Philadelphia, Pa., have a reserve fund payable at sight, and a considerable quantity of necessary articles of wardrobe, which they hold to relieve the wants of any of the Chicago members of the profession who may pass that way. We are also informed that three or four good utility people can secure engagements. Any one passing that way may communicate with Mr. Alexander Fisher, the secretary of the A. O. O. F. at Davenport's Chestnut Street Theatre. The following speaks for itself:—

A meeting of the Actors' Order of Friendship was held at their hall, No. 828 North Eighth street, on Oct. 14, 1871, for action in the Chicago Relief Fund, when the following resolutions were unanimously passed:—

Resolved, That the sum of $1,000 be appropriated for the relief of all Brothers of the A. O. O. F. who are suffering from the late unanimous conflagration in Chicago; and that $300 be appropriated to the general fund for the relief of all other members of the dramatic profession suffering from the late cause.

Resolved, That a committee of five brothers be appointed to cooperate with the managers of the various city theatres in the raising of a fund for the relief of the dramatic profession buffering from the above-mentioned cause, and devise the best method of distributing the same.

Committee appointed—Gen. Geo. W. Gile, chairman; Thomas A'Beckett, Alex. Fisher, Chestnut Street Theatre; H. B. Snyder, Arch Street Theatre; Daniel E. Reilly, Walnut Street Theatre.

Resolved, That the following brothers constitute a general relief committee:—

Chicago—Joseph Jefferson; Buffalo—Benj. G Rogers: New York—Managers Lewis Baker and Wm. Wheatley; Pittsburgh and Cleveland—Manager John A. Elister; Indianapolis—Manager W. H. Leake; Rochester—F. J. Martin; Boston—F. F. Mackay; Brooklyn—Fred Chippendale; Baltimore—Joseph Parker; Galveston—Vinnig Bowers; Philadelphia—Geo. W. Gile, W. H. Jones, John Paul.

And that all members of the profession in Chicago communicate with the Committee immediately.

Attest—ALEX. FISHER, Sec. A. O. O. F.

CONCERNING AMUSEMENTS in Newark, N. J., our correspondent, writing under date of Oct. 20th, says:—"Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watkins gave a performance of 'Trodden Down' at the Opera House on the 17th inst., before a small audience. The play was well presented and deserving of a better house. Morris Simmonds was the manager.....On the 18th inst. Mr. James M. Ward, under the management of Harry Clarke, gave a performance of 'Through by Daylight,' to a fair audience. The company was fair only. Mr. Ward gave a fine performance of George Glenny and was several times encored. .....On the 19th inst. Mr. J. K. Emmets appeared as 'Fritz, Our Cousin German.' A large audience was in attendance, and the play produced in an excellent manner. To-night he makes his last appearance, when 'Carl' will be produced.....On the 21st John E. Owens is announced to appear in 'Everybody's Friend' and 'Solon Shingle.'.....The Lydia Thompson Burlesque Company commence a short season on the 26th inst.....Prof. Risley's Japs are underlined for an early appearance."

THE STAR DRAMATIC COMPANY, a new organization, under the management of A. A. Armstrong, closed a three nights' engagement at Beloit, Wis., Oct. 18th, and went thence to Mount Carmel, Ill., Fulton and Moline. The company is as follows:—George Pardey, Ed. L. Mortimer, G. R. Dubois, H. Hayes, the Misses Joey Pardey, Emma Stowe, Lue Mortimer, Jennie Morgan and A. Brandt, musical director. While performing in Woodstock, the previous week, the male members of the company rendered efficient service at a disastrous fire and were instrumental in saving a large amount of property. They were presented with a highly complimentary letter, signed by the president and board of trustees of that town and a large number of the leading merchants, endorsing their conduct and performances, and recommending them to the people of the neighboring towns.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN engaged for Griswold's Opera House, Troy, N. Y., are requested to assemble in the green room, by Mrs. Emma Waller, on Oct. 25th, as per card in our advertising columns.

WILDE'S OPERA HOUSE, Syracuse, N. Y., is, we are happy to be informed, doing an extensive business, and to aid in keeping up the success, Manager Frank Wilde is advertising for additional talent in this week's CLIPPER.

CONCERNING THEATRICALS in St. Louis, Mo., our correspondent sends the following report, dated Oct. 20th:—"Notwithstanding the depressing effect produced by the great fire, our places of amusement have met with a goodly share of encouragement. The Ella Wren, Lanauze and her company have been the attraction. On Monday night, 'Medea' was given to a good house, as was 'Mary Stuart' on the night following. Wednesday, 'Fazio' was produced, with Jananschek as Bianca, and Milnes Levick in the title role. Thursday night, 'Chesney Wold' was produced for the first time in this city. The play is new, and is founded on Charles Dickens' story of 'Bleak House,' and owes its dramatic prominence to H. Gardiner Rendle. Jananschek's stage manager. The piece throughout is filled with interest and startling effects. Lady Honoria Dedlock, by Madame Jananschek, was an excellent portrayal of the cold, hardened and calculating woman. The support rendered by Milnes Levick, as Sir Leicester Dedlock; Weaver, as Mr. Tulkinghorn; Rendle as Hon. Bob Stapies; Jack, as Inspector Bucket, and Miss Rucker, as Guppy; Miss Annie Firman, as Esther Summerson; Mrs. H. A. Weaver, as Mrs. Bouncewell; Kate Denin, as Volumina Dedlock, were excellent, while the Jo of Miss Affaime elicited warm and frequent rounds of applause. 'Chesney Wold' will continue for the rest of the week, and will be given for the matinee. On the 23d, Dominick Murray will appear in 'Shaun, the Post,' supported by the stock of the theatre, who will return from their three weeks' provincial tour.....At the Olympic, Mrs. J. A. Oates continues to enliven the numbers that congregate to witness her comical renditions. It is seldom we are able to witness as much care and forethought as is evinced by this company throughout. On Oct. 15th, for the first time in St. Louis, was given the extravaganza entitled 'Fortunio and His Gifted Servants,' with costumes of the richest description, which, with additional scenic effects, together with the excellent acting of the company, made the play an entire success, as the business during its run of four nights of the week fully testified. Mrs. Oates as the Hon. Miss Myrtina was very pleasing, displaying much suavity and grace. The choruses were excellent, both in voice and time. To-night 'Fortunio' is displaced by 'The Prima Donna of an Hour' and 'Was the Good for Nothing,' for Mrs. Oates' benefit. Saturday, for the matinee, 'Fortunio' will be given, with 'Daughter of the Regiment,' for the evening, which will terminate their engagement here. On the 23d Mrs. D. P. Bowers will open in 'Lady Audley's Secret,' supported by the regular stock of the theatre. Business during present week not brilliant but good."

AT ROBERTS' OPERA HOUSE, Hartford, Conn., writes our correspondent, on Oct. 23d:—"Miss Kate Reignolds gave a good entertainment to a poor house, Oct. 16th.....The Lydia Thompson troupe performed on the 17th and 18th in the burlesques of 'Sinbad' and 'Ixion.' The extra charge for admission did not prevent large audiences from attending.....Rose and Harry Watkins gave performances the 20th and 21st. 'Trodden Down' and 'Pioneer Patriot,' were performed to very good audiences."

FROM CHICAGO, Ill., our regular correspondent sends us the following, dated Oct. 20th:—"The terrible conflagration is the theme of conversation with every citizen of Chicago, up to the present writing. Amusements are generally considered among the things that were. Col. Wood has leased the Globe Theatre at an exorbitant price, and intends to commence operations on the 21st. The theatre is undergoing a thorough cortege of repairs, and being the only desirable place for a theatre now in the city, the Colonel will undoubtedly make a paying investment. Rumor has it that McVicker is negotiating for Standard Hall, to be fitted up as a theatre, but we believe nothing definite has been settled upon as yet. R. M. Hooley, we understand, is also looking up a site. So much excitement has prevailed since the great fire, that it is utterly impossible to learn anything in the way of theatrical business, at present writing. The people Joseph Wheelock started for Baltimore, Md., last evening, where he has effected an engagement with Jno. T. Ford. Mr. Wheelock lost nearly the whole of his elegant wardrobe. Mrs. F. W. Lander, who was to have commenced an engagement at Aiken and Hooley's, on the 9th, lost her entire wardrobe. Mr. Albert Crosby, proprietor of the Opera House, is said to have lost $40,000. Mr. Joe Jefferson has been in the city several days, assisting his brother professionals. Relief is coming in from all quarters, for which the generous donors have the heartfelt thanks of the entire Chicago profession."

FLORA MYERS' THEATRE COMPANY played a three nights' engagement at Music Hall, Taunton, Mass., commencing the 16th. The company is as follows:—Flora Myers of the Woods," "Octoroon" and "Colleen Bawn." Business was poor, as the city has been overrun with shows lately.....On the 18th John Collins was at the Athenæum in the "Colleen Bawn." The receipts of both companies were about equal.

AT PETERSBURG, VA., business at the Theatre Comique continues very good. Mr. Jno. Eagan, Irish comedian, opened there on Oct. 15th, and was well received.....The new theatre that has been built at that place will be opened by Mr. Jno. T. Ford on Oct. 24th, and as that is fair week business will, no doubt, be good.....The Sophie Worrell party was there for two nights; business was good the first night, but on the second night Jno. Robinson's Circus took everybody in the town.....The Fremaine Brothers are billed for Oct. 26th at Mechanics' Hall.

STRONG'S DRAMATIC CONSTELLATION came to grief in Little Washington, Pa., the manager being arrested, just as they were leaving for Pittsburgh, for "debts contracted" for hall, etc. Nellie Tannehill and a few more started out on their own hook, and were at Connellsville, Pa., and thereabouts during the past week.

THE NEW OPERA HOUSE at Utica, N. Y., was inaugurated on Monday evening, Oct. 16th, says our correspondent, writing on Oct. 21st, "with an excellent performace of Bulwer's 'Lady of Lyons.'" The following was the cast:—Pauline, Mrs. N. C. Forrester; Claude Melnotte, Mr. N. C. Forrester; Madame Deschapelles, Miss Louisa Watson; Widow Melnotte, Miss Bertie Smith; Marion, Miss Jennie Newman; Col. Damas, Mr. J. Sambrook; M. Beauseant, Mr. S. J. Maddox; M. Glavis, Mr. G. W. Reed; M. Dechappelles, Mr. H. St. Leon; Landlord, Mr. N. Henderson; Gaspard, Mr. J. Wilkes; Notary, Mr. A. Schwartz. In the succeeding farce of 'Poor Pillicody,' Miss Newman and Mr. W. Henderson kept the audience in a continuous roar. Mrs. Henderson, Miss Smith and Mr. H. St. Leon also gave satisfaction. Both plays were made complete by the perfect scenery and the elegant costumes of the performers. At the close of the first play Mr. and Mrs. Forrester were called before the curtain, and were presented with an elegantly arranged basket of natural flowers. Mr. Forrester responded with a neat little speech, which was received by the audience with hearty applause. The hall on Monday night was crowded from pit to dome, no less than 2,400 persons being present, but during the week there has been considerable falling off in the attendance. On Saturday afternoon a grand matinee was given for the benefit of the sufferers by the great fires at Chicago, Wisconsin and Michigan; one-third of the receipts to be devoted to each."

THE REGULAR DRAMATIC SEASON at the St. Charles Theatre, New Orleans, La., was inaugurated Sunday, Oct. 15th, with W. Horace Lingard's company, who performed "Elfie; or, The Cherry Tree Inn."

THE BENEFIT FOR THE CHICAGO SUFFERERS given at Wall's Opera House, Washington, D. C., on Oct. 12th, by Mlle. Moriacchi, the Majiltons, and the regular company from the Holliday Street Theatre, Baltimore, Md., although announced but ten hours previous, netted the sum of $618.

MISS JANE COOMBS and her dramatic company are announced to commence a brief season at Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23d.

EDWIN FORREST is announced to commence an engagement at Columbus, O., Oct. 23d, supported by a dramatic company under the management of John A. Elister, Jr.

THE LISA WEBER BURLESQUE TROUPE is announced to perform at Louisville, Ky., Oct. 23d, 24th and 25th; Evansville, Ind., 26th and 27th; Terre Haute, 28th, and Indianapolis one week, commencing the 30th. Miss Weber has recently added a new burlesque to her repertoire called "Little Mephistopheles," with nearly all the music of "Petit Faust," and original music by Mullaly. Miss Marion Taylor will play Faust; Mr. Drew, Margeretta; Lisa Weber, Mephisto, and James Vincent, Marths.

LANNIER'S DRAMATIC COMPANY were at Rutland, Vt., Oct. 16th, 17th and 18th; Brandon, 19th, 20th and 21st; Middlebury, 23d, 24th and 25th. Fanny Garbanatti is the star.

MISS JENNIE HIGHY'S COMEDY COMPANY is announced to play one week in Lafayette, Ind., commencing Oct. 23d, thence to Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 30th, one week; then Decatur, Nov. 6th, one week; Jacksonville, 13th, one week, and then Peoria.

THE VARNEY DRAMATIC COMPANY collapsed at Canton, Ill., Oct. 12th.

THE WALLACK SISTERS are announced to perform at Titusville, Pa., Nov. 3d and 4th.

J. K. EMMET is to play at Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 30th and 31st.

MARK SMITH and his comedy combination closed a five nights' season at Columbus, O., Oct. 20th. They played in Springfield, 21st.

THEATRICAL AFFAIRS IN ALBANY, N. Y., are reported by our correspondent as follows, under date of Oct. 21st:—"At the Capital Theatre, Wm. Vershay's drama of 'Over the Falls' was played all the past week to fair business. It introduces Mr. James Maguire, who sustains three characters, those of Jerry Magee, Biddy Magee and Jolly Jack. Mr. Maguire has a keen appreciation of the taking qualities of the different disguises he assumes. Miss Mary Hill appeared as Mag; although she has but one scene, she was loudly applauded nightly. Mr. Learock appeared as Ralph Livingston, Wm. Foster as Dick Hargrave, H. Buckley as George Radcliffe, E. G. Packard as Mr. Raymond, Gracie Kiernan as Georgie Radcliff, Miss Widdman as Mary Radcliff. On the 23d inst. 'Humpty Dumpty' is announced for production, with Tony Denier as clown, Jas. M. Sloan as Pantaloon, Frank Foster as harlequin, Mlle. Linda De Rhons as Columbine. The wooden headed acrobats, American zig-zags and donkey will be introduced. Messrs. Henshaw and Seymour, song and dance artists, have been engaged to appear. Gracie Kiernan as Georgie Radcliff, Miss Widdman as Mary Radcliff. On the 23d inst. 'Humpty Dumpty' is announced for production, with Tony Denier as clown, Jas. M. Sloan as Pantaloon, Frank Foster as harlequin, Mlle. Linda De Rhons as Columbine. The wooden headed acrobats, American zig-zags and donkey will be introduced. Messrs. Henshaw and Seymour, song and dance artists, have been engaged to appear,

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

THEATRICALS, or other Advertisements coming under the head of Amusements, fifteen cents per line for each and every insertion.
FOR MISCELLANEOUS AND SPORTING Advertisements, twenty cents per line for each and every insertion.
Professional Notices in our News Department—such as notices from other papers, etc., thirty cents per line, the same not to be inserted more than once.
OUR TERMS ARE CASH. Advertisements to be paid for at the time of insertion.
A LIBERAL DEDUCTION from these rates will be made for Advertisements when paid for three months or longer in advance.
ALL BUSINESS LETTERS or communications must be addressed to FRANK QUEEN, to insure attention.
PUBLISHER AND PROPRIETOR NEW YORK CLIPPER, Corner Centre and Leonard streets, New York.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE ATTENTION

OF MANAGERS IS INVITED TO

ELLIOT'S ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.,

ACKNOWLEDGED THE MOST COMPLETE HOUSE FOR ALL KINDS OF
AMUSEMENTS IN THE STATE.
39-4t

NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

MARTIN'S HALL.

THE LARGEST HALL IN TOWN.
Thoroughly ventilated; drop curtain, footlights, ante-rooms, &c.
Terms reasonable. MARTIN & INGALLS,
30-13t Proprietors.

JAMES TAYLOR,

THE GREAT CHAMPION COMIQUE,
Having concluded a most successful tour of eighteen months in Canada, is now on his second tour through Maine. Commences a starring engagement on Nov. 18th, at the Howard Athenæum, Boston, for two weeks. A few vacant dates. Lowest terms, two hundred dollars per week. Address this office.
N. B.—I can also arrange for MISS ADA ALEXANDRA, the Beautiful Soprano and Serio-Comic Vocalist, and KATE RIDDELL, to perform the marvellous Mid-Air Suspension. 30-tf

WILL C. BURTON

AND

MISS MINNIE RAINFORTH

IN THEIR GREAT MILITARY SENSATION,

LIGHTNING ZOUAVE DRILL

AND

BAYONET COMBAT.

Miss R. is also a COMIC VOCALIST, and plays Chambermaids.
Mr. B., JUVENILES, LIGHT COMEDY and STRAIGHT BUSINESS. Have a good repertoire of short Melo-Dramas, suitable for afterpieces in Novelty Theatres. All business communications address WILL C. BURTON, 45 Centre Market Place, Baltimore, Md. 30-tf

WANTED,

CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE PROPERTY.

Parties having Property pertaining to the Circus and Menagerie Business, or an Entire Outfit, which they wish to dispose of, can find a Cash Buyer by addressing, stating full particulars.
30-4t* SELLS BROTHERS, Box 463, Columbus, O.

ELOCUTION.

MADAME IVON C. MICHELS, of Niblo's Theatre, gives LESSONS IN ELOCUTION. Pupils Prepared for the Stage, the Lecture Hall and Reading Room.
30-2t* For terms apply at 245 East Thirteenth street.

INDIANAPOLIS.

WANTED,
A FIRST OLD MAN. State lowest salary.
30-1t* LEAKE & DICKSON.

KENT'S HALL,

KENT, OHIO,
RECENTLY FINISHED,
HAS A GOOD STAGE, SCENERY, DROP CURTAIN, DRESSING ROOMS, &c. SEATS 500.
Good Show Town for First-class Entertainments.
30-1t* Address H. L. KENT, Kent, Ohio.

FRANK H. ELLISON,

WITH "KATY PUTNAM COMEDY COMPANY," will send his Address to T. B. ELLISON, 30-1t* Darlington, Wis.

THE VICTORELLI FAMILY,

HENRY, ANNIE,
OSCAR AND LITTLE VICTOR,
open at Baltimore, Nov. 6th; Pittsburgh, Dec. 11th; Nashville, Jan. 11th. Address H. VICTORELLI, Clipper Office. 30-1t*

TALENT WANTED,

IMMEDIATELY, with good wardrobe, to travel with GILBERT SISTERS' DRAMATIC COMPANY, through the South; good Leading Man, "must be sober"; also a Walking Lady, one that can sing and is handsome preferred. Address, stating lowest terms, management paying board and traveling expenses, 30-3t* JOHN V. GILBERT, Manager, Columbia, Tenn.

S. A. ROBINSON,

who can be addressed at BRYAN, OHIO, wants to secure a Side Show privilege for season of 1872. 30-1t

LOUIS SZOLLOSY,

whose forces are Ballet Master and Pantomimes, Tableaux, Marches, etc., hereby solicits an early engagement, having been ruined at the late Chicago fire. Managers will please address me at Westchester House, corner of Broome street and Bowery, N. Y. city. 30-3t*

WANTED,

BY A YOUNG GENTLEMAN AND LADY,
an engagement with a first-class troupe to travel for the winter. The lady as Comic Balladist and the light parts, and the man as agent, property man or some other capacity.
Address, for one week, J. B. C.,
30-2t* Boston Post Office, Mass.

HARRY LINDEN,

COMEDIAN,
May be addressed care of DOWNER & BEMIS,
30-3t* No. 90 South Park avenue, Chicago, Ill.

LANGDON'S

NICHOLAS HALL, SARATOGA SPRINGS.
Recently refitted. New Stage and Dressing Room. Seats 800 persons. Apply to G. W. LANGDON, Saratoga Springs, N. Y. [30-8t

TO THEATRICAL MANAGERS.

—I wish to warn you against one GEO. A. BAILEY, who has committed himself discreditably in his transactions with me. Coming to me friendless and penniless last season, I befriended him, and under his word of honor that he would stay with me the present season at a stated salary, if I would keep him through the summer months, I did so. During a misunderstanding in engagement of my company at Nashville, this ungrateful fellow sent in his resignation without giving me as much as one day's notice, and his name in the bill. Let managers look out for him if they would not be disappointed.
30-2t* JNO. V. DALY'S Fifth Avenue Company.
Manager Gilbert sisters' Dramatic Company.

NOTICE—ANY ONE KNOWING

the whereabouts of Erskine M. Church, who married Fanny Florence (actress), in 1861 or '62, will confer a favor by addressing his sister, Elizabeth Burdick, Delphi, Onondaga Co., N. Y. [30-1t*

THE GREAT DOUBLE TEAM,

BILLY BURKE AND CHARLEY KING,
The Ethiopian Comedians, now with JAMES ROBINSON'S CIRCUS, will be open for engagements with Minstrels or First Class Variety Halls, after October 23d. Business, Banjo, Ends, and their New and Original Specialties. Address BURKE AND KING, 30-1t* Everett House, St. Louis, Mo.

THE CHICAGO FIRE

HAS CRIPPLED
BUT NOT RUINED US.
We still have facilities for PRINTING 20,000 SHEETS
ON OUR REMAINING BOARDS,
with an endless number of DEAD WALLS,
on the south and north divisions of the city.
BROADWAY BROTHERS & TREYSER,
Bill Posters, No. 13 South Canal street,
30-2t* with Journal Office, Chicago.

SANDUSKY OPERA HOUSE,

SANDUSKY, OHIO.
This large and popular place, formerly known as Norman Hall, is now refitted into an Opera House in a most splendid style. The scenery is as good as any in the State. Can be secured per night and per week on reasonable terms. For further information 29-12t* Address ANDREW BUTTS, Sandusky, Ohio.

A FIRST-CLASS

LIVING CURIOSITY TO RENT FOR THE WINTER.
Apply to or address
L. J. HARPER, Burnell's Museum,
29-2t Pittsburgh, Pa.

SAUL SERTREW,

158 BLEECKER STREET,
SONGS, PLAYS AND LITERARY WORK of every description written to order. 29-3t*

NIL DESPERANDUM.

CHICAGO DRAMATIC BUREAU,
61 West Washington Street.
The undersigned, late stage manager of Wood's Museum, has opened an office as above. Managers wishing people, and parties desiring to communicate with their friends, address as above.
PLEASE ENCLOSE POSTAGE STAMP.
29-2t* J. L. SAPHORE.

CITY HALL,

Mahanoy City, Pa.—New hall, large stage, two dressing rooms, and drop curtain. Will seat 1,000. Population 9,000. Address 29-5t*13t F. METZ, Proprietor.

UNION HALL,

JOHNSTOWN, PA.
LARGEST AND BEST HALL SEATS 650 IN ARM
and
HALF ARM CHAIRS
IN PARQUETTE,
AND 300 IN GALLERY,
WITH PLENTY OF STANDING ROOM.
Ceiling 30 feet high.
Stage, 26x40 feet.
FULL SET OF ELEGANT SCENERY.
Seats; 11x16 feet.
STAGE FURNISHED WITH ALL CONVENIENCES.
HALL IS ON GROUND FLOOR.
ENTRANCE 15 FEET WIDE.
Address ROBERT W. HUNT.
29-4t Secretary Union Hall Association.

CARROLL'S NEW VARIETIES,

(LATE SCOTT'S),
Market Street, between Fifth and Sixth, St. Louis, Mo.
BILLY CARROLL.....MANAGER
J. E. HASSETT.....STAGE MANAGER
A first class company, playing nightly to crowded houses. Talent of all description wanted. 29-4t*

BOSTON COMEDY CO.

ROUTE IN NEW ENGLAND. STOCK AND STAR ARTISTS WANTED. Third Regular Season. E. M. LESLIE, Manager, 29-3t Box 4,681, Boston, Mass.

PARK STREET

OPERA HOUSE,
BORDENTOWN, N. J.
OPENED DECEMBER 2D, 1869.
SEATING 700 PERSONS.
284 seats in Orchestra, 320 in Parquet, 128 in Balcony. Building, 82x102 feet. Auditorium, 82x34, 30 feet ceiling; Stage, 24x40. Lighted by Gas, well Ventilated and heated. Stage well fitted up with traps, Border, Side and Foot Lights. Stage carpet, &c., &c., with fire (3) complete sets of handsome Scenery and Drop Curtain, painted by L. Seavey, of New York. Two Dressing Rooms and one large Green Room under Stage. Everything in first class order. Rent, $25 per night. American Hotel, James C. Parker, proprietor, adjoining the Opera House, where every accommodation can be had at reduced rates. For further information address 24-26t*o.w. FRED. G. WIESE, Agent.

HARTZ' MAGIC REPOSITORY,

For all kinds of Conjuring Tricks,
769 BROADWAY, N. Y.
OPPOSITE HIS OLD ESTABLISHMENT
Send twenty-five cents for a 64 page illustrated catalogue. A liberal discount to the profession. 26 13t*

WANTED.—A SITUATION AS

wardrobe woman. Have had some years' experience in making costumes. EULALIA HOWLETT, Wilkesbarre, Penn., Oct. 7. [29 2t*

THE OLDEST HOUSE IN THE TRADE

AND THE CHEAPEST

EQUESTRIAN SHIRTS AND TIGHTS.

CLOWN, MONKEY AND DEMON SUITS.
Symmetrical Hose and Tights a Specialty.

VAN DERLIP & TAYLOR,

96 BOWERY, N. Y.
ESTABLISHED IN 1823.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR, ENCLOSING STAMP. [28-tf

ST. JAMES THEATRE,

28th street and Broadway,
(LATE NEWCOMB & ARLINGTON'S.)
NEWLY FURNISHED and DECORATED.
THE FINEST LOCATION IN NEW YORK.
WILL OPEN ON Monday Eve'g, Oct. 23d,
WITH A CHOICE SELECTION OF ARTISTS,
UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF JOHN E. McDONOUGH.
APPLICATIONS FOR TIME FOR FIRST CLASS STARS AND COMPLETE ORGANIZATIONS WILL RECEIVE ATTENTION.
JOHN E. McDONOUGH AND H. A. EARNSHAW,
28-tf Lessees and Proprietors.

HOWARD ATHENÆUM

HOWARD ST., BOSTON, MASS.

RICH AND STETSON.....PROPRIETORS
JOHN STETSON.....BUSINESS MANAGER
THE MOST SUPERB
VARIETY THEATRE
IN THE WORLD,
and
THE MOST SUCCESSFUL.
Produces the most complete Variety Organization ever brought together, including DRAMATIC,
BURLESQUE, ETHIOPIAN,
ACROBATIC,
and
A COMPLETE BALLET ORGANIZATION.
PRODUCING ALL THE SENSATIONS OF THE DAY.
Combinations of merit can always receive
A SURETY.
STARS OF MERIT
will only be engaged at this establishment. 28-tf

THE MAJILTONS,

HOLLIDAY STREET THEATRE,
BALTIMORE.
RE-APPEARANCE OF
THE MAJILTONS
AT NIBLO'S GARDEN IN DECEMBER. 27-4t*

MUSIC HALL,

Dayton, O.

(FORMER SITE OF TURNER'S OPERA HOUSE.
GROUND FLOOR.
Entrance on both Main and First streets to Parquet and Dress Circles.
ONE OF THE FINEST
AMUSEMENT HALLS IN THE COUNTRY.
Will be opened
TO THE PUBLIC
ON THE 30TH OF NOVEMBER 1871.
For information concerning rent, etc., address
L. P. THOMPSON, Agent. 27-6t

FIRE.

NEW WESTERN THEATRICAL STORE,

No. 468 STATE STREET,
THIRD FLOOR,
LATE
129 Dearborn st., Chicago, Ill.
GEORGE S. THURBER,
Importer, Manufacturer and Wholesale and Retail Dealer, respectfully calls the attention of Managers of Theatres, Circuses, Menageries, Pantomime and Opera Companies, to his extensive stock of THEATRICAL, MILITARY, REGALIA, SOCIETY, CHURCH, COSTUMES and all kinds of GOLD and SILVER TRIMMINGS, the best and largest assortment of any house west of New York. Please call and examine. Opera Shoes, Sandals and Theatrical Hosiery, Symmetries, or Padding, Dancing Clogs, Spangles, Concaves, Lace Stars, Tassels, Beads, Fotal D'Espagne, Armor Cloth, Tights, Garish Plumes, Bells, Foil Stones, Fabulous Orders, Swords, Spear Settings, Chapeaus, Costume Plates, Imitation Diamond Jewelry, Dominoes, Dirks, Masks, Brocades, Tissues, Rice Ornaments, Belts, Hosiery, Foil Paper, Oriandes, Tarlatans, Gold and Silver Leather, Theatrical Wigs, Swords (modern and antique), Stage Jewelry, etc.
GOODS SENT C. O. D. TO ALL PARTS OF THE U. S. AND CANADAS. 9-36t*

HASKELL'S HALL.

PITTSFIELD, ILL.
WILL SEAT 800.
POPULATION OF TOWN, 4,000.
GOOD SHOW TOWN.
Address G. W. HASKELL,
29 2t* Pittsfield, Ill., Pike County.

LOVE'S

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
OIL CITY, PA.
New Hall; size, 80x100 ft.
OPENS OCTOBER 19TH, 1871.
Auditorium consists of Parquet, Dress Circle and Family Circle. Will seat 1,200 persons. Private Boxes, Dressing Rooms, and full sets of scenes; lighted with gas. Also Steinway grand piano in hall.
NONE BUT FIRST CLASS ENTERTAINMENTS NEED APPLY.
JNO. LOVE, Proprietor.
29-4t Box 301, Oil City, Pa.

PITTSBURGH

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.
V. B. BEAMER.....Lessee and Manager
NOW OPEN
FOR THE SEASON OF 1871-2
WITH A
FULL AND FIRST CLASS
DRAMATIC COMPANY.
FIRST CLASS STARS AND COMBINATIONS DESIRING TIME WILL PLEASE
29-2t* APPLY AS ABOVE.

TRIMBLE'S

VARIETIES THEATRE,
PITTSBURGH, PA.
FRED AIMS.....MANAGER
FITZ SIMMONS,
Stage Manager and Advertiser.
JOSEPH M. WILSON,
Treasurer.
STILL RIPPLING ALONG
IN THE GREAT CURRENT OF SUCCESS.
THE FEMALE COMBINATION
THIS WEEK,
the Misses CLARA BURTON, LUCIE CLINETOP, Mlle. PINZUTTI, LUCY ADAMS, SUSIE WARREN, ETTIE HENDERSON, MAGGIE NICHOLS, in addition to JAMES GAYNOR, FRANK BELL, MIKE KENAN.
Address Manager as above for engagements. 29-2t*

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

PITTSBURGH,
Is being thoroughly overhauled, repaired and refitted,
AT GREAT EXPENSE.
THE PARQUET WILL BE ENTIRELY RE-ARRANGED AND RE-SEATED with the
PATENT OPERA HOUSE CHAIRS.
A NEW DROP SCENE IS BEING PAINTED,
as well as new scenery, and the whole interior
RE-DECORATED IN THE BEST STYLE.
The improvements will be completed about Nov. 1st, when it will be for rent, to first class organizations only, by the evening, week or month. For terms address W. A. McCLURG, Proprietor. [27-13t

THEOLIAN HALL,

WILMINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA.
Managers and agents are respectfully informed that many improvements have been perfected in this establishment. The only place of amusement in this city.
SEATING ABOUT 1,300 PEOPLE.
Supplied with good scenery and ample dressing rooms, &c. Will be let by the night, week, or for a longer period, to first class theatrical companies or exhibitions, at liberal rates, including license, taxes, gas and help. Apply to [29-4t* J. W. SPAULDING.

LON CHAPIN'S

VARIETY THEATRE,
SCRANTON, PA.
LON CHAPIN.....Sole Proprietor
OPEN ALL THE YEAR ROUND.
MAMMOTH DOUBLE COMPANY.
FIRST CLASS
VARIETY TALENT
WANTED AT ALL TIMES.
No Fares Paid. Consider Silence a Negative. 29-3t*

HENRY O. TRYON,

Late
SCENIC ARTIST,
WOODS' MUSEUM,
disengaged, in consequence of the destruction of the theatre by fire, is at liberty to engage with a responsible manager for the present season. Address, care 4to West Lake street, Chicago. 29-3t

MINER'S HALL,

ESSEX, CONN.
This new hall is now open for all first class entertainments. Is just finished; well lighted and ventilated; will seat 500.
FOR TERMS AND PARTICULARS,
29-13t* Address H. B. HALL.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA,

UNION OPERA HOUSE.
Completed October, 1871; elegantly furnished and decorated; will seat 700; Parquet, Dress Circe and Balcony; good stage; commodious dressing rooms; nine complete scenes; border and foot lights. Population of city, 8,000. For terms apply to
H. B STIBBS,
29-13t* Cashier Union Savings Bank.

THEOLIAN HALL,

WILMINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA.
Managers and agents are respectfully informed that many improvements have been perfected in this establishment. The only place of amusement in this city.
SEATING ABOUT 1,300 PEOPLE.
Supplied with good scenery and ample dressing rooms, &c. Will be let by the night, week, or for a longer period, to first class theatrical companies or exhibitions, at liberal rates, including license, taxes, gas and help. Apply to [29-4t* J. W. SPAULDING.

LON CHAPIN'S

VARIETY THEATRE,
SCRANTON, PA.
LON CHAPIN.....Sole Proprietor
OPEN ALL THE YEAR ROUND.
MAMMOTH DOUBLE COMPANY.
FIRST CLASS
VARIETY TALENT
WANTED AT ALL TIMES.
No Fares Paid. Consider Silence a Negative. 29-3t*

HENRY O. TRYON,

Late
SCENIC ARTIST,
WOODS' MUSEUM,
disengaged, in consequence of the destruction of the theatre by fire, is at liberty to engage with a responsible manager for the present season. Address, care 4to West Lake street, Chicago. 29-3t

MINER'S HALL,

ESSEX, CONN.
This new hall is now open for all first class entertainments. Is just finished; well lighted and ventilated; will seat 500.
FOR TERMS AND PARTICULARS,
29-13t* Address H. B. HALL.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA,

UNION OPERA HOUSE.
Completed October, 1871; elegantly furnished and decorated; will seat 700; Parquet, Dress Circe and Balcony; good stage; commodious dressing rooms; nine complete scenes; border and foot lights. Population of city, 8,000. For terms apply to
H. B STIBBS,
29-13t* Cashier Union Savings Bank.

WIGS! WIGS! WIGS!

IMPORTANT TO MANAGERS, ACTORS AND AMATEURS.
THE BEST AND CHEAPEST THEATRICAL WIGS IN AMERICA
can be had of the makers, SCHMIDT & FOOTNER,
(From Row street, London) 21 East Houston street.
GOODS SENT C. O. D. 29-3t*

A CARD.

Managers will not confound the Levantine Brothers (George and Frederick), now engaged with L. B. Lent's New York Circus, with a party of unquestionable performers, whose champion styles himself the ORIGINAL, GREAT and ONLY John C. Levantine, and who claims to have taken me out of a shoe store and settled me into a LEGITIMATE business, by which means I might earn an honest livelihood. Let it be distinctly understood that I once did have the misfortune to be connected with this man, John Coony Doidt, alias John C. Levantine; but as far as his teaching me my business, every circus performer in the profession knows that I left this man and took up with my present partner on account of his being incapable of doing the performances required from first class artists. Now John Coony Doidt, alias John C. St. Clair, alias John C. Earle, alias John C. Levantine, take the advice of your friend and don't throw away any more money in newspaper notices, for the tenting season of 1872 is a long way ahead, and you and your CREW may get hungry before starting out time. Feeling perfectly satisfied that managers know which is the bona fide party, I shall in the future take no notice whatever of slanderous articles which may appear against me. [30-1t]
Respectfully, GEO. E. LEVANTINE.

MRS. F. B. CONWAY'S

Brooklyn Theatre.
LESSEES AND MANAGERS.
MRS. F. B. CONWAY,
AND
MR. F. B. CONWAY.
OPEN EVERY EVENING
WITH A FIRST CLASS COMPANY. 28-tf

WILLIAM DILLINGHAM.

Iron Boxes and Shieves for Flats, Screw Eyes, Shieves for Borders, Palmi Frame, Traps, Curtain, &c., always on hand.
30-1t* 111 SOUTH ST., N. Y.

THOMPSON'S OPERA HOUSE,

VICKSBURGH, MISS.
J. W. THOMPSON.....Lessee and Manager.
W. CARLETON.....Stage Manager.
This beautiful resort is NOW OPEN FOR THE FALL AND WINTER SEASON, with a
FIRST CLASS COMPANY OF VARIETY ARTISTS ORGANIZED IN COMBINATIONS
AND A VARIETY STARS,
At liberty, are respectfully requested to negotiate. Address
J. W. THOMPSON,
26-tf Opera House, Vicksburgh.

THEATRICAL SCENERY.

PANORAMAS, BANNERS, SIGNS AND SHOW WORK of all kinds executed with dispatch by the AMERICAN ART ASSOCIATION,
509 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
JOS. B. AYRES, PRESIDENT.
Scenery to hire for parlor entertainments and traveling. Panoramas ready painted for sale. Drop curtains and EVERY ARTISTIC PROPERTY in the show line supplied. Address JOS. B. AYRES, Pres. Am. Art Association, 509 Broadway, N. Y. [26-13t*

NESTROCK.

SUCCESSOR TO SOMERS, 270 BOWERY, NEW YORK.
All kinds of Theatrical Boots and Shoes Made to Order and Sent, C. O. D., to all parts of the United States. 26-13t*

NEW CIRCUS BILLS

AND WOOD CUTS
FOR GENERAL EXHIBITION WORK, AT TORREY BROTHERS, 13 SPRUCE STREET, NEW YORK
1,000 WOOD CUTS,
Different designs, suitable for Dramatic, Circus, Menagerie, Negro Minstrels, Magicians, Jugglers, Varieties, Side Shows, etc
NO CHARGE MADE FOR USE OF CUTS.
Catalogues containing a description of the several cuts, with price list and terms, sent to order. Specimens of bills to be seen on file at the office.
A NEW STYLE OF SHOW BILLS for Circuses and Menageries is just finished, to which the attention of Managers and Agents is especially invited. The horses and figures in these bills are all drawn full life-size, with an effect, and colored in a style of brilliancy far surpassing anything of the kind ever seen in this or any other country; also Programmes printed in beautifully variegated colors by the newly invented CHROMATIC PRESS, and can be afforded at prices but little above the ordinary cost of plain block work.
Please address TORREY BROTHERS,
21-13t* 13 Spruce st., New York.

W. B. EVERETT,

ARTISTIC AND FANCY BONE SOLOIST.
29-2t

RED AND GREEN FIRE.

FOR THEATRES,
PRIVATE THEATRICALS,
TABLEAUX, ILLUMINATIONS,
And for all purposes when a brilliant
RED OR GREEN
reflection is desired. Will always burn, and will not produce any unpleasant odors; can be furnished in boxes of 100, 50, 25 and 10 lbs., or less quantities, to suit. No danger of spontaneous combustion. Send stamp for price list. Prepared only by JOSEPH T. BROWN & CO.,
29-13t 792 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

MISS KATIE PARTINGTON,

the Great Female Banjoist, and Song and Dance, can be engaged after the 1st of Nov., through COL. ALLSTON BROWN 29-3t*

MARTIN THE WIZARD,

ORIGINAL CALIFORNIA ILLUSIONIST AND PIONEER MAGICIANS, having spent 19 years in the Magic Circle, has Inaugurated his Regular Fall and Winter Tour, and has Re-engaged Prof. Robert Christie's Brass and String Band. He now Conducts the Most Popular (Old Style) Variety Show West of New York. Please call and examine. Opera Shoes, Sandals and Theatrical Hosiery, Symmetries, or Padding, Dancing Clogs, Spangles, Concaves, Lace Stars, Tassels, Beads, Fotal D'Espagne, Armor Cloth, Tights, Garish Plumes, Bells, Foil Stones, Fabulous Orders, Swords, Spear Settings, Chapeaus, Costume Plates, Imitation Diamond Jewelry, Dominoes, Dirks, Masks, Brocades, Tissues, Rice Ornaments, Belts, Hosiery, Foil Paper, Oriandes, Tarlatans, Gold and Silver Leather, Theatrical Wigs, Swords (modern and antique), Stage Jewelry, etc.
GOODS SENT C. O. D. TO ALL PARTS OF THE U. S. AND CANADAS. 9-36t*

GIBBONS' OPERA HOUSE,

CORNER SIXTH AND MAIN STREETS, KEOKUK, IOWA.
One of the most complete, comfortable and popular houses in the west. Seats 1,000 chairs; is heated and lighted in the most modern style and furnished with (8) eight sets of useful scenery.
The location is so central that the Keokuk post office has just been ordered into the Opera House Building. Local license paid by the proprietor. PATRICK GIBBONS.
26-13t

THE RED LIGHT;

OR, THE SIGNAL OF DANGER.
IMPORTANT NOTICE.
In order to protect the interests of MR. EDWIN ADAMS, to whom, alone, I have sold the right of representing the above drama, legal proceedings will be taken against whomsoever may, after this date, act from, or advertise a spurious, or fraudulently obtained copy. JOHN BROUGHAM.
NEW YORK, Oct. 11th, 1871. 29 4t

KLEIN'S OPERA HOUSE,

Scranton, Pa.,
ONLY SIX HOURS
BY RAILROAD FROM NEW YORK
OR PHILADELPHIA.
This house excels all others in beauty of design and grandeur of finish outside the large cities. Has full stock of scenery, and two handsome drop curtains, by R. S. Smith; full set of traps and machinery, plenty of dressing rooms, &c. Scranton has 40,000 population. Managers can arrange on liberal terms.
23-13t* JOS. WALKER, Agent, P. O. Box 83.

FLORIDA HALL,

JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA.
NOW OPEN.
NEW HALL.
Largest in the state; taxes and license paid. Gas, water and large dressing rooms. Seats, comfortably, seven hundred. Thousands of strangers sojourning here. Will be elegantly fitted up with scenery about Nov. 20th, by L. W. Seavy, of Broadway, N. Y. Stage twenty-five feet by thirty-two. For terms, &c., address GEORGE R. FOSTER, Jacksonville, Florida. 29-2t

A LARGE HALL,

SUITABLE FOR TRAVELLING COMPANIES, AND A GOOD PLACE FOR ALL KINDS OF ENTERTAINMENTS,
WITH 4,000 INHABITANTS.
Parties wishing to rent can address
GEORGE CATLIN,
29-3t Proprietor of Town Hall, Marion, Ala.

COOKE'S FARM,

PATERSON, N. J.
Will JOHN B. BRIDGES please write to JOHN HENRY COOKE, of the above address. 29-4t

BOGAN'S

GREAT PROFESSIONAL SILVER RIM AND ROSEWOOD BANJOS, celebrated for their loud, sharp and brilliant tone, ranging in price as follows:—Silver rim, from $15 to $75 each; rosewood, from $10 to $50 each; plain, from $3 to $15 each. Professional Tambourines, Bones and all kinds of Musical Instruments and Strings sent to any address, C. O. D. Send stamp for catalogue and price list. N. B.—Banjo Song and Dance, Jig, Clog and Irish Jig Dancing taught. Pupils fitted for the stage. Address JOHN J. BOGAN, 100 East Houston street, near Bowery, N. Y. 29-3t*

MUSIC HALL,

NORTH BRIDGEWATER, MASS.
HENRY L. BRYANT.....Proprietor.
This spacious Hall, recently erected, and centrally located, is now offered to the profession. It has ample accommodations for Fifteen Hundred People, ample stage and scenery, is lighted with gas, high in the walls and well ventilated.
Connected with it are ample drawing rooms, banquet hall, &c. Terms reasonable.
North Bridgewater is on the Fall River route from New York, twenty miles south of Boston, via the Old Colony and Newport Railway; has a population of 10,000, and is one of the most enterprising towns in the State; being situated in the business centre of a circle of towns, and receiving the trade and patronage of 40,000 people, thus making it a profitable place for entertainments to visit.
Applications for the Hall, Bill Boards, Bill Posters, &c., should be addressed by mail, express or telegraph to AGENT MUSIC HALL,
29-13t NORTH BRIDGEWATER, MASS.

JENNIE HIGHT

COMEDY COMPANY.
H. A. HIGHT.....Manager
The Charming Comedienne and Versatile Actress,
MISS JENNIE HIGHT,
Supported by the Popular and Favorite Young Comedian,
CHARLES E. ROGERS,
And a company of 15 ladies and gents of dramatic ability, are now making their annual tour through the western and southern states. Ladies and gents of acknowledged ability wishing engagements apply to H. A. HIGHT, Jennie Hight Comedy Company, New York Clipper Office, New York. 29-13t

HARRY RICHMOND,

LATE OF WOOD'S MUSEUM, CHICAGO,
Open for Anything from LEADING BUSINESS TO WALKING GENTS, for balance of season.
WARDROBE ALL SAFE.
HARRY RICHMOND,
29-3t* 321 West Randolph street, Chicago, Ill.

CHAS. M. CONNOLLY

(CHARK QUENCHER'D),
PIANIST for Private and Public Entertainments and Teacher of Piano and Violin.
SONGS, DANCES, SPEECHES, ACTS, Etc., written for the profession. Address Clipper office, 29-3t*

EXTRA NOTICE.

NOW READY.
The following new cuts, for the latest successful London sensations, are now ready, and will be furnished to order, in small or large quantities, at the prices attached. For BLACK: OR, THE CHERRY TREE INN,
Boucicault's new and beautiful Drama.
ONE SHEET POSTER, in 2 colors (scene from the play), $10 per hundred.
ONE SHEET POSTER, in 4 colors (scene from the play—Tableau at end of Act First) $17 per hundred.
THREE SHEET ANNOUNCE STREAMER, in 2 colors, very novel and effective, $30 per hundred.
LITHOGRAPH, in 4 colors, showing the sectional scene of four floors, and four other scenes in the play, with space at top and bottom for lettering, $25 per hundred.
TWO PROGRAMME CUTS—same scenes as the posters, in one or more colors. Electrotypes of either of these Cuts, to print in one color, will be furnished for $5. An extra charge of $5 will be made for each additional color.
ANY BORDART.
Andrew Halliday's Thrilling Spectacular Drama, which has been playing to crowded houses at the Theatre Royal, London, and the great success of the present season at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia.
ONE SHEET POSTER, in 2 color (scene taken from the play) $10 per hundred.
TWO SHEET POSTER, in 4 colors (Carnival Scene, taken from play), showy and very attractive, $34 per hundred.
THREE SHEET ANNOUNCE STREAMER, in 2 colors, novel and attractive design, $30 per hundred.
TWO PROGRAMME CUTS, same scenes as the posters, in one or more colors. Electrotypes of either of these Cuts, to print in one color, will be furnished for $5. An extra charge of $5 for each additional color.
We have in hand, shortly to be finished, Cuts for the following London novelties:—
NOTRE DAME;
OR, THE GIPSY GIRL OF PARIS.
Andrew Halliday's great Sensational Spectacular Drama, now playing to crowded houses at the Adelphi Theatre, London.
JOAN OF ARC
Tom Taylor's beautiful Spectacular Drama, the unqualified success of the season at the Queen's Theatre, London.
Also, in rapid succession, Cuts for all the
NEW SENSATIONS OF THE DAY.
NEW MINSTREL CUTS,
NEW VARIETY CUTS, AND THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF THEATRICAL CUTS
IN THE WORLD!
All orders to be addressed to J. E. JACKSON,
Business Manager,
24-tf Ledger Job Printing Establishment, Philadelphia.

TERRE HAUTE

OPERA HOUSE.
This elegant house is unsurpassed for beauty and convenience by any other in the west. It will seat 1,500 persons, has two galleries, and is furnished with luxuriously upholstered opera chairs of the Eidlitz, Cooper Institute, and Pike patterns.
The stage is 45x80 feet, with all late improvements; has 3 sets stage furniture, 25 sets new scenery, and a full stock of set pieces Proscenium arch is 34x40 feet. For rent apply to
C. E. HOSFORD,
Secretary Opera House Company,
20-36t* Terre Haute, Ind.

ODEON HALL,

BOWLING GREEN, KENTUCKY.
HACKNEY & GUNKLE.....Lessees and Managers.
Seats 1,000; Stage, 40x30 feet; fully stocked with scenery; fine drop curtain; three Large Dressing Rooms; Lacense, Fuel and Gas included in the Rent. Population, 7,000. Companies wishing to rent Odeon Hall, or to play on shares, address
20-13t* JAMES F. HACKNEY,
Lock Box 31, Bowling Green, Ky.

TAYLOR & BLAKE'S HALL,

IN OTTUMWA, IOWA.
WILL SEAT EIGHT HUNDRED.
Has good Stage and Dressing Rooms, with the requisite Scenery. Ottumwa has a population of six to eight thousand people.
TAYLOR & BLAKE,
18-36t* Proprietors.

CLARKY & REILLEY,

PRINTERS AND ENGRAVERS,
13, 14 AND 15 SPRUCE STREET,
NEW YORK.
THE LARGEST SHOW BILL
PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT IN THE WORLD
THIS FIRM
Pays particular attention to getting up all kinds of
FANCY SHOW BILLS
For traveling companies, and have on hand a large and splendid assortment of large and small
WOOD CUTS
Suitable for Circuses, Menageries, Christian Performers, Gymnasts, Magicians, &c., &c., which can be printed in one or more colors, to suit customers.
A discount required on all work ordered 27 tf

ALLYN HALL,

HARTFORD, CONN.
This elegant establishment, by far the most complete and best arranged of any in this country, is open for LECTURES, CONCERTS, DRAMATIC, and first class entertainments only. The house CONTAINS ALL THE MODERN IMPROVEMENTS,
has a large and commodious stage, 35 by 60 feet, with fine scenery and drop curtain complete. The parquet floor is 70 by 80 feet; has seats for 1,000 persons. The dress circle has seats for 400 persons, making in all 1,400.
TERMS OF CONTRACT, WHEN NOT OPENED BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT:—
The rent of house, gas, heating, ticket seller, night hands, usher for single night, for ordinary lecture, $40; for ordinary minstrel concert, $45; for operatic or theatrical exhibition, $45.
A LIBERAL DISCOUNT MADE for all extra or additional nights. For particulars or business, address T. M. ALLYN.
21-10t* Proprietor of Allyn Hall, Hartford, Conn.

PERRY AND CASPER,

THE ONLY RELIABLE
BILL POSTERS
IN SYRACUSE, N. Y.
We also "own the best boards and stands in the city." And will also "guarantee satisfaction in all cases," or not charge.
N. B.—We pay all our bills and have no "Veterans," no "Superintendents" and no "Fly by Nights" connected with our office.
OFFICE, NO. 10, COURIER BUILDING. 26-13t

FRONT STREET

THEATRE COMIQUE,
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND.
THE LARGEST AND MOST SUCCESSFUL
VARIETY THEATRE IN THE COUNTRY.
PATRONIZED BY BALTIMORE'S BEST CITIZENS.
A Grand Ballet Troupe, an efficient Dramatic Company, a complete Minstrel organization, composed of the BEST ARTISTS IN THE PROFESSION.
Communications from all first class artists and specialties respectfully solicited. Silence a negative at present. Write again.
29-8t WM. E. SINN, Lessee and Manager.

TO MY FRIENDS.

I am happy to announce myself alive and in good health. Have traveled far and near since last we met, but find no better spot to live or die in than America, our land of the free. I shall now return to my profession with renewed life and energy. Trusting you will give me ever the same kind welcome as you so generously have done in days gone by. Your Humble Servant,

MISS MAJOR PAULINE CUSHMAN, SENSATIONAL ACTRESS, KNOWN IN THE WAR OF THE